PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

The late Stephen M. Buckingham left $50,000 to Trinity College, Hartford, Conn.

Lord Tchaikoff receives an income of from $20,000 to $25,000 a year in the sale of his books.

Henry Merrill, a Vermont boy, just been appointed by the new Government to act as chief commissioner of customs at Ceres at salary of $12,000.

Less than forty years ago Daniel Manning was a type-setter in an Albany office, steady but not swift at his work. Harvard pushed and could do

—Miss Rose Elizabeth Cleveland has been for some years engaged in a close study of the life and work of St. Augustine, with the purpose in view of writing a book upon him and his father, Monica.

—A Boston man who read Mr. Deane's and Mark Twain's speeches at Forefather's dinner in that city, denounces them both as "wild and untrue," very low comely, not above the level of a good minstrel performance.

—A young lady who was formerly of the Wells College girls, says: "Mrs. Cleveland was the greatest favorite I ever knew, for when Monday day came every girl in the college would really have darned her stockings." "I could find good will or philanthropy go on all this?"

—Prof. Langley, the astronomer, who has just been elected Secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, is one of the sons of Washington society. He is bright eyes and for dinner parties. He contradicts the signs of old age seen in his eyes.

—There is a colored citizen named T. Shufon in Orlando, Fla., who is graduate of Howard University in literary and law branches. After graduated he was admitted to practice in the United States Circuit Court and the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. He is also a graduate in medicine.

—The first lines Andrew Carnegie wrote for print appeared in the New York Tribune, and for them Horace Greeley wrote him a letter of thanks.

raphs of his recent coaching trip in England, the most of which were taken by Mrs. Caracogie, who is as good a photographer as she is a musician.

Harper's Bazar.

—Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson, the philanthropist, never goes to the theater, and has read but two novels—"Jane Eyre" and the "Scarlet Letter." Her tastes are perfectly simple. She has a great liking for bread, milk and apples. It is doubtful if society has ever heard of her; but she is the only woman who has the freedom of the floor of the House—a right which —Washington is a great book-buying center. In a book-store in that city one afternoon recently the following well-known persons were gathered at the same moment: Mrs. Cleveland, Justices Gray, Matthews and Harlan, several members of the Chinese Legation, Secretaries Bayard and Whitney, congressmen French and West and senators Stockbridge and Edmunds.

HUMOROUS.

—A man who sets out to study a woman's disposition can generally earn a great deal, but the price of tuition is apt to be high.

—A man can go back on relations.

LOCAL NEWS.

Some delightful last week. There was considerable sleigh last week.

Burlington was on the verge of a cool famine last week.

Read Dr. J. C. Terrell's advertisement in this issue.

Prof. Lassing made a trip to Union last Sunday on a log sled.

Marcel Hiddell, of Hebron, is liberating for a few days in Burlington.

Charles Durston and wife, of Kansas City, are visiting his father's near this place.

In this issue, Nicholas Schwartz, of the Bellevue district advertises his land for sale.

Born—To Robert Clure and wife, of Bellevue, on the night of the 20th inst., a bouncing boy.

James M. Barlow, of Pleasant Valley, came over to Burlington on—somebody says his skates, last Friday.

The County Clerk's office gave a pretty good skating rink on which the boys had considerable fun last week.

Dr. Furlish was called to Watton last Sunday to consult with the physician who attending Esq. Sam Hind.

The sheriff was out last week distributing among the base ball boys free passes to the next term of the Circuit Court.

If all those leave Burlington this spring that now expect to, quite a number of vacant houses will be the result.

They have a new family of birds in the north, and occasionally a blizzard stays off this section.

J. M. and O. P. Conner last Saturday sold their 1887 purchase of 70,000 pounds of tobacco to Mr. Hiver. The price is private.

We are sorry to report the illness of Mrs. J. H. Smith and son, Kirby, who have been quite low with pneumonia for several days.

The colds that were annoying the juvenile population last week have subsided, and the children are again as lively as crickets.

The blizzard advertised to reach here last Saturday gave little trouble, so no body hereabouts was in the least disturbed because thereof.

Robert Houston and Mrs. Alice Fisher, both of the Union neighborhood, were married in Covington last Tuesday by County Judge M. T. Shinn.

Jerry Blythe was awarded the Superintendent of the County Infirmary last Saturday at the price of $150 per year. He took control of the institution Monday.

J. M. Conner has a purchase of 20,000 pounds of tobacco at Hebron. He has 10 cents a pound. Competent judges pronounce the entire lot as fine tobacco as this county can produce.

Over October 7th to December 24th, 1887, little over ten years, there were issued at the County Clerk's office five hundred and sixty-four marriage licenses, an average of 30 a year.

The sheriff has been allowed 2000 dollars. There are now about one-half as many dogs as last year. In the county as there were the first year after the dog law went into effect.

J. M. Conner contemplates moving to Cincinnati in the near future to engage in the Live Stock Commission business. He will be sorely missed by the farmers in a large section of the county.

A fox was turned loose at Hebron last Saturday, and notwithstanding the condition of the ground a very fine chase was enjoyed for an hour or two when the fox took refuge in the ground where he was.

In a letter received from our friend M. C. Weaver, at Lake Creek, Tenn., he says, "I am feeling promisingly now, but don't know one week where I will be next, though I hope to be permanently located soon."

The intrinsic volume of smoke that the burning of the first occasion favorable to that class of work, will result in another period in Indian summer in this section of country.

By his report published in the Marietta County (Ga.) Gazette, we learn that our former townsman, E. J. Batts, is teaching school, and a very prosperous fourth month session at which he had 51 pupils enrolled has recently closed.

When the plans of this government were gotten up there should have been adopted a law that would allow the existence of no town of less than 10,000 inhabitants, and that the lots containing said towns should be five miles square, and separated by streets two miles wide, and that there should be one residence constructed on a lot and that in the exact center thereof.

At the close of the present term, John M. Lassing will retire from Morgan Academy, leaving Prof. Gaines to take charge of the school. This action on the part of Prof. Lassing is only on account of the school not being sufficiently remunerative to justify both these gentlemen to continue.

Prof. Lassing came to Burlington a comparative stranger, but by his gentlemanly deportment and social attentions, has made a host of friends.

In this issue Dr. J. C. Terrell, of Bullittsville, advertises his personal property for sale preparatory to moving to No. 45 West Ninth St., Covington. The doctor makes this move in order to give his children the advantage of good schools. In the neighborhood from which he moves he has practiced his profession for over three years, and was at the head of the medical profession in this county. We wish him abundant success in his new home.

A PLEASANT SPECTACLE.

A better day (than for anything) has been our privilege to observe in many a day and one which brought before us most vividly the beauty and reality of the text: "Behold how good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." It was that at the Baptist Church on last Sabbath morning at 11 o'clock. As Bro. Fullilove, pastor of that church, had previously announced that he should preach on the Saturday eve preceding his regular appointment, in order that he might avoid conflict with Bro. Barker's (pastor of the M. E. C.) appointment on Sunday eve, Bro. Barker returned the appreciated courtesy by withdrawing his morning appointment. In consequence an invitation was extended to him in the morning service, which invitation being accepted the undivided congregation assembled at stated at the Baptist church, where they were very instructively entertained by the pastor, who held the service in a most impressive manner. The sermon, which was delivered by Bro. Fullilove, was a beautiful and timely discourse, and was well received by the congregation. The service was a most profitable one, and we are sure that the hearts of all who were present were touched by the beautiful truths which were so ably and so eloquently set forth by the pastor. Neighborhood News.

John Ernst lost a fine cow last week.

Shannon has two very sick children.

John H. Haver's family will move to Constantine in the near future.

A fox was turned loose at this place last Saturday, and a fine chase was enjoyed for a few hours.

Bad colds are epidemic.

Robert Tanner will move to Hebron this week.

James Barlow, jun., has moved to Hebron.

Henry Hall will move to Hebron's Creek next week to live with his mother.

Mr. Tracy, of Petersburg, has been visiting in this neighborhood for a few days.

Hebron's family have been suffering with bad colds and sore throats for several days.

Ice-houses have all been filled.

We are sorry to report the illness of Mrs. Edwin Gaines.

We were shocked to hear of the sudden death of Prof. Gallagher.

The present is a sleighing carnival.

We are making good use of it.

James Henry, of Missouri, is visiting the land of his birth again.

Willie Cline, a worthy young man of our city, attended an excellent party given by his uncle last Friday night.

Mrs. Lou Gaines, who, for several weeks has been visiting here, is to be married to her brother, A. G. Winston at Hebron.

John Stephen left one day last week for a visit to his children in Missouri and Kansas. He bears our best wishes to them all.

From present prospects it seems that we will have two new latches in town next summer—Jas. L. Riley and Wm. Ackmeier.

Mrs. Louie Riley, of North Bend, O., was in this vicinity last Sunday.

We noticed Les Scott, of Petersburg, sleighing in these parts last Sunday.

This is a fine neighborhood, too.

We are glad to see in our midst again Miss Katie Wilson, who has been attending school at Oxford, O. She returns to school after a short vacation.

We would recommend to the people that they purchase none of Arbuckle's late brand of coffee, for we are sure that the Q. M. C. brand would never be popular in our midst.

A proposition to have a union hotel in this town to be called the "Union House" has been made.

Constable Hebron and Bullittsville are being greatly agitated here at present. Not the least opposition is manifest. It would certainly be quite contrary to the law and to the honor of the town.

The petition, with many signatures will be mailed to Speaker Corbitt.

The business of making E. L. Harper the fidelity scape-goat goes on in the United States Court in Cincinnati.

Our Representative has introduced a bill to give the Circuit and Statutory Judges a salary of $4,000 per annum.

Ever the Kentucky Legislature has a desire to say unto the National Congress what it would better do in regard to certain measures.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature to punish drunkenness by a fine of 20 to 50, and make it a crime subject to indictment.

The Governor has replied for thirty days Patterson, who was sentenced to be hung in Louisville as an accomplice in the murder of Jennie Bowman.

It seems that Gov. Buckner does not hesitate to say his official brogan down on any proposition submitted to him if he thinks it is not clearly meritorious.

Judge John J. Orr, of Owen county, who was appointed by the President Receiver of Public Money at Buffalo, Wyoming Territory, has been confirmed by the Senate.

West Virginia and Kentucky are mobilizing troops to put down the McCoy-Hartford trouble, which is kept up by incursion across the line first in one and then in the other State.

Gen. J. W. Finkell, died at Helena, Montana, last week. The General was a man of many friends in this part of the State, owing to his affable disposition and gentlemanly traits.

It is charged that Hons. Mulligan and Johnson are engaged in the dog-in-the-manger scheme. If they cannot get the Capitol moved to Lexington they will, if possible, defeat any appropriation proposed for its completion.

Our Insane Asylums, like the same institutions in this State have to be investigated and occasionally a Superintendent resigns because of the ferment caused by the investigation. This was the case at Columbus the other day.

Col. Walter Evans denies the report that he is organizing his party with the hope of bringing the State into the Republican fold. He says he will not take a hand in politics if, after the present year at least, he ever does again.

The temperance people in Owen county have commenced organizing for the whisky contest to come off there at the next August election. Owen county will be terribly agitated from now until the election is over and the result certified.

It is said that the land notices in a western Kansas newspaper show that at least one-half of the farms in that part of the State are being taken by women. That sort of womanly right doctrine is of a practical nature and will in time prove a genuine benefit.

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature to allow sheriffs $300 for each witness summoned for the grand jury. There is no good reason why the sheriff should not be paid for that service which is very laborious on account of witnesses desiring to evade that body.

The Republicans of the District of Columbia held a convention last week and attempted to appoint delegates to the National Republican convention, but it was more of a cross-down and bump-off affair, and even ended some being distributed through the crowd as it adjourned.

Our Bullittsville correspondent said last week that that community wants a daily mail. We would be exceedingly glad to see Utzinger make the termination of such a route from the city. It would be a great convenience to that part of the northern part of this county. Keep working until the route is established.

The American Sunday-School Union, during the past ten years has organized more than 300 Sunday-Schools in this State. Into these schools more than 51,000 teachers and scholars have been gathered. Ten thousand bibles and testaments have been distributed, besides a large amount of Sunday-school books and papers. It is estimated that there are now 300,000 children in the State and of school age, who do not attend Sunday-school.

The pastor of the Third Christian Church in Indianapolis is just now the most discussed man in that city, and two of the leading members of that denomination, one a Kentuckian and the other an Ohio Kentuckian have been chosen to investigate the brother about whom the tongue of the scandal monger has been wagging so industriously the last few weeks. The reverend gentleman is accused of allowing the wife of one of his flock an excessive share of his affection.

The committee to whom the Senate referred, for investigation, the proposition to abolish Rowan county, report that "a county has no vested right to be; its continued existence is a question of public utility or of State policy, and not of constitutional authority." The committee quoted quite a number of authorities sustaining the above position. So it seems that it would be a very light task to blot Rowan county out, dividing her territory among her neighbors. Be it so done.

That the citizens of Lawrenceburg live and don't forget is evidenced by the following from the Register:

"Work is going forward rapidly on the levee. Dirt is being dumped on the canal side of the bank, and the wonderful leveler is spreading the dirt about ten feet in width from the south rail. Every day scores of our citizens can be seen walking along the track inspecting the work. They manifest a deep interest in the progress of the fill, and without exceptions are highly pleased with the plan of the work."

When Mr. Needham, of Grant, and Mr. Mulligan, of Lexington, commenced talking at one another the other members can taste brimstone in the air. The other day they entertained the House by calling each other such pet names as "shyster-bummers," "shylocks," "scoundrels," etc. Such a performance is beneath the dignity of the participants in a county debating society, and it should not be tolerated in legislative halls. The gentlemen kicked and made up in the way the story goes.

The Kentucky Legislature can devote its time to many things that will be much more profitable to the people than a pro-union of the State to exclude Republican Congressmen. From the votes cast at the last State election it appears that the Republicans are entitled to a larger representation in Congress from this State than they now have, and when the Legislature goes into the gerrymander business it is fooling with a political buzz saw. The Congressional districts should be left just as they are. Some of the Congressional aspirants think differently of course.

Our Florence correspondent last week seemed very sanguine that a great railway from Florence to Lexington will be constructed. We believe that such an enterprise would be of considerable advantage to Florence, especially in the summer season when the city people are going to the country to spend a few months, because it would make the trip from Florence to Cincinnati most pleasant. Besides with a good and properly kept stable at Florence many country people would leave their conveyances there and take the cars to Erlanger. The company controlling the line of cars should be prepared to care for the horses and conveyances of the country patrons and thus money could be made both ways.

Our twenty-six widows of Revolutionary soldiers drawing pensions from the Government, three at least are out West. Mrs. Betsey Wallington, who is 92 lives in Mankato, Minn. She was 16 when she married Jonathan Wallington, who was 50 years old, and had served all through the war of the Revolution. Mrs. Sarah B. Dabney, of Barry, Ill., is 88 years old. She was 18 when she married John Q. Dabney, who was 57 years old. Mrs. Olive Charlotte Morton, of Ohio, Mich., is 78. She was 18 when she married Peter Tamm, a veteran of 18 years. He enlisted as a soldier in the war for independence when but 14 years old and served 6 years and a half without receiving a scratch or being ill a day.

Mr. Nesbitt, of Bath county, proposes to revolutionize the country-cooled dairy business in this State by organizing a company to law bearing on that offense and enacting one of which the following is the gist: "It shall be a misdemeanor for any one to carry any weapon other than an ordinary pocket knife, and an equal offense for a person to take a minor weapon other than an ordinary pocket-knife. The punishment on conviction is fixed at $100, and if not paid or relieved the person convicted and fined is to be given into the custody of the jailer, and is to be worked on public roads, streets, alleys or buildings at the rate of $2 per day until the judgment of the court is satisfied. Females are exempt from the labor provisions of this act." The above would be no better than the present law on that offense, as no one would be punished except the poor whites and negroes.

An Exodus Association with $200,000 has been organized at Topeka, Kansas. The object of the Association is to colonize negroes in South America, and it has its agents at work among the colored people in the Southern States, organizing exodus companies for the extensive exodus hoped to be commenced at an early day. Some of the South Carolina papers are warning the colored population against participating in the exodus, saying there is danger of their being sold into slavery if they go to South America. The article says: "Slaves sell in the market in Brazil for about $300. It is estimated that hundreds of colored people will join the exodus, and that the Exodus Association represents a capital of $200,000. If 3,000 colored people join the exodus, and these emigrants are sold at an average price of $300 a head, the Exodus Association would make $800,000 on its original investment." This statement of the paper has caused considerable excitement among the negroes, and many of them will stay where they are rather than take their chances with the Exodus Association.

The debate of the two colored Baptists, Ebenezer Peckham and Missionary took place Monday night. It was to have transpired Saturday night but through a misunderstanding it was postponed until Sunday morning. On that day Rev. Bush one of the debaters refused to debate on that day as it was inappropriate. So it was decided to discuss the proposition Monday evening. The debate took place at the court-house, Monday evening, and the room was crowded with white and colored people. The small admission of five cents was charged to cover the expenses. The propositions discussed were as follows:

1. Resolved, that the Bible teaches the doctrine that man is a free moral agent, and is alone responsible for his acts. Rev. Bush affirms; Rev. Hughes denies.

2. Resolved, that the Bible teaches the doctrine of personal election and that the elect were chosen in Christ before the foundation of the world. Rev. Hughes affirms; Rev. Bush denies.

Rev. R. Bush, representing the Missionary Baptist Church, opened the debate and spoke on the first proposition. Rev. Henry Hughes, representing the Presbyterianist first Church, followed. The debate lasted two hours and twenty minutes. After some deliberation the judges decided unanimously that Rev. Bush had sustained his proposition No. 1, and decided that Rev. Hughes had sustained his proposition by a vote of four to one.

The opinion of the majority favored Rev. Bush. He has been preaching for about twenty-seven years, while Rev. Hughes has been only preaching about a year. The Presbyterianists claim that their representative, Rev. Bush, won the victory, while the Missionaries state that Rev. Hughes received the unanimous vote of the judges on his proposition, and that Rev. Hughes lost four votes and Rev. Hughes four, and therefore it was a victory for Rev. Bush. There is considerable excitement in the two churches over the questions and an effort has been made to have another debate but without success. - Warsaw Independent.

HARD TIMES A THING OF THE PAST

Wonderful Advantages offered Purchasers of Summer Goods

Our object being to dispose of all Summer Stock at once, cost and value not considered, all visiting our establishment will be fully repaid by the goods they purchase. Anticipating an early demand for Fall Goods, we have made unusual preparations for the same, and have now ready and for sale an enormous stock of

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING,

Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes,

Yarns, Flannels, Blankets, Ladies' Misses' & Child's Cloaks

And in fact, everything usually kept in a first-class city store. It is impossible to enumerate prices and give descriptions of all Goods in this small space, but will name only a few prices on our many bargains. We call your attention to the fact that we are showing the finest line of CLOTHING ever shown in this section, and will save you 50 cents to $3 on every suit, according to quality. We will give you a good Working Suit for $2.50; we will give you a good Union Suits for $3, $4, $5. Other garments ask from $1.00 to $2.00 dollars more for same goods.

Our Fine Tailor-made Suits at $10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, & 16,

Are by far the best goods ever shown in this city. For style, fit, and elegant finish they cannot be surpassed, even by the best merchant tailors, which would cost double the money. In Boys' Clothing, ranging in sizes from 3 to 18 years of age, we have them in prices from $1.00 to $5.00 per suit, to the finest. OVERCOATS in endless variety, from the lowest to the best Homes in Rising Sun. In

BOOTS AND SHOES,

We are acknowledged to be the lowest on the best goods the market affords. You can save from 25 to 50 cents on every pair of Fine Shoes or Winter Boots, but will name only a few of our warranted goods; every pair guaranteed to give satisfaction; or a new pair given for every pair not coming up to the warranty. The foregoing is a guarantee from the manufacturer of the Shoes.

BLANKETS AND YARNS

We lead them all. Best Factory Yarn 68c per pound; other merchants ask 80c for yarn not near as good. 11-4 Blankets, all-wool, factory goods, $3 to $5 per pair; worth one dollar more.

We ask the public to get the prices of the so-called leading Dry Goods and Clothing houses of this section—obtain their lowest prices and quality—and then come to the

TRADE PALACE.

You will then be convinced that we are the only house in Rising Sun that divides its profits with you. An invitation is extended to all. We want everybody to know that they are welcome to our house. Whether in need of goods or not, you are welcome, and will be shown through our stock with pleasure, as we consider it no trouble to show goods.

Remember the place, Main Street, two doors below National Bank.

and Sacramento rivers are navigable stream, and is the richest and the largest fruit-bearing portion of the state. Fifty-four trains from Sacramento to the city pass daily through the shops of the C. P. R. R. for shipping material to two thousand mechanics here. The city is built upon a level, the streets running at right angles to the river from the south to the north 31st from west to east.

Many fine buildings adorn the portion of the city, and many of the streets are paved with granite. A main street during the month of thirty years ago, presenting a view so different to us from the East. The houses were of the old-fashioned style, and the buildings modeled after the houses of the East. The streets were wide, and the houses were surrounded by grounds.

Crocker art gallery cost over $700,000, donated by Mrs. E. B. Crocker, said gallery will contain many fine oil paintings, to which is added an art school. This gallery, active in the United States, will supply tourists who may visit from all parts of the world. There among which are the new (Artists' Club, Masonic and Old Fellow different churches, school buildings, and other public buildings business structures. The city has about 30,000 population, and a whole sale trade, one or two have large stores. They were some of the finest and best seen in the State. Fine fairs are held here in Sep.

An exposition building (adjoint to the lake) is being erected, and a famous exhibit of the products of California is being made. The country is noted relative to some districts of the Sacramento County acres. The land is of three classes, a, p and s, and is adapted to the production of fruit and grapes. The p are mainly devoted to grain and the failure of crops since the Auer fire has been a great loss to the county farms, berries and extensively produced on this class and from small farms of the s and p classes. The s are more or less fertile.

The best lands are those on the mediate banks of the rivers, and Marshall and his wife, Virginia, are from Oregon. They have been in California since 1960. Marshall says he has seen similar conditions in other parts of the state. In an interview with the staff writer at the time, Marshall said the present winter has been an information—a fact, the coldest in the last 70 years.

A few days after a snowstorm swept over the valley, an snow depth of an inch, afford no more work, water was scarce. Marshall says he saw the same conditions the few hours it lay upon the ice also informed me that Sacramento shows a warmer winter, spring average temperature and flood season. It is expected every day to hear that the Kentucky Legislature has adopted a resolution favoring home rule in Ireland.

DAN VORHEES says he does not want to be nominated for Vice-President. He prefers staying in the U. S. Senate.
A PETITION has been sent from Warren county asking of the Legislature permission to vote on the Prohibition question.

THE business of local optioning still goes on in this State. At the next regular election the law will be voted on in numerous precincts and counties.

THE Kentucky Legislature had passed the whipping post law ten years ago, there would not now have been any necessity for the Ed-dyville penitentiary.

A BILL aimed at Anarchists, has been introduced in the Ohio Legislature, forbidding any body of men not organized under the military laws of the State, to drill either with or without arms.

JAMES ARBUCKLE, the New York coffee dealer and noted broker of promise citizen, has appealed Miss Campbell's judgment against him for $45,000. The versatile James does not like to pay so liberally for "K. M. Q's."

The proposition to call a constitutional convention will be voted on again and it is to be hoped that the ground gained in that direction will not be abandoned. If the vote next time is favorable the proposition will be clinched.

THE proposition to appropriate $20,000 to assist in making Kentucky's display at the Industrial Convention in Louisville next summer was defeated in the State Senate last week. Probably its defeat was compassed in part by the suspicion that lingers in regard to a like appropriation of State funds made a few years since, viz: that it was only a fat take for the commissioners who handled it. The Legislature should not obstruct in any manner, the development of the State, but appropriations of the character above mentioned should, in all cases, be closely scrutinized. The present Legislature has the former appropriation for a precedent, and it is presumable that in refusing to appropriate the $20,000, proposed, it acted adversely, having investigated the results of the former attempt to encourage a display of the State's resources.

OF the natural resources of which Kentucky is favored, capital is not ignorant, and probably the best means for the encouragement of its investment in Kentucky, is a course of liberal legislation towards railroads and other improvements that seek to engage in actual development. It is folly to appropriate a large amount of the State's funds to attract the attention of capital and then to make no special effort to adopt measures which will commend the State as a favorable locality in which to invest. An expensive display of the natural resources of the State at the Industrial Exposition would not be entirely without beneficial results, but there are other channels through which greater results could be attained.

THE Courier-Journal makes the following statement of facts concerning the practice of carrying concealed weapons:
"The habit of carrying concealed weapons is a most pernicious one, but it has this excuse: that as long as the State will not protect a citizen, he will protect himself."
"A bully-knocks a man down or assaults him at night, or he kills him. The bully employs a lawyer, fixes the jury, bulldozes the witnesses, takes an appeal and goes free, licensed to repeat his performance."

"A peace-loving, law-abiding citizen at last arms to protect himself, and is arrested for carrying a concealed weapon."
"The State in truth, has no right to take it from him until it has assured to every citizen full protection for life and property."

"Take any ten men at random to-morrow, five belonging to the dangerous classes, five to the industrious classes. It will be found that the dangerous men are armed; they are not dangerous because they are armed, but they are armed because they are dangerous and have come to crime in contemplation."

"But it is said the law against carrying concealed weapons is aimed against the criminal class. It never reaches them. It is a law which men obey or disobey as pleases them. The quiet citizen obeys it; the bully ignores it."

"Life is not protected under the laws of Kentucky at this time. The Legislature should see that such alterations are made in our statutes against crime as will let remove from our State the sin of blood guiltiness; then it may consider the necessity of increased penalties for carrying weapons."

Crop and Stock.
Live stock generally is in a good condition.
The reports generally as to small grain are very favorable.

The tobacco market went off one dollar on the hundred last week. The average weight of the 5,470,832 hogs received at Chicago during last year was 228 pounds.

Arrangements are being made for a tremendously large tobacco crop in this State this year.

B. F. Sanders, of Mercer county, sold a carload of hogs for delivery April 1st, at 6 cents per pound.

According to our exchanges considerable stock was killed by falling during the recent severe period.

The Independent expects Gallatin county to raise an unprecedentedly large tobacco crop this year.

Given & Carter, of Lincoln county, brought a car-load of mules in Wayne at $100 per head, and shipped them to Atlanta.
W. S. Bealy, of Garrard county, shipped to Cincinnati 80 head of cattle, averaging 1,300 pounds, for which he got 41 cents.
It is figured that the average shrinkage of a Texas steer en route to Chicago is 100 pounds, and that this amounts in a year to between 35,000 to 50,000 head of cattle.
Mr. Hiram Berry, of Frankfort, has sold his fast pacer, Senator Beck, by Newark, dated by Sentinel to Mr. L. B. Morcy, of Alton, Ill., for $1,250.
T. J. Overstreet, of Jessamine, has sold a half interest in his horse Overstreet Wilkes, to Dr. J. C. McCoy of St. Louis, for $2,000 cash. The horse has been shipped to the Doctor's Maple Wood Stock Farm in Delaware.

Simmons & Ross, stock dealers of Madison county, have bought and shipped 6,000 hogs since the last of September last. They feed number of hogs and used 6,000 hogs of corn. The cost of hogs and corn exceeding $100,000.

The gas well at noon Wednesday was near 1,100 feet deep. A very few days more will determine the question of gas or oil so far as this company is concerned. No winter has been struck since passing the depth of 50 feet. For more than 600 feet the drill has passed through one solid rock—Eminence Constitutional.

E. S. Muir & Son, of Canfield, Stock Farm, Donora, Ky., sold to C. H. Redding, of Buffalo, N. Y., to go to Cuba, the day mare, Mollie Wilkes, 7 years old, by Young Jim, from Augusta by Allie West. Mollie Wilkes started in six races last season, winning five, only losing one heat and making one break in the first five races, getting the record 2:22 1/2. She was bred and trained at Canfield. Price, $10,000.

They Must Be Sold!
Wonderful Advantages offered Purchasers of Summer Goods
Our object being to dispose of all Summer Stock at once, cost and value not considered, all visiting our establishment will be fully repaid by the saving to be enjoyed. Anticipating an early demand for Fall Goods, we have made unusual preparations for the same, and have now ready and for sale an enormous stock of

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes,

Yarns, Flannels, Blankets, Ladies' Misses' & Child's Cloaks
And in fact, everything usually kept in a first-class city store. It is impossible to enumerate prices and give descriptions of all Goods in this small space, but will name only a few prices on our many bargains. We call your attention to the fact that we are showing the latest line of CLOTHING ever shown in this section, and will save you 50 cents to 83 on every suit, according to quality. We will give you a good Working Suit for $2.50; we will give you a good Union Cassimere Suit for $3.45, $4.50. Other merchants ask from one to two dollars more for same goods.

Our Fine Tailor-made Suits at $10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, & 16.
Are by far the best goods ever shown in this city. For style, fit, and elegant finish they cannot be surpassed, even by the best merchant tailors, which would cost double the money. In Boys' Clothing, ranging in size from 8 to 18 years of age, we save you 25 cents to $1.75 per suit, to the finest. OVERCOATS in endless variety, from the lowest to the best English Worsteels, Meltons, Heavers, Chinchillas, &c., which we offer lower than any other house in Rising Sun. In

BOOTS AND SHOES,
We are acknowledged to be the lowest on the best goods the market affords. You can save from 25 to 50 cents on every pair of Fine Shoes or Winter Boots. Do not fail to see our warranted goods; every pair guaranteed to give satisfaction; or a new pair given for every pair not coming up to the warranty. The foregoing is a guarantee from the manufacturer of the Shoes.

BLANKETS and YARNS
We lead them all. Best Factory Yarn 68c per pound; other merchants ask 80c for yarn not near as good. 11-14 Blankets, all-wool, factory goods, $3 to $5 per pair, worth one dollar more.

We ask the public to get the prices of the so-called leading Dry Goods and Clothing houses of this section—obtain their lowest prices and quality—and then come to the

TRADE PALACE.
You will then be convinced that we are the only house in Rising Sun that divides its profits with you. An invitation is extended to all. We want everybody to know that they are welcome to our house. Whether in need of goods or not, you are welcome, and will be shown through our stock with pleasure, as we consider it our trouble to show goods. Remember the place, Main Street, two doors below National Bank.

OUR CALIFORNIA LETTER

[Special Correspondence.]

California, the largest State in the United States, is 700 miles long with an average width of 253 miles. The Sierra Nevada and Coast Ranges of mountains divide the State into two main sections, the northern and the southern. The Sierra Nevada has an altitude of from 8,000 to 14,000 feet; the Coast Range from 2,000 to 4,000 feet and they are divided into border of valleys and rivers, the principal cities being the Sacramento valley, 100 miles in length and 45 miles across. The Sacramento, through which runs the Sacramento river, a negligible stream for about 100 miles from the Sierras into Suisun bay, is the head of the bay of San Francisco. The Sacramento valley proper includes the counties of Sacramento, Yuba, Butte, Colusa, Colusa, Sutter, Yolo and Solano, and is being bordered by the mountainous counties of Amador, El Dorado, Placer, Sierra, Plumas, Shasta, Tehama, Colusa, Yuba, Butte, Colusa, Sutter, Yolo and Solano. The variety of soil and climate, owing to the high elevation of the Sierras, the soil of the valley opens the hard

The Richmondo River is principally a flood plain, the rich adobe and alluvial soil is well adapted to the growth of cereals. All the foot hills varieties of soil from the light sandy soil appears on the slopes of the mountains, certain soil, some being sand, of light color, some light gray, and much a deep red. The summits are more rocky and volcanic. The soils vary, some being clay like, sandy ridges, loamy meadows and deep valleys in the very tops of the mountains, being the favorite resort of the herds of sheep and cattle during the summer months.

The mountain sides are covered with a growth of pine fir and spruce standing in gaue. The climate in the valley is warm in summer, but cold, the thermometer rarely dropping below 30 degrees above zero in winter. June, July and August the mercury usually rises to 100 and occasionally more, but owing to the peculiar dryness of the air and constant operation of the wind, which takes off all perspiration from the body, the heat is not appreciated as it is in the towns and harvest fields go on as usual, a clear day

The trees are semi-tropical fruit are in profusion, as was fully demonstrated in the fair held in Oroville, Butte County in December last. This "thermal belt" is noted for its wonderful curative qualities in lung and asthmatic complaints. But the good Government or railroad, for the railroads or rivers reason. In the last five years the railroads have been the principal cause of the ruin of the Sacramento valley, the grain being transported to the coast on ships, but the complex turn of events has been the construction of the coast-to-coast railroads—the Colorado and Southern Pacific and the Atchafalaya and Santa Fe, with the prospect of the completion of the coast-to-coast route soon costing, affording the necessary facilities and reduced rates of transportation, has given a world market for the growing fruit, and California will soon be considered the garden of the world. The Sacramento valley has a rich abundance of the fruit and the First-class hotels charge from two to four dollars per day for room and board.

There are plenty of good newspapers, teachers and schools. The writer has never seen or heard of malaria in the valleys of the central portion of the continent; he could not find any reliable information about it. There are no mosquitoes, but there are many other pests, but not enough to cause a serious epidemic.

No bank failures in Cincinnati for a week now.
The Senate has agreed to vote on the Blair Educational Bill to day at three o'clock.
This act allowing grand jury men $2 per day has received the Governor's signature and is now a State law.
HENRY County will hold her primary election the first Saturday in March, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for sheriff.
MA. SETTLER refuses to substitute the words "Local Option" for "Prohibition" in the act providing for another vote on the whisky question in Owen county.
E. L. HARPER thinks if the rule applied to him on his recent trial applies to all other National Bank officials the Ohio penitentiary is not large enough to hold all of them that should be there.
The Louisville Commercial is responsible for the following:
"It is customary to abuse every Legislature, but the present body actually parts its coat-tails and invites the community to kick it."
The most wonderful revival of the day is reported at Bever Hills, Alabama. Everybody in the section has professed religion and such scenes as women fainting and men lying apparently dead for hours are enacted.
SENATOR BLACKBURN, personally, is in favor of the Blair Educational Bill, but is willing to obey the mandate of the Kentucky Legislature on that subject. The present legislature has nothing to do with the election of his successor.
The last information in regard to Mr. Hoggins' bill to increase the Judges' salaries was to the effect that its opponents had most aversely disagreed it by amendments, and it is now prostrate on the table. Where it should forever remain.
The Morehead Blade says: "John Dixon found the following inscription tacked on a tree on top of Clark mountain:
Farwell to Morgan, a long farewell.
We bid you adieu;
We may emigrate some day to hell,
But never come back to you."
An old man was found dead in his cabin in Taylor county, Ga. The coroner summoned a jury, who viewed the corpse, built a big fire of pine knots, emptied a jug of whisky, and then rendered the verdict, "We the jury find the prisoner guilty."
If another bank failure or two occur in Cincinnati, people will suspicion that an overplus of style adds nothing to the solidity of such institutions and, further, that wild cat speculators are more apt to be found where gorgeous offices and corresponding office paraphernalia abound.
By the death of the Postmaster at Georgetown, the post-office at that place is thrown back into Congressmen Blackburn's hands. It is not necessary to intimate to Col. Billy that post-offices are loaded, for he has discovered that one. There are several applicants for the vacancy.
The Court of Appeals has recently ruled that "if from any cause those in charge of a railroad train can not see stock on the track until so near them that they can not by the proper use of proper care prevent a collision, the company should not be liable for the killing of the stock."
Our friend, H. M. Fraizer, of Clay Center, Kansas, sent us a copy of the Dispatch published on its 17th anniversary. It is artistically made up and handsomely printed on pink paper. From the reading of this Dispatch we judge Clay Center is located exactly in the center of the finest grain spot on earth.
Taz Representative from Warren county declares "there is hard times in Kentucky," and desires that the Legislature should not add to the State's affliction by remaining in session to exceed seventy-five days; but the other soldiers did not concur with the gentleman from Warren as to the time the Legislature should adjourn, and business is in a fair way to continue until the wild flowers begin to bloom in the spring.
THERE is a proposition to impose a per capita tax of twenty-five cents on each male citizen of this State over eighteen years of age, for the purpose of sustaining Kentucky's standing army. This proposition is in accord with suggestions made by the Governor in his message. Our Governor is an admirer of military affairs, although he does not believe in calling on the militia to assist the civil authorities unless it is absolutely necessary.

The coming Centennial Exposition promises to be a big thing for Cincinnati and all the business interests of that city, but in what manner it is to benefit the newspapers of this region or the communities which support these newspapers, has not yet been made manifest. Yet it is apparent that the managers of this Cincinnati enterprise expect a vast deal of free advertising from this region of Kentucky. Our desk is covered with proposals looking to this end. More may be expected from time to time.
It is a question for our consideration whether this Cincinnati Centennial Exposition is one of those things which it is our duty to advertise and puff gratuitously, or is it an enterprise that should pay for the space it occupies?
The Exposition expects to receive large accessions to its treasury from the blue grass counties and all the territory along the Cincinnati Southern Railroad, and it is expected that the newspapers in those regions will work up an excitement, promote excursion parties, etc., etc.
"What is our duty in the premises?" Are we under such obligations to Cincinnati as to make it obligatory upon us to gratuitously work for her institutions? Do her business men give us such liberal advertising patronage as to induce us to watch out for a favorable opportunity to evince our gratitude?
We would like to hear from our journalistic neighbors on this subject.
If the papers allow the Exposition to dead-beat them it is their own fault. They have the remedy in their own hands.
The Eminence Constitutionalist of the 9th inst., says: "The contractors struck a strong vein of salt water in the proposed gas well about 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, whereupon the work was again suspended until arrangements can be made for casing the well. It is evident, as in the case of the old well drilled more than thirty years ago at Lagrange, that it will be necessary to go below the salt water to secure gas oil. It has also been demonstrated in this well as compared with the well drilled the past summer at Lagrange, that Eminence is by no means an upheaval inasmuch as a show of gas was obtained in a well of gas well at 775 feet and the same vein was tapped here at 605 feet and salt water was obtained at 1450 feet at Lagrange and here at 1205 feet.
If the proceedings of the Legislature are accurately reported, the bill to require the counties to support their pauper idiots, creates quite a commotion among the representatives from the mountains every time it is mentioned. The mountain counties are pretty well stocked with idiots for the support of each of which the State contributes annually $75, making idiot allowances a considerable source of revenue to certain counties. The advocates of the bill claim that not more than half the allowance, in many instances, reaches the person for whom it is intended, and by throwing all or a large portion of these allowances back on the counties, a fraudulent drain on the State revenue will be checked.
MR. BLAISE has written a letter to B. F. Jones, chairman of the National Republican Committee, declining to allow his name presented to the National Convention as a candidate for President. The letter is written from Florence, Italy, under date of January 25th, 1888. With Mr. Blaine out of the way his boom will resolve itself into boomlets for several other candidates, with the probability of a very small amount of his strength going to Mr. Sherman, who, at present, is several lengths ahead of any of the other aspirants in his party.

Crop and Stock.
Phialas and 15 brood mares and colts have arrived at Glenview farm near Louisville, from Racine, Wis. The department of agriculture estimates the corn area harvested for grain in the United States last year at 72,392,720 acres; product, 1,406,161,000 bush. value $646,106,770.
John Melly, of Pendleton county, has delivered a crop of 13,000 lbs. of tobacco for which he received 20 cents a pound. Said to be the best crop raised in the county last year.
Prentice, the champion Short-horn bull at the recent Chicago fat stock show, was a grandson of Duke of Connaught, which sold for $22,500, the highest price ever paid for a bull of any breed.
In 1887 the factories at Durham, N. C., sold and shipped 5,000,000 pounds of smoking tobacco, at an average wholesale price of 33c per pound. The leaf used in its manufacture averaged 10c round.
There will be a larger acreage of tobacco grown in Scott county this year than has ever before been planted. Almost everybody you see who has a spot of ground or can rent any, contemplates putting in a crop, if it is ever so small.

T. S. Hartford, of near Grata, sold last week his crop of tobacco at 17 cents all round. Frank Fowler, of Kentucky river, sold 30,000 lbs. of tobacco on Monday of last week which was raised by himself and tenants at 18c all round. Very little tobacco has been sold and delivered in this vicinity, while in other portions of the county most of the crops are in the hands of the buyers.—Owen News.
Commissioner Davis says: Such is the tendency to put in a big crop in almost every county (and while Burley seed is the demand from almost every neighborhood in the State), that there is evidently great danger of depressing prices as low, if not lower, than they were two years ago. We repeat our warning of a month ago. In this behalf, and sincerely trust that farmers of Kentucky will henceforth pay more attention to the diversifications of crops.
THE RECORDER states, but the other day in search of a few new items and had not proceeded far before a fellow who proved to be a regular encyclopedia was cornered. Being asked what he knew he responded:
"What do I know?" "Why, I know when you initiated last week that there might be a county seat war in this county at some time you made the hair on the heads of some stand straight up."
"Why so?"
"Because such troubles as that are only one degree below civil war. I don't like to talk about such blood-curdling troubles."
"Well, what do you know about who is going to be the next sheriff?"
"If there are no more candidates and Mike Rowe lives, Jim Clutterbuck will turn the saddle-bags over to him. But it is a long time till the first Monday in January, and some other strong man might enter the field and give the contest two sides."
"Do you know any, one likely to become a candidate?"
"Can't say for certain that I do. Bob Brady has been spoken of, and would make things lively should he become a candidate. And then there is Solon Early, of Petersburg, he has had the matter of becoming a candidate for sheriff under advisement. These are good substantial men, either of whom would make a good officer. There are several who have a hankering after the office, and would take to the field with but little encouragement, stick a pin there."
"What do you think about the business capacity of the Kentucky Legislature?"
"Such will matter as that I give no thought, and only have this to say: Our law makers are subject to considerable unnecessary criticism. By the way, Boone is entitled to the Senator from this district next time."
"You are correct."
"Yes, and you will find but a few less than a half-dozen of the sensible ones seeking the honor. Boone has an abundance of the latent ability that will sooner or later, probably later, be developed. It seems that the office of State Senator is now pointing towards J. Frank Grant, of Petersburg."
"Wouldn't Frank make a good Senator?"
"Yes. He is a man of excellent address; is in the prime of life both physically and intellectually; he is a good business man, and would make a most efficient stumper. But then there are several other fellows who will claim to be, and probably are, his equal in all these essentials, and it may yet be the man seeking the office instead of the office trying to run the man down. Boone will have no trouble in finding a man to take the office, you can let your bottom dollar for that."
"Who will the Democrats nominate for President?"
"Cleveland. They will not only nominate him, but will elect him."
"Why do you think they will nominate Cleveland?"
"The best indication is the Republican effort to work up a boom for some other man. They see clearly their doom. If Cleveland is the man they have to oppose."
"Will the Republicans nominate Mr. Blaine?"
"No man in this vein of tears can answer that. His party recognizes the fact that within their lines there is a very formidable opposition to Mr. Blaine, and without the assistance of this anti-Blaine element, they are hopelessly defeated, and they will unite on the candidate they consider the most available all things considered, and this puts Mr. Blaine almost out of the contest."
"Have you heard anything lately about the railroad which was being so much discussed a few weeks since?"
"No, I believe that it saw its shadow and has gone into the ground. Some people think that a railroad through this part of the country would be preposterous, but they are slightly off in railroad knowledge in my opinion. A railroad from Covington to the river at Bellevue or Rising Sun would pass through as good an agricultural and live stock country as can be found, and it would largely increase the production of the section tributary to the road. Keep the road before the people is my advice to you—give it all the encouragement you can."
"What is your opinion about the tobacco boom which has so enthralled the farmers in this county?"
"My advice to the farmer is to plant 15 acres of tobacco now, and till the acreage to 500 sitting ducks, and plant the other 10 in corn and potatoes."
"You think they are inclined to overdo the tobacco business this year?"
"If everything is favorable, the 1888 crop will be enormous; but the opinion that the market can not be ruined is a very dangerous one. This opinion is based on the very small crop produced in 1887 and we hope it is correct."

Western papers are discussing the case of Bill Nye and trying to determine who was his discoverer. Editor Rothacker, of the Omaha Republic, says that Bill needed no discoverer, but he submits the following testimonial, written upon Nye's second trial, which is signed by Rothacker, who is more than any one else, is responsible for the crimes against public patience of which I have been guilty.

Drum—On the 20th inst., Joseph Rich aged 67, at his residence near Deary.

The deceased was born and raised in this county, and had filled the office of Constable and Deputy Assessor, and was a man well liked by all who knew him.

At the time of his death he had been many years before he was a member in good standing of the Hannibal Lodge of Odd-Fellows. His family has many friends who sympathize with him in his loss and bereavement.

The trial of Dr. Murat v. Constantine last Tuesday, under a writ charging him with petty larceny, viz: The taking, killing and eating of a turkey the property of John Kinsinger, of the same place, resulted in the accused being held over to await the action of the next grand jury.

His bond was fixed at $40 by Judge W. B. Grubbs who held the examining trial. Quite a large crowd attended the trial. Dr. Murat is the prosecution is malicious which he will be able to show.

Dr. Murat has had Frank Elmer, one of the prosecuting witnesses arrested for perjury.

In 1885 Mayer Goldsmith, of New York, was sleeping, at the Petersburg distillery, a large lot of cattle, which the Assessor in his rounds discovered and listed for taxation at $15,000.

Before the time the Sheriff received the tax books for that year, Goldsmith moved the cattle, which were the only property he had in this county at that time or since. The Sheriff paid to take care of the cattle, and he now asks the Legislature to refund to him the said amount.

Sheriff Clutterbuck (not in his official capacity though) tackled a type writer the other day. Having, after many trials and much tribulation, succeeded in getting the words, "Gentle Assembly" in pretty good shape, he undertook to touch off the word "respectfully." Commencing in the middle of the word he spelled both ways, and the machine produced a word that for oddity of appearance, would rival the name of any Prussian. After several unsuccessful trials the Sheriff pushed back from the table and "respectfully" declined to make another trial.

The following is from the Innesville Herald of last week: "Last Tuesday evening at 10 o'clock, in the parlors of Mr. J. C. Terrell, the well known Miller, in Owensboro, Mr. Henry C. Barber, our public, worthy and promising passenger agent, was married to Miss Julia Terrell, one of the most estimable and widely known society ladies of Owensboro, by Dr. Bowers. The young couple immediately left on the 2:30 train for Russellville, arriving in the evening.

The following item is taken from the Logan, Ohio, special to the Cincinnati Enquirer of February 10th: "Prof. C. F. Fowler of Columbus, who has been teaching dancing at Nelsonville, eloped with Miss Ella Logan, of Athens, and came to this city last night for the purpose of being married, and learning that he could not get a marriage license in this county, he procured a team and drove to Athens late last night, a distance of twenty-six miles, returning here this morning on the early train, where he and Miss Logan were married at the residence of Rev. D. C. Thomas. In a few hours Prof. Fowler and his lovely bride went to receive the paternal blessing, which, no doubt, they received."

We clip the following from an exchange, and invite the attention of those who are regular patrons of the Louisville State Lottery to the warning. As is well known, Gen. Beauregard is one of the managers of the drawings, and knows well he is talking about. "One of Beauregard's old soldiers, who had been in the war, called on him to send him a lottery ticket which would win a big prize. He said: 'I was always at my post, and never disobeyed orders. I came out of the war without clothes enough to suit a shogun.' The General answered: 'My dear comrade, I send you a ticket that I hope will draw a prize, and beg leave to give you the following pointer: If you stick to the Louisiana Lottery for years as faithfully as you did to the Southern Confederacy, you will not have clothes enough to suit a pop-gun.'"

The school of Prof. Lassing and Gaines closed last Friday at noon. Quite a number of the friends of the teachers and many of the patrons of the school were present and witnessed the closing exercises, which consisted principally of recitations and essays, many of which were of a high order. This part of the program concluded with an Ethiopian dance in which an old fashioned "ho-down" was executed eight days, four of which were performed as far as the school was concerned.

The presentation of the four hand-made medals closed the exercises. H. P. Stephens made the presentation speech which was very appropriate and well delivered. The medals were given to the following: Henry Hicks, Greek Shield for highest grade scholarship; Stanley Clutterbuck, Greek Shield for highest grade scholarship; John Doney, Greek Shield for highest grade scholarship; and Albert Stephens, Greek Shield for highest grade scholarship. The medals were gold, and are beautiful souvenirs which the happy recipients appreciate very highly, and around which will, during the winter, cluster fond recollections of their kind teachers, Messrs. Lassing and Gaines.

The per cent of the pupils receiving the medals was as follows: Stanley Clutterbuck, 97; Katie Huey, 98; Henry Hicks, 99; Stanley Clutterbuck, 97.

A Statement From Mr. Conner.

Last week we published a clipping from the Cincinnati Enquirer in regard to the Conner-Rabenstein law case, which we have received the following from Mr. Conner:

"Two years ago the 1st of this month Mr. Rabenstein came to me, wanting an interest in the business, he having experience in trading, and agreed to pay $50 per month for the first year and furnish $3,000 for half interest in the business. The second year he did not want to pay the $50 per month, but agreed to furnish the money necessary to run the business until the end of the year he had secretly hired all the men who were employed by the firm, and at the beginning of the new year, tried to take possession of the office, but in that he failed. He then issued circulars and sent them to all my customers, stating that he had furnished the money for the first year and all the second year, and for good reasons of his own, concluded to do so no longer, which was untrue as the books show that I lent $1,307.05 in the business after he had agreed to furnish all the money. Then he issued a price list as a successor to Conner & Rabenstein, and put out a notice of dissolution in Sunday's Enquirer of January 8th, and signed my name or caused it to be signed without my knowledge, which was very detrimental to my interest, since he said: 'I feel and know that I have been damaged very much by his actions as I have met several friends since who thought I was out of the business, and I have had several business men come to me and say that I was entitled to more than I ask; and one man said he had heard about one hundred men saying that they would give me damages if they were on the jury. If you do publish anything in addition to what you say, you will please say for me that I and Bro. Jim will conduct the business now, and that we are as well prepared to take care of our friends in the future as we ever were, and please do not let your exchanges to copy, and oblige yours, W. M. CONNER."

The Erlanger Leap Year Party.

The most brilliant event in the history of Erlanger was the Leap Year party given there last Friday night, under the auspices of the following committee of young ladies: Misses Gertrude Cleveland, Lizzie Dulaney, Minnie Senior and Mollie Tappan.

Before the committee sent out the invitations they had waited upon Edgar Garvey and secured the use of his new store building, which was a most desirable place for the occasion, while the upper story was converted into reception and dining room. The young ladies, with the baskets, and shortly before the hour for refreshments they proceeded to prepare the table which was laden with an elegant spread consisting of all the delicacies and dainties that the most extravagant appetite could desire, and the young men have been the recipients of much praise for the very successful manner in which they discharged the new duties.

The young ladies, with the baskets, and shortly before the hour for refreshments they proceeded to prepare the table which was laden with an elegant spread consisting of all the delicacies and dainties that the most extravagant appetite could desire, and the young men have been the recipients of much praise for the very successful manner in which they discharged the new duties.

The ladies are entitled to the entire credit of the grand success achieved, as the party was not only planned by them, but every expense was met by them. They were very grateful to Mr. Garvey for the use of his house and the preparation made for their comfort.

Mr. and Mrs. R. K. Dulaney were the chaperones of the occasion, and as the special delicacies, two pies, one a saw-dust and the other a horse-radish, which are known to have been ordered for the occasion, did not appear on the table, it is believed by some that Mr. Dulaney, having access to the baskets, devoured these pies previous to the supper hour.

What is the use of having a notable union we have a magistrate.

Why don't some body write up our town and give the place a kick?

Mr. A. H. Hilder's very sick wife brain fever not expected to live.

Mr. R. G. Cody has been appointed constable for this district.

We advise the young bloods who raised such a disturbance here last summer to look a little odd.

J. H. Owens, route agent of the B. & O. Express Company will be in Florence and Burlington next week to open express offices at both places, provided he can get good reliable men to act as agents.

C. A. Riggs has opened a livery and feed stable just opposite the depot, and will be pleased to have the people of Boone county leave their horses with him when going to the city on train.

Half of our citizens ran to Covington last week to tell the grand jury what they knew on the 1st, "for dogs ought to be put to death and used to be put to death."

Just as we go to press the news reaches us of a sad and fatal accident in the Union neighborhood, by which Geo. Newman, eldest son of John A. Newman came to his death. In taking a shot-gun down from its resting place in the house one barrel exploded, blowing his head off. The accident happened about 10 o'clock in the afternoon. The unfortunate young man was about 25 years of age.

To the Public—I will start a No. 1 Meat Store in Burlington about the 1st of April, and will keep constantly on hand all kinds of meats at the very lowest prices.

Gen. Sheridan respectfully declines to allow his name to be used as a Republican candidate for President. Are they all afraid of Greer?

Everybody in this vicinity is rejoicing.

We are at last through with the mumps, after an eight week's siege. The Presbyterians will hold their regular communion services next Saturday and Sunday mornings at 11 a. m.

J. D. Norman left last week for parties new. The last news from him, reported him as passing through Tenn. enroute for the West.

Miss Nannie Brinklow's school will close this week, and next Saturday evening at 7 o'clock her pupils will give an entertainment to which all friends and patrons are invited.

Julius F. Uts is postmaster at "Crescent" Boone county, formerly Dixon. Mrs. Needham, of Williamstown, of representative Needham, of Grant county, was visiting the family of Dr. Scott, last week.

A little daughter of Dr. R. A. Dulaney is reported to have a clearly defined case of cerebro-spinal meningitis, and her recovery is very doubtful.

Misses Belle and Lucy Kirby, have been quite sick with malarial fever for the last two weeks; but at last accounts they were on the road to recovery.

Fello! Hello! F. A. Uts is the man that is taking subscriptions for the telephone to be built from Florence to Covington, and "Don't you forget it!"

Pollock, of Grant county, was circulating among the people last week, endeavoring to make up a subscription school, but with what success we have not learned.

St. Valentine's day has passed and Bob Scott says he is glad of it, and we understand some of our merchants have a stock of comic Valentines enough to last ten years.

The pupils of the colored school gave an entertainment at the "Colored Baptist Church" and it was pronounced by those present to be a very creditable exhibition. The teacher of the school is deserving of great praise.

Mr. Fred Rich, of the firm of Olsner and Rich, made a flying visit to Indianapolis, Ind., last week, prospecting. We don't know whether he comes to place leaving Florence or not, but we do know he is a good citizen and would be greatly missed.

Personal Mention.

Dr. J. C. Terrell was in Burlington last Saturday.

Thomas C. Graves, of Petersburg, was in town yesterday.

David Houston, of Verona, was in Burlington Monday.

J. M. Lassing visited his parental roof near Union last Sunday.

Mr. A. G. Winston, of Hebron, was in town day before yesterday.

Mr. Legend Gaines is visiting Mr. All-Gaines' family in Cincinnati.

Capt. G. W. Terrell and son George, of Petersburg, were in town Saturday.

Charles Pinnburg was represented in town yesterday by Messrs. James Tolin and Phillips.

J. R. Clutterbuck and M. T. Garrett, will look in upon the Legislature a day or two this week.

James M. and Henry Barlow, of Pleasant Valley, made Burlington a flying visit Monday.

John M. Pate and brother, of Rising Sun, made Burlington a flying visit the first of the week.

W. H. Tanner and wife, of Florence, were in town Monday making a transfer of some real estate.

Our townsmen, A. M. Aarn, leaves Saturday on a tour of all the principal southern cities. He will be absent several weeks.

Mrs. H. A. Hicks and daughter, of Richmond, were present at the closing of the school at the Academy last Friday.

Mrs. J. W. Davis and two daughters, of Hebron, were in Burlington Friday. They were present at the closing of the school in the Academy.

Mrs. R. C. Green and Miss Nellie Rhyne are visiting Mrs. Tinsley at Vinalia, Kentucky county. Miss Julia Tinsley, we hear is quite sick.

Robt. Rouse, of Monroe City, Mo., who spent the past three months with friends in this county, has returned home, taking with him the best wishes of many Kentucky friends.

Miss Pearl Merrill, of Evansville, Indiana, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Dempsey, of this place for several weeks, has returned home. It was with sadness that some of the Burlington gallants noted her departure.

In Kentucky closed last week James Taylor, who is quite a lad, shot and killed his father, Lansing Taylor. The old man and his wife were engaged in a family row when the boy took down the gun and fired the fatal shot in his father's head. The boy's mother, his mother are now in jail in Covington. By those who know the family it is said they are all fit subjects for the lunatic asylum, and should have been sent there some time since. After he was taken to the jail where he wanted to be buried.

On the 22nd inst. B. H. Ryle will sell.

at public auction, all his live stock, farming implements and household and kitchen furniture. Sale to begin at 10 a. m.

The number of hogs packed in Cincinnati last year was 21,000 less than the year before.

Work on the Burlington and Erie railroad has suspended for the present on account of the rigors of the ground hog winter, and the mad dog epidemic.

Gov. BUCKNER has issued a proclamation withdrawing after March 10 all offers of rewards for the arrest of alleged criminals made or issued prior to January 1, 1887.

The total increase in the taxable property of eighty-three counties in the State, reported to the Auditor is $8,238,752. The remaining thirty-three counties are expected to greatly increase this.

At the present rate of dispatching business in the Legislature of Kentucky the next volume of the General Acts will be as large as a 10 cent novel. Probably the State will be the gainer thereby.

If Senator Sherman should be the Republican nominee for President this fall, on the western slope his changes on the Chinese Question will not cease to be rung until after the close of the polls in November.

To reduce the surplus in the Kentucky State Treasury, the Legislature has loaned to a bankrupt turnpike $10,000 with which to build a bridge. This loan is a pernicious precedent and it is a pity that Gov. Buckner did not down it with one of his vetoes.

The machine shops of the Southern railroad will be rebuilt at Louisville. They will be on a much larger scale both as to capacity and the number of men employed. Instead of three or four hundred men about fifteen or sixteen hundred will be given employment. Ludlowites are jubilant over the decision giving them the shops again.

Our friend who writes over the three stars seems to be loaded to the muzzle and is touched off with a hair-trigger. Therefore the editor will refrain from knocking the chip off his shoulder, but will leave him to the tender mercies of "The County Official," and if they don't knock him out he will have to continue on in his mad career.

The daily mail route from T. Linger to Ludlow has been ordered, but, owing to the small amount at stake to pay for the service, at least accounts no one who will undertake to render the service for the pay there is in it, had been found. We congratulate the people at T. Linger, Bullittsville, Hebron and Constance on their good luck.

The price of tobacco has not as yet taken any change that is calculated to inspire a confidence in it being an uncommonly remunerative crop to cultivate next year. When as large a section of country as the tobacco district in the United States is, turns its entire attention to the production of one article, the amount of which can be made enormous in a single year with favorable season, a demand for the article produced must be looked for beyond the demand at home, or moderate prices may be expected. The increase in the demand for tobacco has not kept pace with the increase of area to be planted and all things being favorable.

The property owners between Limburg and Constance are canvassing the proposition to build a turnpike connecting these two points, and for the purpose of putting the matter in a tangible shape a meeting will be held at Limburg next Monday at 10 o'clock a. m. and at Constance the next day (Tuesday) at 10 o'clock a. m. The presence of everybody interested in good roads, and especially the one proposed, is desired. If the proposed road is built, those who are advocating it claim that it will be the best paying road in the county, as it gives such an extensive territory to a much shorter route to the city. The turnpike is emphatically the farmers' road, and every section of country through which one is built gains largely thereby, and when a road is built the section through which it passes at once realizes the great benefits to be derived therefrom and wonder how they did without it so long. Land owners who are building a good turnpike to make good investments all through the proceeds of the roads are only sufficient to keep it in order.

K. of L. TOUCHED UP.

We read with exceeding interest the communication from Constance last week's Recorder over the signature of "Knight of Labor." Like the others, we think he was not in a normal state of health when the article was sent; or perhaps he is a remarkable snobbish and wrote his letter while in a non-responsible condition. He that is it may, his actions do not confirm but rather disprove his words. "Suit the word to the action and the action to the word."

His remarks about the educational facilities in our State bear at least the semblance of truth, though he pursues to an unwarrantable extent. It is next to impossible for those unfriendly to any object to present the same in a light other than unfavorable. Its merits are seen as through the wrong end of a telescope, its faults are magnified many fold.

We do not pretend to say that our educational system approximates perfection; nor is it nearly so good as that in the States of Ohio and Indiana perhaps. We feel assured that it is not now so good as far as it will be in a few years. In the last ten years the amount of public money per capita has almost doubled. We hope for still greater improvement in the next ten. The ball has at last been started rolling. It will be easier to keep it in motion now.

The facilities for education in Kentucky are splendid beside what they were a generation or two ago. Go back some 35 or 40 years. No public money. No State aid of any kind. Even then, though people educated themselves to a reasonably good extent. Many of Kentucky's great men of today received their common school education under such circumstances. Numbers of these men were children of very poor parents; parents who carried their bread by the sweat of their brow. How, I ask, were these so favored? Our grand old Commonwealth, as a whole, has never, in the eyes of a critical world, been characterized as a synonym of ignorance. In the councils of the nation no State has been more honored than Kentucky. In the category of great men she has produced undoubted leaders and the victors of time. Clay, the brightest star in all the constellation, claimed Kentucky as his home and gave his honors first to her. Breckinridge, Crittenden and Tom Marshall would honor any country. Even now we are not to be ashamed of ourselves. The silver-tongued Breckinridge, Judge Lindsay, Senator Beck and lastly in the order of a climax, our famous Congressman, the National Speaker, These go in and out among us, "bearing their blushing cheek upon them." These, mostly received the rudiments of their education in Kentucky common schools, when they were not so good as they are now. Some of them were from families as poor in this world's goods as any about Constance or anywhere else; but, being possessed of a little energy and ambition, they have lifted themselves upward into a position where history can never forget their names. Compare Kentucky with Ohio, the Commonwealth-model State. The comparison will be in our favor. We may not have as many ward politicians, demagogues and corrupt statesmen. I rejoice that we have not. But in true and broad statesmanship, full of merit and bearing the stamp of immortality, the contrast is most evident. "Judge the tree by the fruits thereof."

What a good many Kentuckians need above all other things is a little more energy and self-love. A little more of that spirit that will look on the bright side of life as the other, and not turn a traitor to the merits of the powers that be. A little more of that ambition that says: "Others have led this road from insubordination to fame and fortune, why can not I?" How much better this than to lay ourselves quietly on our backs, and then when up and doing against the State and fellow-citizens because we don't want to get up. The opportunity is given every young man in Kentucky to get a good education. He may have to stir, but it is within his reach. But of course the State cannot furnish a young man with the force of character necessary to his acquisition. To make matters more local, we have within our personal acquaintance young men, sons of parents that "earn their bread by the sweat of their brow," who attend the free month school and spend their leisure hours during the remainder of the year in literary pursuits. These young men, in native ability, and acquired as well, will stand comparison with the best in the country, and some day, doubtless, will be honored and respected of men. Each day verifies our old adage: "Every man is the architect of his own fortune." It is not only common schools that these ambitious young men get the benefit of. Worthy young men are admitted into Kentucky colleges, Georgetown and others, free of tuition. Numbers of students pay their own way at college. The first students in these institutions are those who are dependent entirely upon their own efforts. This has been true from time immemorial. Our friends lament that he can not have the fun that the people of Cincinnati enjoy. He can not treat his friends. Every Sunday he sees an excursion from the city indulging in music, dancing, drinking, etc. He would do that, too. We have passed through the quiet village of Constance on Sunday afternoon in summer time. You may see a gentle throng of people standing at the church, chatting pleasantly. And they are just out. They are cheerfully going home. Parents are rejoicing that their sons are with them and not away from them. They know not whom. Altogether it is a pleasant sight. It provokes secret admiration and speaks eloquently of something that you will see a steeper, more majestic upstream. The passengers usually the drags and skum of Cincinnati. They have been to Paris, France, there perhaps reveling in drunkenness and immorality. Several fights during the day. The dancing floor is beset with the blood of drunken victims. This provokes disgust. Mark the contrast—the Sunday school—the Sunday extension from Cincinnati. And yet our friend laments his lot. He would rather (we hope not) go to his friends together, that afternoon in some bar-room and there while the hours away dissipating with the wine cup.

No, like our good friend we will stay in Dear Old Kentucky. Twenty or more of our neighbor families may go to Ohio, but we will stay here. Our educational system may not be quite so good. Our people may not be quite so energetic, but here we rest. We will turn the dark side under and tread with confidence the paths that mystery before us have tried to success. We will go forth to meet the shadowy future without fear and with a manly breast.

AFTER many unsuccessful efforts one distasteful bill has escaped the Governor's veto, but as he has killed off so many jobs this winter, a single omission on his part can be pardoned. An act appropriating $10,000 to build a bridge for some turnpike in which the State has stock, was passed, the appropriation to be refunded to the State out of the dividends of the road; but it turns out that the road pays no dividends. The Legislature has such unbounded confidence in the Governor, or, wanting to throw all the responsibility for the defeat of local legislation on him, will seem not to be properly scrutinized before their passage. It is true Gov. Buckner has far seen able to take care of the State's interest to a great extent, but the legislative branch of the government should not throw its entire duties on him.

Crop and Stock.

The mail trade in Atlanta, Ga., amounts to $1,500,000 annually.

Kentucky produces 37 per cent. of the total leaf tobacco of the United States.

Two hundred farmers, from Kansas are looking for homes in Mississippi and Tennessee.

155,101 hogsheads of tobacco were sold at Louisville, last year, which is larger than any former year.

A. M. Anderson, of Centerville, sold 6 Victor Van Bismark's Lexington, at $1,225, $1,050, $850, etc.

Joe McCray, near Helena, raised 50,000 lbs. of tobacco on 30 acres, an I sold it at 17¢—Maysville Bulletin.

Good shoats fed crooked wheat have been made to gain one pound of pork for every two pounds of wheat fed.

W. H. Barr, Bowling Green, sold 92 head of good grade steers in Mercer county, weight 700 pounds, for $25 per head.

The noted stallion, Bell Boy, has been sold to Frankfort, Ky., parties for $35,000, the highest price ever paid for a three-year-old.

Col. R. S. Strader, of Lexington, sold to Howard McDonald for Mr. Wells, New York City, a pair of standard-bred bay geldings, 3 and 4 years old, at $1,000.

The first Texas cattle drive on the season started Monday Sunday week from San Antonio. There are 12,000 two and three-year-olds in the drive which will be divided into four herds of 3,000 each. The enterprise is in fine condition.

A representative of a New York tobacco firm says: "Spain has recently bought four thousand hogsheads of hogs, in New York, which leaves her one thousand short of last year's requirements, with about eighteen thousand hogsheads for the wants of 1888. The New York warehouses are empty."

Among the broken-down racers in Kentucky is Bootjack, the famous Bonnie Scotland getting, who is being used as a saddle horse, and a Axion, a full brother to the great Tom Bowling, is now doing duty between the shafts of a dray in Lexington. For a half interest in the latter, when he was an untired yearling, $1,000 in cash was paid.

After March 15th, 1888, I will be associated as a salesman in the Retail Department of Messrs. FRIEDMAN, BROS. & CO., Wholesale and Retail Dealers and Manufacturers in MEN'S, BOYS' and YOUTH'S CLOTHING.

The above named firm will open in their New Store Nos. 102 to 108 W. Fifth Street, Cincinnati, O., about the 15th of March, a Stock of CLOTHING, HATS and GENTS' FURNISHINGS, which will be complete in every Department, also a MERCHANDISE TAILORING Department in which will be found a Stock of Fashionable Goods and a Perfect Fit Guaranteed.

Thanking my friends in Kentucky and elsewhere for the patronage so liberally shown me while in Burlington, Ky., I solicit a continuance of your favors in order that both you and I may be benefited in the acceptance of my new position.

Yours anxiously to please, W. E. PIPER

HARD TIMES A THING OF THE PAST

wonderful Advantages offered Purchasers of Summer Goods

Our object being to dispose of all Summer Stock at once, and at values far below cost, all visiting our establishment will be fully repaid by the saving to be enjoyed. Anticipating an early demand for Fall Goods, we have made unusual preparations for the same, and have now ready and for sale an enormous stock of

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING,

Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes,

Yarns, Flannels, Blankets, Ladies' Misses' & Child's Cloaks

And in fact, everything usually kept in a first-class city store. It is impossible to enumerate prices and give descriptions of all Goods in this small space, but will name only a few prices on our many bargains. We call your attention to the fact that we are showing the finest line of CLOTHING ever shown in this section, and will save you 50 cents to $5 on every suit, according to quality. We will give you a good Working Suit for $2.50; we will give you a good Union Cassimere Suit for $3.85, $5. Other merchants ask from one to two dollars more for same goods.

Our Fine Tailor-made Suits at $10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, & 16, Are by far the best goods ever shown in this city. For style, fit, and elegant finish they cannot be surpassed, even by the best merchant tailors, which would cost double the money. In Boys' Clothing, we have sizes from 8 to 18 years of age, we have them in prices from $1.75 per suit, to the finest. OVERCOATS in endless variety, from the lowest to the best English Worsters, Meltons, Beavers, Chinchillas, &c., which we offer lower than any other house in Rising Sun. In Boots and Shoes, We are acknowledged to be the lowest on the best goods the market affords. You can save from 25 to 50 cents on every pair of Fine Shoes or Winter Boots. Do not fail to see our warranted goods; every pair guaranteed to give satisfaction; or a new pair given for every pair not coming up to the warranty. The foregoing is a guarantee from the manufacturer of the Shoes.

Blankets and Yarns We lead them all. Best Factory Yarn 68c per pound; other merchants ask 80c for yarn not near so good. 11-14 Blankets, all-wool, factory goods, $3 to $5 per pair; worth one dollar more.

We ask the public to get the prices of the so-called leading Dry Goods and Clothing houses of this section—obtain their lowest prices and quality—and then come to the

TRADE PALACE.

You will then be convinced that we are the only house in Rising Sun that divides its profits with you. An invitation is extended to all. We want everybody to know that they are welcome to our house. Whether in need of goods or not, you are welcome, and will be shown through our stock with pleasure, as we consider it no trouble to show goods.

Remember the place, Main Street, two doors below National Bank.

So far this month the farmers have not been able to dispatch much work.

The Legislature is pounding away with but little or no prospect of any general legislation being done.

The tobacco raisers in Kentucky heed the advice given by the State press, they will not overcrop themselves with tobacco this year.

In this State, eighteen counties report an average of 23 per cent. farm mortgages, eight report farm mortgages on the increase and ten on the decrease.

Hiram Thomas, the accredited slayer of Craig Toliver, left this day of tears one day last week by the delirium tremen route, starting from his home in Morehead.

In a joke the people of Argonia, Kansas, elected a woman Mayor. She has closed up all the poker places, forbids any cow-boy jollifications and has made the gamblers leave town.

The fruit prospect in southern Indiana, one of the great fruit regions of the United States, is fine. Fruit-growers say that only twice in their experience have crops been ruined by the weather later than this date.

The Union neighborhood has had an epidemic of both the measles and mumps this winter and now it is threatened with an epidemic of hydrophobia. We hope the grass-hopper and army-worm plagues will not strike that locality this summer.

"Trust" is only another name for monopoly, its only object being to force up the price of the article or articles the members of a "Trust" handle. A "Trust" has the same backing that monopoly has, and is opposed to industrially the same elements.

A company has been formed in Boston to control the sorghum crop of the country, through the means of a new sugar making process. The company claims to be able to produce sugar from sorghum cheaper than cane sugar, even if the latter should be duty free.

It seems that none of the neighboring counties are hankering after any of Iowa's territory and citizens. They do not want the job of reconstructing people who have the Toliver-and-Humphrey characteristics. Don't blame them; but the county can not be dug up and moved elsewhere.

Texas has canals, both wild and tame. They were imported in 1852, to be used in transportation across the continent to the Pacific coast. They did not prove adapted to this work, and a great many were turned loose to run wild, and have bred in the wilder parts of the State in great numbers.—American Cultivator.

The Republican party is numerously supplied with candidates for the Presidential nomination, with the friends of a half a dozen or more of the candidates very sanguine of success. Several dark horses are being groomed, their trainers praying for the occurrence of complications that will make them a necessary candidate.

Is the U. S. Mail service on the Southern Railroad put in better condition it would be a great relief to the publishers of papers along its route. Complaint is constantly being made as to the manner in which the mails are manipulated. That route has certainly been in operation long enough for its demands to be ascertained and amply provided for.

SOME of the Republicans are becoming so anxious for President Cleveland to decline a nomination for a reelection they have forged a letter of declination for the President. Mr. Cleveland is in the habit of saying the right thing at the right time, and if he intends not to allow his name presented to the St. Louis Convention, he will say so in a way that can be clearly understood.

The Owen Democrat says that Mr. Breckenridge will not be renominated for Congress without a fight. It also thinks that the Bluegrass section has furnished the Congressmen from that district quite long enough. The fact is the friends of Hon. E. E. Settle think he is about the proper size to comfortably fit in with the National Legislature, and thus thinking they will most likely enter him for the nomination.

By request of County Clerk Garret, Recorder representative visited his office last Monday morning and together they inspected the county records, obtaining the following statement of the county's indebtedness. There are five county bonds as shown below:

Total amt. of note and bonds $5,042.35
The amount, to wit: $5,042.35, is the amount of the county's bonded debt and W. A. Gaines' note, including interest on same to date. A small property tax will wipe out this $5,042.35.

The settlement with the Sheriff, filed January 3, 1888, shows that he was charged with $26,267.50 on account of the county levy for 1887. This amount is credited by $13,760 on account of the Sheriff's commissions and the delinquents allowed him for 1887, which reduced the amount owing the county to $12,507. The Sheriff then produced vouchers for claims he had paid against the county levy for 1887 to the amount of $2,640, which further reduced the amount charged to him on account of said levy to $10,867. On the 3d day of last January the Commissioners allowed claims against this to the amount of $1,876, which leaves a net balance in the Sheriff's hands of $8,991. This last amount, as we understand, will be retained and applied to the current expenses of the county for the present year.

The reason assigned for taking January 3, 1888, as the day upon which to base the statement made by "The County Officials," is that upon that day the settlement with the Sheriff was filed, and they considered that the proper time to which to report.

The clerk exhibited the record of allowances, showing that on the 3d day of last January allowances were paid out of the 1888 levy were made to the amount of $1,733.90. The county levy for 1888, it is but fair to presume will not be $4,577, the net amount of the 1887 levy, which after paying off the $1,733.90 allowed on the 3d day of last January, will leave a balance of $2,843.10. Some hold that the $1,733.90 allowed by the Commissioners on the 3d day of January last is no part of the county debt. But, supposing that it is, the only total of the county debt is only $6,786.22, a very, very modest sum as compared with the debt of either of our neighboring counties.

The question of whom shall be the next Democratic nominee for the Presidency, being practically settled, the party is now naturally looking about for the man to fill the second place. In almost every State are eminent Democrats who would carry ability and dignity to the office, but they are making no effort to secure the place, and the party will most likely take the candidate from the locality from which the most strength can be expected to be gained for the ticket, thereby. Voorhees or Gray, of Indiana, now seem to be the most favored.

The Department of Agriculture, (at Washington) in its report on the stock of the country, estimates the number of horses in Kentucky at 390,000, valued at over $20,000,000. The average valuation in Kentucky is only $72 per head, against an average of $107 per head in Massachusetts. The report also says that in nearly all parts of Kentucky farmers are devoting more attention than ever before to the improvement of the quality of their live stock of all kinds, but particularly the horse.

The great boom in blooded stock which has been rising and culminating in Central Kentucky during the past decade is now rapidly extending to all other parts of the State, even to the mountains.

The press of Kentucky are discussing the material needed to make a new Constitution for Kentucky, but not one of them say a word about the changes that demand a Constitutional Convention.

The present Constitution is good enough for the average Kentuckian, and we hope the people will vote down the unconstitutional call made to take the sense of the good people of the State upon this subject.—Western Argus.

The Argus is too well posted not to know that Kentucky's Constitution is much out of repair, and that she has men to frame one such as the times demand. Probably our contemporary presumes that a constitutional convention will be composed of about such men as the average legislator. There is no doubt but the best men in the State will be elected as delegates to the convention. But we are not surprised to know that a Frankfort editor, who has seen so much legislative "skulduggery" is opposed to allowing a body of men selected by a popular tamper with the Constitution.

Rufus Lyle, of Lexington, owner of the mare Agass, by Gilroy, has in the past few years realized from her products some $10,000.

R. J. Tracy, of Lexington, has sold to parties in Baltimore, Fortuna, a gray filly, by Fayette Wilkes, dam by John Dillard, for $3,000.

Mrs. John T. Stiles, of Mason county, made and sold 510 pounds of butter from three cows after having enough for home use, since last June.

Bracken county, owing to the good figures at which most farmers sold their 1888 crop, will probably produce a crop never before equaled for quantity.—Western Tobacco Journal.

A dog tax is the demand now on the line of Bourbon and Harrison, so many persons having lost sheep by dogs. They ask the Legislature to place a tax of $1 to $3 upon dogs for sheep killed.

From the present prospects the peach crop will be good. The buds have not been killed by the severity of the winter, and with a cool March the crop will likely be a success.—Harradburg Democrat.

Smoke from burning tobacco beds was all over the county last week. If the number of beds will do to plant by, Harrison farmers expect to plant the county in the weed this spring.—Cynthiana Times.

A mule in Davies county hitched to a wagon, lay down and apparently died. The owner had dragged in the woods, and the next morning it was standing at the gate ready to be admitted to the barn.

A dispatch from Chattanooga, Tenn., says: Heavy buyers of tobacco report great excitement in Kentucky. Every available foot of land is being engaged, and people are paying as high as $80 per acre for good fields.

Several parties living near town will burn tobacco beds for the purpose of selling plants to farmers who run short. It is a pretty good idea, as there never was a year but what there is a greater demand for plants than the supply affords.—Owen News.

A disease has broken out among the sheep in Bourbon county which is more fatal than scab. They are affected in the head, lay ground for several days and then die. It is supposed to be what is called grub. Price for rubbed on the nose during the summer and fall, is said to be a preventive.

Farmers are sowing unusually large for plants, intending to plant every available spot in tobacco. Some one says the fence corners will be set in tobacco. This will be unwise. The farmer that over crops himself will be the loser thereby. Better plant only so much as can be well looked after, and pay the better, rather than quantity.—Russellville Herald.

LOCAL NEWS.

We are authorized to announce that M. R. Bouché is a candidate for Sheriff of Boone county, subject to the action of the democratic party.

Head the news, in this issue.

A light snow fell Saturday and Sunday morning was rather unpleasant.

Business for the next term of the Circuit Court is accumulating very slowly.

Eng. T. F. Curley, of Walton, was in town last Thursday looking as pleasing as ever.

Miss Fannie Rice has quite a large music class, which she is instructing on both organ and piano.

A fine home the property of Hon. Reuben Conner, of Richmond, was stolen last Wednesday night.

Tim Westway, who the house moved by Thomas Cowen when he moved over to Washington street.

The taking of depositions for Circuit Court commenced last week, Florence furnishing the witnesses for the beginning.

The fine weather last week made the farmers feel very much like taking up their campaign of spring work in regular form.

The Justice of the Peace in the Walton district have asked the Legislature to give them authority to hold court once every month.

There has been some trouble in getting a carrier of the daily mail from Ludlow to Utzinger. It is to be hoped that the trouble will soon be overcome and the route put in operation.

W. H. Hayes resumed furnishing fresh beef for this market again last Friday. Burlington who has our local butchery and three from a long distance to the taste of her best customers.

W. E. Piper will become a citizen of Deloit, O. this week. Burlington has a good citizen, and he and his family have a host of friends here who wish for him success in every effort of his life.

The estimated cost of the Erlanger Florence street railway is about $10,000. This to equip and put the line in operation. A bill characterizing the road has been presented in the legislature by Mr. Hoggins.

The Hoggins farm advertised for sale on the 14th of March, will be offered in parts and as a whole, thus giving persons wanting less than the whole a good opportunity to buy a nice, small place at their own price.

A. C. Conner will address the people of Boone County on the first Monday of April, 1888, at Court House, subject: "The Rights of Labor as connected with the farmer's interest." Other speakers may be present.

After an exciting chase the pointed-eared fox was captured on George Byrd's farm one day last week. It was turned loose after being examined by the ground but did not run far before it was caught, it having been disabled some in getting it out of the ground.

Call a girl a chick, and she smiles; call a woman a hen, and she howls; call a young woman a wile, and she is pleased; call an old woman a wile, and she is indignant. Call a girl a wile, and she smiles like it; call a woman a wile, and she'll bite you. (Quoted sex, isn't it?)

A few days since W. W. Adams, of Lexington, sold to a Missouri party for $1,000, a fine, elegant saddle, the stallion owned by W. A. Coker of Lexington, who sold him during the fair at Lexington last week. Rex Denmark is in his finest form, and is said to be a perfect model of horse flesh.

We desire to express through the Recorder our sincere and heartfelt thanks to the kind friends for their assistance and many acts of kindness shown as during our late convalescence and loss. We pray that God's blessing may rest upon each and every one of them. Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Parks.

A mad dog made its appearance at Hebron last Wednesday, and paid its respects to the canine population from there to Bullittsville where it changed its course and swung off towards Burlington.

By request we announce that on the first Monday in next month a meeting of the Boone County Association members of the Kentucky Democratic Club will be held in Burlington. A full attendance is desired as business of importance will come before the meeting. The meeting will organize in the grand jury room in the court-house at 11 p.m.

Eng. W. J. Cowen's regular term of the Circuit Court on a change of venue. The case was not overruled with legal business on that occasion. The only cases being that of Hawkins and E. H. Baker, for rent on land. Judgment for defendant on counter-claim E. D. Tanner vs. Sam. Cowen. Judgment in favor of plaintiff $14.19.

The Recorder's warning against planting too large a crop of tobacco this year has been heeded to the extreme by its friends, Thos. G. Goodrich, who, instead of tobacco seed sowed flower seeds in the plant beds he prepared some days since.

plenty of flowers with which to plant the entire acreage he intended for tobacco during the period high prices for tobacco prevailed.

On this Out and Save It.

To parties who wish to put in their own gutter linings, and put up their spouting. I will furnish 14 inch gutter lining at 8c per foot; 12 inch at 7c per foot; 10 inch at 6c per foot; 8 inch at 5c per foot; 6 inch at 4c per foot; 4 inch at 3c per foot; 3 inch at 2c per foot; 2 inch at 1c per foot.

The Maquardade Party.

The Maquardade party given by the young ladies and gentlemen at the Palmer Hotel last Friday night was eminently a success in every particular, the music excepted.

There were about sixty persons who mingled, and while the make-up of some were ludicrous in the extreme, many there were who were elegant, comely, some of them being quite becoming to the weather after their identity became recognizable.

The ladies, without exception were costumed in the most becoming and becoming, and were faithful copies of that which they chose to represent.

Quite a number of unmarked persons were present and enjoyed the occasion immensely. The attendance was strictly select, and everything passed off in the most satisfactory manner.

It was about 11 o'clock when the order to music was given, to be followed by quite a number of surprises, and a protracted volume of laughter. About this hour, a number of persons, consisting of salads and sandwiches, cakes, fruit and coffee were served, which attracted all present to a renewal of the enjoyment of the occasion, and the dancing continued until between 2 and 3 a.m., when the party was voted a grand success, and everybody left for home.

The following is the list of persons who were marked, stating what they represented:

Mrs. Elbert Riley, Pleasant Girl.

Mrs. Chas. Duncan, Indian Girl.

Mrs. Kiri Kouri, Evening.

Mrs. Hattie Arnold, Night.

Miss Pearl Glines, Mother Hubbard.

Died—At Delhi, Ohio, February 24, of consumption, Julia Barker, widow of Wm. Barker of this place.

Mrs. Matilda Goodridge and Miss Annie Henry, of the Bullittville neighborhood, are visiting in this place.

We understand that Mrs. Whitlock and daughter, Julia, are going to Topeka, Kansas, on a visit in a few days.

It was reported here yesterday that navigation had ceased on the Ohio, owing to the myriads of wild ducks in the river.

Prom what we have observed there will be in the neighborhood of 17,000 acres of tobacco planted in this vicinity this spring.

Great excitement over the appearance of mad dogs in this neighborhood, everybody wears a life preserver and stays in doors at night.

BULLITTVILLE.

The talk in town—maddogs and daily mail.

A party party was given by Emma Holton a few nights since. No one can beat Miss Emma entertaining.

There are some 15 or more who will bid to carry the mail on the new route from Ludlow to Cringer.

A surprise candy pulling took place at Temp. Grave's last Wednesday night. About 50 or more were present.

Miss Laura Wasson, of Cincinnati, and Miss Lena Graves, of Versailles, visited the family of G. C. Grady last week.

Sunday school for the ensuing year will be organized at the church at 10 a.m.

A pleasant company met at the home of Thomas Grant last Wednesday. The occasion was in honor of Miss Wasson and Graves.

The Utzings, people are badly off just now. The mail route from Petersburg has been discontinued, and the new line has not yet been executed.

Rev. J. S. Kirtley, of Versailles, was in this vicinity several days last week. Our neighborhood has no more favorite son and none whom she delights in.

At the next regular meeting at this place, the 21st Sunday in April, Elder Howe will deliver two sermons on church discipline and church government.

An entertainment will be given at the Fern Hollow school house next Saturday evening. It will be conducted by the literary club of the neighborhood.

A surprise party created quite a surprise at the home of Dr. Cropper last Thursday night. The doctor would have surprised them had he refused them admittance.

Another candy pulling. At Mr. Jinn Grant's this time—Penny Candy pulled, mostly to the purpose. A great abundance of candy was pulled, the whitest and best we ever saw. Next came the games, all new and fashionable.

Wm. Warner, the carrier, mailed a petition to Washington, D.C. or two days ago, signed by 223 names to have the daily mail from Bullittsville to Covington. We think he is too late. He had better not go to Utzinger unless he can find better support.

Personal Mention.

Joel Rice, of Missouri, is visiting friends in the county.

Mr. Samuel Hall and mother are visiting at Lexington, O.

Miss Annie Cowen is visiting her brother at Rabbit Hash.

Mr. Paschal Tucker moved to his farm near Utzinger yesterday.

Perry Rice, of Covington, was the guest of his brother R. C. last Friday.

Attorneys Trott and Stephens attended court at Hamilton yesterday.

Mrs. Kate Ashburn, of Mt. Adams, Ohio, is visiting her sisters at this place.

Col. Patterson, of Franksville, was in town Monday and Tuesday, wearing his dog-protector—a heavy leather club.

The County Superintendent has received the 60 per cent. draft for the following school districts, and will be in Lexington next Saturday to disburse the same: Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

Not Mad Enough to Bite.

There is an alarming number of mad dogs loose in Boone county. This is in the district where there were several hundred very mad men lately, when a foolish attempt to put an obscure agitator in the county commission of Speaker Carlisle was defeated. One of these a little more rabid than the rest may have started the epidemic.—Louisville C.J.

The sale of James M. Conner's five stallion, King William, to be taken to Illinois by Mr. (then) Hughes, has caused many regrets among those who are acquainted with that horse's merits. He has proven himself one of the finest breeders in this State, being the sire of several colts here, and his value is estimated at from $200 to $500. King William came from Harrison county highly recommended and leaves Boone the same way.

J. J. Childers, the gatekeeper on the Covington and Lexington pike near Erlanger, says that invariably after he notices a certain man go up the pike towards the city, it is only a day or two before he learns of a horse being stolen up the road somewhere. The man Mr. C. notices is a stranger to him, but he would be able to identify were he to meet him. He has noticed that in paying toll the man tries to conceal his features as much as possible. Better detail him next time he comes to the gate.

Four divorces were granted last week by the Carroll Circuit Court.

The Legislature has decided to stay at Frankfort until the middle of next month.

New York and several other large cities in the East are just now getting straightened up after the unprecedented blizzard of last week.

A new Democratic paper is soon to be started at Washington, with W. V. Turner, a colored clerk in the Pension Department as editor.

Mr. A. G. Winston is a strong advocate of a pike from Burlington to Hebron. It would shorten the route from Burlington to the city.

The turnpike meetings at Linsburg and last week were not so enthusiastic as was expected. The proposition presented at the meetings had not been sufficiently canvassed to work up a great amount of enthusiasm.

There was a quiet exhibition in the highest law court in England a few days ago. The tables in front of the bench were covered with women's bustles. A patent was involved, and the various styles were examined with curious interest by the learned judges.

The Legislature will be asked to grant a charter for a turnpike from Burlington to Union. We trust that the charter will not be the beginning of the end. A pike from Burlington to Union would be a very cheap road to build. The net would be convenient and the necessary cuts and fills very light.

The Salvation Army marches through the streets of this city every evening, and thence to their hall, where services are held. — Frankfort.

The citizens of Frankfort are people of great forbearance, or they could not submit to the presence of a Salvation Army and the Legislature both at once.

The ground has not been too dry this winter, and the soil is not carrying the amount of moisture usual at this season of the year. If the summer season is entered before the ground is thoroughly saturated, it will require an unusual rainfall to meet the demands of vegetation, but a repetition of last year's drought is hardly probable.

The county of Gallatin have their Senator J. H. McDaniel drafted to bill enabling the people to vote on a proposition to tax dogs, the fund to be applied to the school fund. — Owen News.

Boone has a law taxing dogs, but the money thus raised is applied to the payment of claims allowed persons who have been killed by dogs, which is the proper place to apply it.

Some of the Republican papers in this State do not think that Col. W. O. Bradley is entitled to the political importance he is being granted. It is none of our funeral, but it is a matter of record that Col. Bradley is the greatest leader his party ever had in Kentucky, and polled a larger vote for Governor than his party thought possible in Kentucky.

The weather the past few days has given the grass a healthy appearance, which is viewed with delight by the festive king. It will take but a few days of the present temperature to advance fruit to a hazardous point, and prepare it for the ravages of a frost. Up to the present fruit has been considered in splendid condition and the prospects for an abundant crop the most flattering.

The Legislative Committee reported last week in favor of the membership Rowan county, restoring it to its original jurisdiction. One of the committee dissented from the report as to Judge Cole, while the remaining members concurred and then didn't censure him. The majority report as relating to Judge Cole's official conduct is a very peculiar document and a desperate effort at a straddle.

In Stanford there is a negro named Leonis Hocker, now in his 83d year. At first, and up to the time he was between 50 and 60 years old, he was as black as the ace of spades. The skin began to gradually peel off, until he was changed from a "nigger" to a white man and has been like white as anybody, but an other change seems to be in order. Black patches are appearing all over him again, and it seems that he is going to be as black as a negro as ever was born in Africa.

Good Bye My Honey, Good Bye.

To the Editors of the Recorder: Oh, ho, and the editor did dip into the county affairs again last week but with the assistance of the county clerk. The figures they produced were remarkably corroborative of the statement I made the week before, and shows how recklessly prepared "The County Official's" statement was made. The statement that the claims allowed at the last January term of the commissioners is not a part of the county's indebtedness is a lie. If it is not a county debt why will the people be called on for taxes to pay it with? We now dismiss the subject. — J. C. Smith.

Hope you have got all the information you desired. It has been our desire to and we did state such facts as information at our command.

The Chairman of the Republican Committee in this Congressional district has called a meeting of the Republicans of this district on the 28th inst., at the court-house, in their respective counties at 11 o'clock a. m. to appoint delegates to the State Convention in Louisville on the 2nd day of May next. The ratio of representation is one delegate for each 100 votes or fraction of 50 votes cast for W. O. Bradley for Governor. Boone will be entitled to 4 delegates to the State Convention.

The Courier-Journal, in reviewing the amount of work accomplished by our present Legislature during the first sixty days of its life, gives the following pointers: It passed 320 bills, all of which, with few exceptions, were of a local or private nature. The estimate cost of a Legislative day is $1,000, therefore for the first sixty days the State paid out to the General Assembly the neat little sum of $60,000 or $120,000 for each of the general laws. These expensive acts are, viz: Chapter 19 An act for taking the sense of the people for the taking of this Commonwealth as to the necessity and expediency of calling a convention to amend the Constitution and to provide for ascertaining the number of citizens entitled to vote for representatives within this State. Chapter 23—An act to amend an act entitled "an act to provide for the holding of County Courts when the Judge is absent or cannot preside." Chapter 20—An act to fix the compensation of grand jurors in all courts of the Commonwealth. Chap. 30—An act limiting the number of guards to be employed in conveying prisoners to the State penitentiary. Chap. 39—An act to change the time of the meeting of the State Board of Equalization.

A number of sheep and cattle in Shelby county, bitten by mad dogs, had to be killed, as they were suffering with hydrophobia. Mr. Jennings lost his entire flock of sheep, and other farmers lost heavily. A family is very much alarmed over the death of a cow from hydrophobia, they using her milk.

DEATHS.

Mrs. Susan Rouse, widow of the late William Rouse, died last Wednesday night after several months' patient but excruciating suffering with cancer of the stomach.
Mrs. Rouse was 71 years old, and was a daughter of Jacob Ogler, a Lutheran minister in this county at an early day. The deceased leaves but one child, a son, with whom she resided at the time of her death; but she has a very extensive relationship besides many friends in the county, who deeply sympathize with her only living child in the loss of a mother.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Keller last Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the presence of a large congregation, after which the remains were interred in the cemetery at that place.

— Another person gone. — At her residence in Rouseville, Friday the 9th inst. of Mrs. Mrs. Angeline Goodridge, widow of the late Walter Goodridge.

Mrs. Goodridge was born in Fairfax county, Va., May 23, 1806, consequently she was in her 82 year at the time of her death. Her parents emigrated from Virginia when she was but 6 years old, locating in Mason county, this State.

In 1838 she was united in marriage to Barnabas Dimmick and moved to this county where she resided until her death. In 1838 she was left a widow with 6 fatherless children to support.

This was a hard task to perform, and with no recourse but her industry and perseverance this worthy mother admirably succeeded in bringing them all up to the age of womanhood. In 1852 she was married to Walter Goodridge, and in 1853 was again left a widow.

In the course of events one of her daughters had died, leaving several motherless children, and again it became the duty of this good mother and grandmother to become their protector as she had done for her own children years before. She lived to see all of these grive at the ages of maturity.

She has finished her earthly allotted her to perform, and well she was, good and faithful. She was a consistent member of the Baptist church at this place, and had been for upwards of a half a century. She was much devoted to her religion and died in the full hope of immortality beyond the grave.

Mrs. Goodridge leaves four daughters and a large retinue of grand children and friends to mourn her death.

Rev. Robert Kirtley delivered her funeral discourse at 11 o'clock, Sunday the 11th inst., when her remains were consigned to earth in the cemetery at this place.

Thus has passed away a kind and indulgent mother, a loving and affectionate grandmother, an exemplary and consistent Christian, and a friend to all who knew her. — W. C.

Honor roll at Morgan Academy for the month ending March 17, 1888:

Owen Hallett, Mollie Pace, Robert Foster, Katie Smith, Elmo Gaines, Cora Rice, Leslie Clutterbuck, Grace Rogers, Charlie Finch, Bettie Baker, Willie Hughes, Annie Phillips, Freddie Seakman, Annie Phillips, Homer Clutterbuck, Hattie Palmer.

Mrs. Laura Martin furnished us, one day last week, with a copy of the Wilmington (B. A.) Free Press. In one column of the paper there are thirty-one advertisements for teachers, holding second or third class certificates. Some of the "Boone County" teachers who want a school might secure one at Wilmington. It is a pleasant place to teach during summer, but we can not say as much for the winter, as the mercury often goes 52 below zero.

Personal Mention.
Mrs. A. O. Hall is visiting her sister in Cincinnati.

Mrs. Kiri Conrad is visiting her mother at Shert.

Mrs. Benjamin Rice has been quite sick for two or three weeks.

Heard that Richard Ryle will shortly move back to this county from Missouri where he moved but a few years ago.

Our bachelor friend, Sam Hall, went to Ohio last week, but as the young ladies over there are not equal to the Kentucky girls in beauty, he hastened back, and was very much refreshed after gazing upon a few Kentucky belles.

The defection of State Treasurer James W. Tate, is only a recurrence of a trouble into which so many men, in this country are precipitated by the unlimited confidence of the public. Only those who enjoy such unbounded confidence on the part of large communities have opportunities to become defaulters in large sums. Biennially for twenty years, have the people attested their confidence in Tate by electing him State Treasurer, and such faith had they in his integrity, that any reflection on his honesty would have been considered little less than a personal insult to nineteenth of the people of the State. But at some unguarded moment he yielded to temptation, and allowed himself to use, for personal benefits, the money which he above all other men in Kentucky, had been chosen to protect, expecting, no doubt, to be able to replace it.

What has become of the large sums of money missing from the State Treasurer is a mystery as yet, Tate was a man of good habits, and his family were apparently living within the bounds of his income, which facts have created the belief that Tate's friends have caused his overthrow by borrowing money from him.

Tate has considerable property in his own right, and an official bond that is simply sufficient to secure the State against any loss by his defection.

The Legislature will impeach the absconded official, and have the delation sit to the bottom, as it will also have investigated every State office.

The rumors that have gained circulation and intimating that the County Officials are not exactly straight has created much concern throughout the State, and the investigation will be watched with much interest as it progresses, and public sentiment demands that it be thorough, letting official crookedness be unearthed wherever it may.

In case Hon. John G. Carlisle is appointed to fill the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench, the Recorder is for A. G. DeJarnette, of Williamstown, for Congress. It is for him for two reasons: First, because the country is entitled to the office when Mr. Carlisle vacates it. Second, because Mr. DeJarnette is the best man the country portion of the district can offer, and he is second to no man that Covington or Newport can present. But in the event the district has to take a Representative from one of the cities, no better man could be chosen than Frank Prague, of Covington. He is a working Democrat and a man of ability.

The investigation which the Legislature has on foot in Frankfort should be pushed until every State office is thoroughly overhauled and every lot of crookedness is exposed and the guilty parties arraigned at the bar of justice. If Tate had any accomplices in his rascality they should not be spared but punished according to their merits.

Hon. James A. McKENZIE is searching the Second Congressional District for encouragement to become a candidate for Congress this fall. Wouldn't it think that he'd have to look very extensively for that ingredient in a district where his ability is beyond question.

The State of Texas is in deep trouble. She has a $2,000,000 surplus in the Treasury and does not know what to do with it. Guess she will not call on Kentucky to Dick Tate what to do with it.

Tax Senate end of the National Capital was struck by lightning one day last week, probably owing to his having recently been so thoroughly electrified by presidential ordery.

One reason for believing that Mr. Carlisle will be Chief Justice Waite's successor, is the fact that the President tendered him the position now held by Judge Lamar.

"An honest man is the noblest work of God," but since Dick Tate fooled us, we begin think very little of His noblest work exists in this world.

The jury in the Columbus, Ohio, trial about forgery which has been on trial for several days yet.

Tate left enough money in the Treasury to pay the members of Congress for several days yet.

The Old Tell, but He Can't Under stand.

To the Editors of the Recorder:

Twinkle, twinkle little star; How the County Officials have wondered who you are (but no longer so). Not up above the world so high that you seem like a diamond in the sky; but like unto a vapory meteor that falls by its own weight and leaves only a dim streak that has no beginning nor ending.

But he seems to have struck our neighborly town of Florence on the 30th day of March, 1888, and still remains there, so he says; but one of the County Officials don't believe he rejoins there, and if he don't we first come to the defense of our neighboring town, and deny that he has the privilege of writing from there, and at the same time residing elsewhere—probably within the shades of the Old Temple of Justice.

But, as he has in his own estimation, given the taxpayers of Boone so much light upon the financial condition of the county, one of the County Officials has concluded that if you would indicate to the readers of the Recorder that he is either not posted, or else he won't argue the facts fairly. As an illustration he writes that the bonds of the county, one year's interest on same, $270; W. A. Gaines' debt, $280; claims payable out of the levy of 1888, $1,839; total county indebtedness, $4,689. Very well, little Star, twinkle fairly, and don't shed all your little light on one side only; but as you have already done so, we are going to remove you (as meteors are not stationary bodies) around the county, and have your little light shine on the other side. Here comes the light: Bonded debt, $4,500; W. A. Gaines' debt, $280; total, $4,780; and whatever interest on the bonds at 6 per cent. as stated by you in our last, and some interest on the W. A. Gaines debt.

Now, in regard to the $1,839 payable out of the levy of 1888, as of which amount no part is due or bound to be paid until the first day of October, 1888, and then only 50 per cent. is due. We put this straight question to the man of stars: If this $1,839 is a debt the county owes, upon the same reason and analogy is not the funds out of which that debt is to be paid, assets belonging to the county, and for which the county is justly entitled to a credit? The simplest taxpayer in the county would answer at once, yes. And so it is. That fund out of which the $1,839 is payable is derived from about 2,400 tithes, and upon each one is levied a tax of $2.50 to pay that item.

Now, how does his own light shine on his side? As follows: Bonded debt, $4,500; Interest on same according to his own statement, $280; W. A. Gaines' debt, $280; Claim payable out of levy of 1888, $1,839. Total indebtedness as he asserts, $6,889. This is the debt side of the case as he presents it, and insists that it is correct. Why not present the credit side if you deal in facts? But you have not, we will do it for your enlightenment, and remove you around to the county's side, and then how do you shine?

1st credit the co. with money now in hands of Sheriff, $1,832 10
2d credit with 2,400 tithes at $2.50 each, $6,000 00
Total credits, $7,832 10
Balance due county, $944 16
The foregoing result is obvious; for, if you charge debts against the county to be paid out of the 1888 levy, then, in all fairness, you must credit the county with the entire amount to be derived from the tithes assessed with a poll-tax. So, summing up, you see that the figures which he says don't lie, shows that the county has, at this time, actually a surplus in the treasury, and this is upon his own basis of calculation.

Some one may ask how then it is that there is a county debt? From the simple fact that the county is always a year behind, and this has been so from the beginning of the county. A claim ordered paid by the proper authority on the 1st day of January, 1888, is not paid until well within less than 10 months, and may run 12. But, should the Sheriff collect from all the tithes assessed with a tax for the year 1888 and then run and until the County is paid by his last settlement, he could pay every dollar of it, and still have nearly $100 left. But, by the time he collects it, the County going on as an integral part of the sum of money will have made other necessary debts, such as running the Poor-house and paying claims, that are properly a part of the liabilities of every county in the State, and by that means will carry a small debt unless the Board of Commissioners will levy a property tax sufficient to have all this money enough in the treasury to pay every claim as soon as allowed.

But the $1,839 that the Board of Commissioners has ordered paid out of the levy of 1888, is not due against the county for this reason: The Levy Court annually make allowances which are the current expenses of the county, and a claim is never made until the County knows where the money is at to pay it; and when that is done it is no longer a debt against the county, unless the court so adding the claims should allow a sum of money greater than there is in the treasury or that can be placed there by authority vested in it. As an illustration: Should the Board of Commissioners allow the County Judge his salary of $400 to be paid out of money then in the Sheriff's hands or out of a levy made but not collected, and the Sheriff has money enough to pay said $400, or is authorized to collect enough to pay it, is the $400 then a debt owing by the county or the Sheriff? The answer is plain for argument—it is the debt of the Sheriff, for which he and his sureties alone are responsible. But, if the county allows claim to the amount of $10,000 and only has available assets to the amount of $500 either in the Treasurer's hands or a tax levied which he is authorized to collect, then, then, then, the debt of the county is $9,500, the difference between the amounts ordered to be paid and the funds to pay with.

For a complete and final settlement of this fact, the author of the "Why Didn't They Tell" article is referred to section 3, of art. 9, chap. 23, General Statutes, as well as opinion of the Court of Appeals, found in 18 E. Monroe, page 250. Why not post yourself and state the facts fairly?

The man of the stars says the Co. Officials did some fine mathematical juggling with $1,832 10, now in the hands of the Sheriff, "juggling" as defined by Mr. Webster, is trickery and imposition. Was it imposition or trickery for Boone county to take the money over which she has exclusive control and pay off a debt which she owes? That is what we said she had a right to do in our last article. That is the trickery and imposition of which you speak. Well, if it is, I conclude the man of the stars knows some very fine juggling himself when he applies that same to his own affairs.

The "Why Didn't They Tell" article winds up and says if the County Officials can show that the money allowed by the Commissioners at their last meeting are not to be paid by the county, the man of the Stars will take it all back. Most assuredly that claim will be paid when it becomes due, and when that time arrives the county will have replenished her treasury to the extent of about $6,000, and is a poor hand at bookkeeping or any other business that won't allow an individual, a county or State credit for her money when you charge them with their debt to "tote" it. All we ask is for you to "tote" fair—don't slip the weight that you ought to carry to our side or the side with a debt, at the same time give her credit for her assets. This is all we ask and it is what you have not done. We venture to say without fear of successful contradiction that if one of his neighbors should apply the same rule to him of striking a balance of accounts that he has to the county, that he would have a lawsuit with him as soon as the matter could be taken to court. Then we again remind him that there is such a word as "fairness" defined by the same author that defines "juggling."

But we have just picked up the Recorder, and the first thing that greeted us was "Good Bye My Honey, Good Bye," signed by the man of the Stars, a little larger in diameter each time than usual, in which he says the editor did dip in again last week but with the assistance of the county clerk, and that the figures corroborate him. The latter part of the article, beginning at "Some hold that the $1,783 90 allowed by the Commissioner," is purely the editor's own composition and no part of the clerk's statement to him of official facts and figures, and the latter part of that statement is where his idea of corroboration comes in. The part exhibited by the clerk to the Recorder makes out the indebtedness almost the same as stated in the County Officials' answer already published.

As one of the County officials we are ever ready and willing to give any and all information to the people that we can, and at the same time make the Recorder as entertaining as we can; but, when we are charged with a debt, we also want credit for our available funds.

A Co. OFFICIAL.
You are correct as to whom is responsible for the last paragraph in the article published week before last, and the editor still affirms as he did there that even that can't be made "a very modest debt for Boone county;" but at the same time the editor is satisfied that the three Star man is capable of making his own comparisons and drawing his own conclusions.—Eo.

The people want an investigation at Frankfort that will investigate.

This latest report at Frankfort that Tate lost the $200,000 of the State's money in the Chicago wheat deal that wrecked Harper and his bank.

We just now have an unusual run of advertising, the presence of which on our columns will be only temporary, and we are satisfied that our subscribers are too generous to object to our enjoying a brief period of moderate prosperity.

If those of the associate members of the Kentucky Democratic Club who have accepted their appointments will attend the meeting appointed for next Monday, business of importance will be transacted. In fact every Democrat that can should make it convenient to attend.

LOCAL NEWS.

We are authorized to announce M. B. Boone, as a candidate for sheriff of Boone county, subject to the action of the democratic party.

Obituary notices without signatures are buried in the waste basket.

It was much warmer out, than it was in, the house Monday morning.

Sunday was a bad day to be in the woods—the ice fell was tremendous.

The weather last week was well calculated to check the advance of fruit buds.

Friday next is the last day for bringing suits for the April term of the Circuit Court.

The interior of the new bank building in Petersburg will be well arranged and very handsome.

Dogs have nearly entirely destroyed a flock of sheep belonging to Z. T. Kelley who lives near Rabbit Hash.

There will be plenty of dirt in Burlington during Circuit Court—the public eastern is full and running over.

For changeableness, variability and uncertainty the weather, a part of this month, could not be surpassed.

Geo. W. Brown, of Constance, was in town Monday and rep'd the river rising very rapidly, and a heavy run of coal going down.

We are sorry that we did not receive Bro. Green's announcement of his farewell sermon at Florence last Sunday in time for our last week's issue.

On account of the very bad weather last Sunday evening Bro. Barker did not preach, but he will preach in Burlington next Thursday night.

Next Monday is County Court day and the day for the annual exhibition of Boone's fine horses. If the day is favorable the show will be very fine.

Misses Lizzie and Cordia Ryle celebrated their birth days last Tuesday evening by a delightful party to which all their associates about town were invited.

A fellow is very much absorbed by his business when he sits and uses his overalls all day as a spittoon, not coveting his mistake until he desires to put the shoe on.

Potato planting commenced in the East Bend bottom last week, at the first of which John T. Platt had 15 acres planted; A. G. McConnell will plant 75 acres of tubers this season.

Last Saturday evening Nineteen, Kingman county, Kansas, was destroyed by a tornado. Only three houses were left standing, and several persons were killed and many wounded.

The Master Commissioner prepared a deed last week in which the conveyance is made on behalf of sixty-two parties. It conveys 302 acres of land belonging to the estate of the late Noah Ute.

We are requested to announce that the Ladies' Baptist Mission Society of Union will give a candy pulling entertainment at the Town Hall on Union, Saturday evening March 31. Everybody invited to attend.

The Legislature will be asked to pass a law to allow all persons to travel from the pikes in this county when going to or from church. Many persons owning stock in the pikes have signed the memorial.

Last week we mentioned the fact that several of our local gardeners had commenced preparing their truck patches, and in a few days thereafter Hon. John G. Carlisle sent several packages of garden seeds to various visitors here.

It is the same To-day. Nothing new not fail in expressing their high admiration of the beautiful fence (?) around the Morgan Academy. Truly the trustees are gentlemen of taste.—Burlington Advertiser, August 25th, 1895.

J. Frank Grant, cashier of the Petersburg Bank, which goes into operation about the first of next month, was in town several days last week under the tutelage of Purcell and Lansing. Frank will have himself well prepared for the onerous position of cashier of the new bank.

Ira R. Hicks' weather calendar for 1895, predicts an exceedingly stormy year, designating no less than 195 days as stormy, many of them violent; and he has been remarkably correct. In this month: Storms for April are predicted on 1, 2, 3, 13, 14, 15, 17, 21, 23, 25, and 27 days.

James L. Riley, proprietor of one of the Burlington livery droggers emporiums, was in Burlington last Saturday. It is known that he called on the county clerk, but it has not been ascertained in what particular record he was most interested. If it were in Kanon county we would have some suspicion at least.

On the river just below Rabbit Hash there is a neighborhood plant bed. It was made by burning an immense drift pile that accumulated there during the last flood in the Ohio. Deputy Sheriff German says that he has seen about one hundred years long and as wide as an acre. Five or six parties are interested in this extensive bed.

There are now pending in the Boone Circuit Court the following divorce suits: Mary A. Baue vs. Edward S. Baue; Belle Mitchell vs. Lewis Mitchell; Adda McEwen vs. James W. McEwen; John Graves vs. Annie Graves; Lucy B. Reed vs. John B. Reed. As a majority of these seeking divorces are females it seems that sex gets the worst of bargain matrimonial.

Montgomery Williamson, who lives down on Lock Creek has struck on a novel plan for catching sheep-killing dogs. His plan is as follows: Take a strong wire and make a trap for the sheep. To this wire attach a lot of hooks. As a dog always grabs by the throat, he would be certain to get hung on a hook, and the yelling that would surely follow, would arouse the owner.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Mr. Minerva White is improving.

Miss Pearl Kirkpatrick is visiting in Ladlow.

Mr. Kibb Conrad is sick at her mother's in Ghent.

Dr. Harmon Hayes, of Bullittsville, was in town last Friday.

Miss Laura Bruce has been quite ill with pneumonia for several days.

Miss Laura Riddell, of Hebron, has been the guest of Miss Elsie Riddell for several days.

Eph. Ute of Cincinnati, was in town last Saturday, and reported some bad weather in his neighborhood.

Mr. John J. Huey, of Rabbit Hash, has been visiting relatives in Burlington and vicinity for several days.

Mr. Hattie Arnold returned to her home in Williamstown last Thursday accompanied by Mrs. T. W. Finch and children.

Eq. John S. Huey, of Bellevue, was in Burlington last Saturday, and reported wheat in his neighborhood looking well.

Miss Maud Kirkpatrick is delighted with the position she is holding in a large wholesale millinery house in Indianapolis.

Mrs. Ashburn, of Mt. Adams, Ohio, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. F. A. Hays, at this place, returned home yesterday.

James B. Tolin of Katsburg, was in town the other day, and from his looks we judge merchandising in his village is satisfactory.

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. A. G. Winston is still in a very critical condition. She has been a very sick lady for a week or more.

A False Report.

Members Riddell & Hall, Cincinnati, Ky., March 19.—You will please state that owing to a small attendance at the sale of the Snow farm on the 14th inst., it was not sold—a report having been circulated that a $75 limit had been placed on the farm, &c.

The report was incorrect and damaging to the sale. The farm is, no doubt, worth even more than $75, but it must be sold, and there is no limit on it. The farm is for sale privately and if not sold sooner, it will be sold publicly on May or June.

D. A. GIVENS.

Conventions.

The prohibitionists of the 6th Congressional District of Kentucky will meet in Convention in Newport, Ky., April 3d, '96, to affect a more thorough organization of the district; nominate a candidate for Congress, and transact any other business that may be brought before the convention. Delegates and visitors upon their arrival will report to Scott Shoemaker, 235 York Street. All persons irrespective of former party affiliation are cordially invited to be present. By order of Ex. Committee.

W. H. KELLER, Chairman for 6th District.

It is understood that David Ball has shifted his center in the ring and is now a full-fledged candidate for Sheriff.

Those to whom the subject was mentioned Monday all agreed that DeJarnette is the man for Congress when Mr. Carlisle is no longer at the service of this district.

Elections were held in the cities in several States Monday. In Ohio the Republicans made a complete sweep, but in Indiana the Democrats had on their fighting garments and made some gains, which is encouraging to the party.

They will have a whipping race for the Democratic nomination in the Ashland District, Breckinridge, Owens and Settle will thoroughly entrench the Democracy in that section. Owen county will make a long pull, a strong pull and a pull altogether for her candidate, and with two candidates in the Bluegrass that vote may be divided to Settle's advantage.

The Boone county people, or at least a number of them, are talking of running F. A. Prange, of this city, for Congress in the event that Mr. Carlisle is appointed Chief Justice. Covington item in last Thursday's Enquirer.

The county people want one of their own number to represent them in Congress when Mr. Carlisle goes up, however, and A. G. DeLarue, of Williamson, is the man who just meets that want.

The Republican county convention held here last Wednesday gave no expression of its choice for President and Vice-President. The members of the party in the county seemed to give the matter very little thought, and did not come in to take a hand in the proceedings; but should the party elect the President this fall, some of them will be heard from in the army of applicants for office.

JAMES W. TATE was impeached last Friday for high crimes and misdemeanors. The articles of impeachment charging him with loaning money to various persons, were withdrawn. It has been given out from Frankfort that there are numerous due bills in the Treasury vault, which, if true, indicates that somebody had been engaged in the borrowing business. If they were paid off it is strange that they were not taken up.

In the death of William Dorseimer, lawyer, journalist and politician, the Democratic party in New York, loses an able and earnest worker. Dorseimer had twice been Lieutenant Governor in the Empire State besides having been in Congress.

Under his management, the New York Star was a most brilliant journal, and a staunch friend of the administration. He had gone south for his health, and died shortly after reaching Rome, G.

"What effect will the Tate defalcation have on the Democratic party in this State?" is the query now abroad in Kentucky. That effect will depend upon the thoroughness of the investigation now in progress. If the investigation is rigid, and it is shown that the Democratic party is capable of dealing with its own wrong doers, and will not hesitate to deal with them according to their deserts, the party will not be materially crippled. But, on the other hand, if there is any attempt at a whitewash, the consequences may be severely felt in the next election. "The boys in the trenches" want no halfway investigation, and they have faith in their Representatives at Frankfort turning on the light.

Should there be much rain next week the Circuit Court will be held in a pond, as it were. The roof of the Court-house turns the rain in instead of out, such is its condition. There is no question about Boone county's needs as regards a Court-house, and she is amply able to erect a new building. There is but few taxpayers in the county who will say a new Court-house is a necessity. No argument as to this necessity is as convincing as the present appearance and condition of the old structure. Boone is a wealthy county, inhabited by an intelligent class of people, and the wretched condition of their Court-house appeals to their intelligence in eloquent terms. Erect a Court-house, such as the times demand, and the people will be proud and proud of such evidence of wealth, prosperity and civilization.

At a meeting of the Republicans of Boone county, held in the town of Burlington on the 28th day of March, 1888, in accordance with the order of the Chairman of the 6th district Republican Committee, to appoint delegates to the Republican Convention which meets in Louisville, Ky., May 2, 1888, the meeting was called to order and organized by electing Arthur Blythe chairman and G. G. Hughes secretary. Upon motion and second J. L. Johnson, W. F. McKim, Thos. R. Mathews and Lewis Rice were nominated and elected delegates from this county to represent it in the State Convention.

Upon motion and second, said four above named delegates, or either, or any of them, that may be present at said State Convention, are hereby authorized and instructed to cast the vote of the county for Hon. W. O. Bradley and Geo. Deuney, Jr., as delegates from the State at large, and for John P. Ernst as delegate from this 6th district of Kentucky, to the Republican National Convention which meets at the city of Chicago, June 19, 1888. The Cincinnati Commercial Gazette, Covington Commercial Gazette, and the Boone County Recorder are each requested to publish these minutes.

The meeting adjourned without a day. A. Blythe, Chairman. At a meeting of the County Executive Committee and called convention, Monday, State delegates, J. L. Johnson, W. F. McKim and Lewis Rice, were instructed to represent this county at the District Convention also.

At a meeting of the Boone county Democrats, held in the grand jury room in the Court-house in Burlington at 2 p. m. last Monday, the meeting was organized by electing T. F. Curley president and W. L. Riddell, secretary.

The chair stated the object of the meeting was to organize a Democratic Club in Boone county. The manner of organizing the club was discussed at some length, after which it was voted to organize a club to be called the Boone County Democratic Club. Officers for the club were elected as follows:

Vice-Presidents were chosen from each of the several voting precincts in the county as follows:
Burlington—Richard White;
Florence—Dr. S. S. Scott;
Taylorsport—W. P. Cropper;
Petersburg—N. S. Walton;
Bellevue—J. S. Huey; Carlton—C. G. Riddell;
Hamilton—B. W. Adams;
Union—B. L. Rice;
Beaver—J. C. Hughes;
Verona—J. G. Kennedy;
Walton—T. F. Curley; Bullittsville—John Stephens.
W. L. Riddell, secretary, and Thomas Cowen, treasurer.

B. L. Rice, J. G. Furnish and W. L. Riddell were appointed a committee to draft a constitution and by-laws for the club, and were directed to report the same to the next meeting.

Several names were then enrolled as members of the club, and the meeting was adjourned until the first Monday in May at 1 o'clock p. m. T. F. Curley, Chairman.
W. L. Riddell, Secretary.

Crop and Stock.
Near Dayton, Ohio, a disease exactly like the great epizooty of 1872 is prevailing among horses.

Liggett & Myers, of St. Louis, have purchased 1400 hds of tobacco in Bath, leaving not more than 250 hds unsold.

Frank Harper refused $10,000 for the great filly Valuable, saying he intended to retire her as a brood mare when she is done racing.

Maj. B. G. Thomas, of Lexington, held his first yearling sale in 1884, since which time he has sold 73 fillies and colts for $60,475, an average of $828.

A new and fatal disease among cattle near Gainesville, Texas, that kills in a few hours. It resembles the milk sickness, but much more suddenly fatal. The most thrifty animals succumb to it.

Commissioner Coleman has estimated that the introduction of one bull with pleuro-pneumonia into Missouri cost the people of that State $1,000,000. And the introduction of one into Kentucky cost that State $2,000,000. The outbreak at Chicago cost Illinois more than $7,000,000.

County Court.
Not much business transacted in the County Court Monday. A petition for the division of the dowry of Mrs. Walter Goodridge was filed. W. M. Whitson was appointed administrator of John T. Whitson, deceased, and James Fry, Nat Hind and J. W. Clerk were appointed appraisers. Mrs. Kate Whitson was appointed guardian for her children.
S. J. Ewalt qualified as guardian for Alice Buchanan.

Charles Kotmeyer and John J. Huey removed their ferry license. Joseph Ballcock took out naturalization papers. The interest on W. A. Gahner's note against the county was offered paid.

The Mutual Reserve Fund Life Association of New York, will, in my absence, be represented by T. W. Finch, who will make all needed explanations concerning the plan and workings of the above Life Insurance Company. G. M. CASEY, Agent for Kentucky.

Mrs. L. B. Stephens, mother of H. P. Stephens, of this place, died of pneumonia at her home in Walton last Monday at 3 o'clock p. m. Her funeral will be preached in the church at Walton to-day at 10 o'clock a. m., after which the remains will be conveyed to Highland Cemetery for burial.

Must Be Sold!
Wonderful Advantages offered Purchasers of Summer Goods
Our object being to dispose of all Summer Stock at once, cost and value not considered, all visiting our establishment will be fully repaid by the saving to be enjoyed. Anticipating an early demand for Fall Goods, we have made unusual preparations for the same, and have now ready and for sale an enormous stock of

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING, Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes, Yarns, Flannels, Blankets, Ladies' Misses' & Child's Cloaks
And in fact, everything usually kept in a first-class city store. It is impossible to enumerate prices and give descriptions of all Goods in this small space, but will name only a few prices on our many bargains. We call your attention to the fact that we are showing the finest line of CLOTHING ever shown in this section, and will save you 50 cents to $3 on every suit, according to quality. We will give you a good Working Suit for $2.50; we will give you a good Union Casimere Suit for $3, $4, $5. Other merchants ask for one to two dollars more for same goods.
Our Fine Tailor-made Suits at $10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, & 16,
Are far the best best goods shown in this city. For style, fit, and elegant trim they cannot be surpassed, even by the best merchant tailors, which would cost double the money. In Boys' Clothing, ranging in sizes from 3 to 18 years of age, we have them in prices from $1.75 per suit, to the finest. OVERCOATS in endless variety, from the lowest to the best English Worsteds, Meltons, Beavers, Chinchillas, etc., which we offer lower than any other house in Rising Sun. In

BOOTS AND SHOES,
We are acknowledged to be the lowest on the best goods the market affords. You can save from 25 to 50 cents on every pair of Fine Shoes or Winter Boots. Do not fail to see our wonderful goods; every pair guaranteed to give satisfaction; or a new pair given for every pair not coming up to the warranty. The foregoing is a guarantee from the manufacturer of the Shoes.

BLANKETS and YARNS
We lead them all. Best Factory Yarn 68c per pound; other merchants ask 80c for yarn not near as good. 11-14 Blankets, all-wool, factory goods, 43 to 85 per pair; worth one dollar more.
We ask the public to get the prices of the so-called leading Dry Goods and Clothing houses of this section—obtain their lowest prices and quality—and then come to the

TRADE PALACE.
You will then be convinced that we are the only house in Rising Sun that divides its profits with you. An invitation is extended to all. We want everybody to know that they are welcome to our house. Whether in need of goods or not, you are welcome, and will be shown through our stock with pleasure, as we consider it no trouble to show goods.

Remember the place, Main Street, two doors below National Bank.

these men sneer at the humdrum of Grover Cleveland they cast upon the chief glory of American citizenship. Had his beginning been more obscure than they would have been nothing but on which to base the confidence now so popular in some. The American roll of honor men who at birth were not apparently not in the line of greatness.

As a matter of fact, however, Cleveland was respectably bred, was reared in an honest, industrious and intelligent American family and came on to manhood as hundreds of thousands of Americans have.

he discharged his duties with quietness and efficiency, and nothing in his career is more creditable to himself and to the system than the fact that his life was so rapid as to exclude the possibility of the wrath of lifelong postulants and pelt.

WHAT about the fruit crop? Is it killed or in a good or damaged condition.

The Kentucky Republicans want Sherman and Bradley as a presidential team. It can't be had.

Dr. a recent act of the Legislature, petty larceny in Hickman county is made punishable with lashes on the bare back.

Gov. BECKNER still wields his veto ax with that carelessness that he did at the beginning of the present session of the Legislature.

TATE's defection in '82 amounted to $182,000. It is fortunate for the State that he decided to take a very thin job, instead of at that time.

The temperance people of the 8th district of Kentucky met in Convention and nominated Green Clay Smith as their candidate for Congress.

The great temperance lecturer, is holding a series of meetings at Louisville. There were 6,000 people in attendance the first day, and 3,000 signed the pledge.

Col. C. E. BOWMAN, former Commissioner of Agriculture for Kentucky, and more recently an official of the Interior Department, died at Frankfort last Thursday, in the seventieth year of his age.

The Controller of the Currency has declared a first and final dividend of 100 per cent, and interest in full in favor of the creditors of the Metropolitan National Bank, of Cincinnati, on claims amounting to $327,940.

In this issue David Beall is announced as a candidate for Sheriff. Dave is very popular in the Hebron neighborhood where he was born and raised. He is well qualified to fill the office and he will make a rattling canvass.

The Legislature has concluded that its services are indispensable before the 4th of next month. If a thorough investigation can be made by that time let them stay. A thorough and critical examination and an honest report on the State business is what the people want now.

The Kentucky Legislature would do a great deal of harm were it not for the wisdom and firmness of Gov. Beckner. He has vetoed twenty-seven unconstitutional bills passed by them, and caused four times as many to be withdrawn, occupying a similar fate. That body has only passed one over his veto.

JUDGE W. S. PRYOR, of the Court of Appeals, was in town last Wednesday and Thursday looking after his fences. It had been 17 years since the Judge had paid any attention to his fences in this particular locality, but so far as we have any information they are yet in first-class order. As yet the Judge has no opposition for a reelection.

AFTER their six days experience, had the property of building a Court-house been submitted to the petty jurors, no doubt their verdict would have been, "We the jury find that Boone county needs a Court-house in which the public business can be transacted without the noise and confusion that can not be avoided in the present Court-room."

The tide of public sentiment is turning in favor of a new Court-house in this county, and some who were recently opposed to the proposition are now its strongest advocates. A public meeting of that character is generally discussed by a strong opposition at first, that finally makes concessions and yields when a public necessity becomes as great as is that for a Court-house in this county.

THE whereabouts of Kentucky's defaulting Treasurer is not yet known, although it is claimed that an ex-Louisvillian was a friend in Louisville, that he was in a boat in Montreal, Canada. This may be so and it may not, but the fact exists that Tate has gone and a very large amount of Kentucky's money is missing, and the people are more anxious to be informed as to the amount of Tate's defection than as to where he is now journeying.

THE present sitting of the Circuit Court was unexpectedly prolonged Monday, by the Sheriff arresting and bringing in Charles Rice and Jack Aylor, both colored, and in the last week for hog stealing, the prisoners stand side to side, and they were not side to side to counsel and could not give bail. The Judge said he could not leave them in jail until next term of the court, so he appointed H. P. Stephens to defend them and set their trial for to-day, ordering the Sheriff to summon a special venire of 24 jurors to appear this morning. Court will get through to-day.

The Carrollton Democrat wants Collector Davidson, of Covington, elected District delegate to the Democratic National Convention. But the Commonwealth, published in Mr. Davidson's city says:

"By all means let Mr. Davidson have the place. He is now Collector of Internal Revenue, Custodian of the Public Buildings and Treasurer of the Water works Board. One more place will not count. Moreover, Mr. Davidson is the only Federal official in the District who has been appointed straight out Republican to official positions under him."

And it might have added that when the order came from headquarters to reduce his force in his district, the heads of Democrats instead of Republicans, in some instances, tumbled into the basket. Mr. Davidson is too busy to go to St. Louis.

This is the opinion of the Covington Journal on a subject which doesn't concern it in the least:

"Should Speaker Carlisle be appointed the Chief Justice of the United States? The Sixth District will be pretty likely to insist on naming his successor in Congress and will not choose a man from Covington or Newport. A. J. DeJarnett, of Williamson, Grant county, has already been put forward by the Boone County Recorder and will receive strong support."

We suspicion that our esteemed contemporary, the Commonwealth, views, with some degree of uncertainty, the desire on the country portion of this Congressional District to furnish Mr. Carlisle's successor when he lays aside his Congressional robes; but, be that as it may, the rural Democracy insist that the next bite of pie from that source belongs to them, and DeJarnett is very apt to be the man called upon to set at the head of the table when the time comes to spread the feast.

The grand jury report elsewhere in this paper is the result of a careful consideration of the proposition to build a new Court-house, by a body of representative men that are more than average taxpayers, some of them being among the heaviest taxpayers in the county. Both sides of the question were presented and the necessities for a new building out-weighted any argument that could be urged against the proposition, and after mature deliberation it was recommended that a new Court-house be built. The report voices what it is believed to be the honest desire of a majority of the people of the county a desire that is growing in strength day by day and has been so increasing for several months.

The people of the county are now in a prosperous condition as is indicated by the small amount of litigation in progress, and during this period of prosperity is the time for erecting a new Court-house; for when litigation is lively it is a unpropitious time in which to engage in public improvements, and they will not take hold with the readiness that will characterize them for at least the next few years.

Crop and Stock.
T. J. McGibben, of Cyntiana, has sold in the past two years 34 yearlings for $22,185, an average of $652.
In Mason, distemper is prevailing among horses around Mt. Gilead and black leg among cattle in Mt. Carmel.

Jas. C. Graves, of Jessamine, sold his 2-year-old Jack, Stonewall Jack, to Henry Hastings, of St. Charles, Mo., for $200.00.
Jas. T. Talbott, living four miles north of Millersburg, raised last year on 7 acres of old land, 12,491 pounds of tobacco, which he sold and delivered at 20c per pound, netting $2,498.20 or about $357 per acre.
Thos. H. Wilson, of the Lexington pike, some 4 or 5 miles from Paris, had in 40 acres, which he sold at 18c per pound, and realized nearly $12,000.—Kentuckian-Utizen.

A green striped bud something similar to the old-fashioned potato bug is committing havoc with the apple and peach blossoms in the neighborhood of Falmouth. They fly from tree to tree in swarms and clean things as they go. They invaded Mr. Fawcett's orchard and he had had eaten up all the bloom on about 25 peach trees and are now devouring the bloom in his large apple orchard. We have not heard of the pests being anywhere else except in that vicinity.—Somerset Republican.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

Several of M. C. Norman's family are suffering with malaria. Miss Mary Wilkie leaves this week for a visit at Falmouth.
Mrs. Mary Corbin is to leave home for a visit to relatives at Florence.
C. C. Talbott has gone to Taylor Co., Texas, where he expects to locate.
Mrs. Samuel Riley, of Owen county, and Mrs. Pariah, of Waller, are the guests of Mrs. Talbott.
T. L. Ua, a lieutenant from Big Bone, will speak at Executive Orange

Hall, next Sunday at 11 o'clock.
Rev. Graybill will begin a protracted meeting here next Saturday night. He will be assisted by Revs. David Blythe and Moffat, of Stanford.

OBITUARY.

Miss Ella Dixon, daughter of Hon. Henry Dixon, of Richmond, organist of the Lutheran church at Ebenezer, was highly honored on last Sabbath morning a week, by the presentation of a nice sum of money, made up by two sisters of the church, Mrs. Laura Swetnam and Miss Mollie Dixon, of Crescent. Mr. Late Tatum presented the gift to Miss Ella in a neat little speech, when she turned to the audience and in an eloquent manner returned her sincere thanks for their kindness, saying she felt it her duty to do all she could for the benefit of her church, and more for the love of Christ, who had loved so much for her, and that she was ever willing to do in the future. She had been in the past, Oh, if we had a few more such girls! Blessed are the pure in heart.

BELLEVILLE.

One of our merchants says there is quite a rush in town; the people rush through without stopping.
A. S. Gaines, of Burlington, is buying a great amount of wool and lambs in these parts; he reports lambs not by far so good as usual.
The ever-glad and smiling doctor, Cupper, of North Bend, is very busy now tending to sick horses in the neighborhood. He is eminently successful in treatment, and is deservingly earning a big rap as a veterinary doctor.
In 1851, thirty-seven years ago, Mr. J. D. Conner made a pair of shoes and gave them as a present to his son-in-law, Albert Dickson. Mr. D. is still wearing the same shoes, and they show no signs of wearing out. Mr. Conner is the authority for the statement. I dare say you don't have such shoe makers in Burlington. Mr. Eds. [No such shoes either.—Eds.]

PLATTSBURG.

Oats are coming up nicely.
George Aylor is now a resident of Plattsburg.
Field Crier had a valuable cow to die the other day.
Jas. A. Tull has bought the Woolper store building.
What Plattsburg wants now is a daily mail from Erlanger via Burlington.

Ralph Tilly, of Petersburg, is reading medicine in the office of Dr. Horace Grant at Louisville.
The directors of the Woolper pike are talking of moving the iron bridge further up the creek.

Prof. W. T. Crier has gone to Terre Haute, Ind. he is traveling for some Indiana publishing house.
While clearing ground the other day John Finn found a nest of four young geese in a hollow stump.
Morgan Tull has bought a residence of Dr. J. D. Terrill in Petersburg, and will make that town his future home.
C. L. Hensley has sold his farm on Ashby Ford to his brother, W. C., and will move to Lincoln county this summer some time.
It is said that Col. Wm. Baiterson is the champion cabbage eater of America.—(N.Y.) will put money on it that he is the champion molasses tucker.—Eds.
There is a disposition among the young Democrats to boom Charles A. Gaines, of Unionburg, for State Senator. Chas. is a simon-pure find in the wool-demonstrator, and a model type of true Kentuckian.

They Must Be Sold!

Wonderful Advantages offered Purchasers of Summer Goods

Our object being to dispose of all Summer Stock at once, cost and value not considered, all visiting our establishment will be fully repaid by the saving to be enjoyed. Anticipating an early demand for Fall Goods, we have made unusual preparations for the same, and have now ready and for sale an enormous stock of

DRY GOODS, CLOTHING,

Hats, Caps, Boots, Shoes,

Yarns, Flannels, Blankets, Ladies' Misses' & Child's Cloaks

And in fact, everything usually kept in a first-class city store. It is impossible to enumerate prices and give descriptions of all Goods in this small space, but will name only a few prices on our many bargains. We call your attention to the fact that we are showing the finest line of CLOTHING ever shown in this section, and will save you 50 cents to $3 on every suit, according to quality. We will give you a good Working Suit for $2.50; we will give you a good Union Cassimere Suit for $3, $4, $5. Other merchants ask from one to two dollars more for same goods.

Our Fine Tailor-made Suits at $10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, & 16.

Are by far the best goods ever shown in this city. For style, fit, and elegant finish they cannot be surpassed, even by the best merchant tailors, which would cost double the money. In Boys' Clothing, ranging in sizes from 3 to 18 years of age, we have them in prices from $1.75 per suit, to the finest. OVERCOATS in endless variety, from the lowest to the English Worsteids, Meltons, Beavers, Chinchillas, &c, which we offer lower than any other house in Rising Sun.

BOOT AND SHOES,

We are acknowledged to be the lowest on the best goods the market affords. You can save from 25 to 50 cents on every pair of Fine Shoes or Winter Boots. Do not fail to see our warranted goods; every pair guaranteed to give satisfaction; or a new pair given for every pair not coming up to the warranty. The foregoing is a guarantee from the manufacturer of the Shoes.

BLANKETS and YARNS

We lead them all. Best Factory Yarn 68c per pound; other merchants ask 80c for yarn not near as good. 11-14 Blankets, all-wool, factory goods, $3 to $5 per pair; worth one dollar more.

We ask the public to get the prices of the so-called leading Dry Goods and Clothing houses of this section—obtain their lowest prices and quality—and then come to the

TRADE PALACE.

You will then be convinced that we are the only house in Rising Sun that divides its profits with the public. We want everybody to know that they are welcome to our house. Whether in need of goods or not, you are welcome, and will be shown through our stock with pleasure, as we consider it no trouble to show goods.

Honors Havehurst, of Colorado, and Miss Susie Kye, of Kenton county, were quietly married at the home of the bride's father last Sunday at 4 o'clock. They left that evening at 7 o'clock for the groom's home at Louisville, Colorado. The bride left many friends in Kentucky who are sorry to lose her from their society, but trust that her new relations in this life will be ever pleasant, and that her husband's journey on earth will be prosperous and of many years of usefulness.

James L. Riley and Miss Kate Kreylich, of Kentucky, were married last Thursday at 4 o'clock p. m., at the residence of the bride's father, Elder J. W. Howe officiating. After the ceremony, the bride and groom and a few friends, returned to Mr. Riley's residence, where bachelor and bachelorette parties were held, and where the bride and groom were entertained by the friends of both families.

CIRCUIT COURT.

The jury was paid $400 this term. Three divorces were granted last week.

The fines imposed last week amounted to near $1,000.

Several parties were fined $50 for selling, leading and giving liquor to a minor.

The indictments against the boys for playing base ball on Sunday all went out on a fly.

The suit against Finch and his bondsmen went over, on account of the issues not being made up.

Judge Major presided over the work that was done in the suit against T. W. Finch and his bondsmen.

The term of court which commenced last Monday week, could have continued three weeks had the business required.

Wm. Reagan, colored, the Walton turkey merchant went over the road for one year, just one month for each turkey stolen.

John Dorney, who sued James Carpenter for $5,000 damages for defamation of character was dismissed on motion of the plaintiff.

The court put in about nine hours diligent work every day. Judge Montfort is prompt in his rulings and never reverses himself in a trial.

The long pending suits of James West vs. Thomas Marshall and Elwood Davis vs. R. J. Ewalt was continued. The latter on account of sickness and the former on account of death.

When the Court appointed Hughes, Dyer and Stephens to defend Reagan for stealing Stanger's turkey, the latter, "He will be sent to the pen, sure." He proved to be a prophet.

James Smiley, colored, for stealing Thomas Dorney's money, plead guilty and was given his credentials for an 18 months sojourn as a convict at Frankfort. It is said that he has been there before.

The grand and petit juries were organized the first day without executing a juror or summoning a by-stander. It is not often that out of 40 men there is not one who can give an excuse that will release him.

The Sheriff's selection of jurors could not have been improved on in the history of intelligence. But it is no trouble to get first-class jurors in Boone county, owing to the abundance of good material from which to select.

F. M. Howlett took 250 bushels of wheat out of the mill at Normansville under an order of delivery. J. T. Thomson claimed the wheat, but Judge Montfort heard the evidence and gave Howlett judgment for his wheat and costs of suit.

The slander suit of Joe Hitter against L. H. Dills for $2,500 was tried before a jury which was out but a few minutes, returning a verdict for defendant. Judge Montfort heard the evidence and gave the words alleged, but claimed they were spoken without malice, the jury so believed.

The suit of J. B. Bond against the Cincinnati, N. O. & Texas Pacific railway resulted in another hung jury, which was out 2 1/2 hours in favor of Bond. There have now been three hung juries in that suit, which is for $400, the value of a horse killed by the defendant's cars for Bond, who had put the horse on pasture at Bond's neighbor's place.

Tom Marshall was fined $200 and Tom Marshall, $150, for assaulting and beating Sheriff Clutterback last summer when he was executing a writ of possession in favor of John W. Green's heirs. They were not prepared to pay the fine, and had to go to jail where they now languish, with an apparent prospect of staying there for quite a "spell."

A mandate from the Superior Court was filed in the case of Mary A. Murphy vs. J. T. Clutterback, senior, reversing the judgment of the Circuit Court, ordering the injunction restraining them from collecting from her $318 50 taxes assessed against her to aid in the construction of the Union, Baker & Big Bone turnpike, perpetuated, but allowing the commissioners to take steps in the county court to have a proper assessment made against her.

On account of the rattle and clatter of the doors and constant going up and down stairs to and from the grand jury room it was soon demonstrated that it is impossible to keep the order in the court-room, and the business required in many occasions the Judge was compelled to have the examination of witnesses suspended until the "travel" in or out of the court-room ceased, as it was out of the question to think of keeping the people out of the room or forbidding their leaving it when one in.

On the afternoon of the Democratic rally in F. J. Green's woods near Braetz, Kenton county, last July, the horse driven by Ben Stephens, Jr., and J. B. Bond, collided with a horse belonging to Albert Webster, and driven by one Wilson. One of the buggy shafts on Stephens' and Bonds' buggy pierced the breast of Webster's nag from the effects of which it died. Webster sued Stephens and Bonds in a Judge's court and a jury gave him $75. The suit was appealed to the Circuit Court and the jury found for Stephens and Bonds, and they got judgment for their costs in both courts.

HAWES—Alta, youngest child of Joe West's, died of consumption last Wednesday afternoon. She had been afflicted with the disease for several months, but was able to be up and about nearly all the time until about thirty-six hours before she died. Her age was 17 years. The funeral was preached by Rev. Barker Pifer Tuesday afternoon, after which the remains were interred in the cemetery at this place.

NOTICE—They must be sent. In order to close out my present inventory of apples, I am now selling Apple trees at 15 cents. That I have been selling at 20 cents. These trees are guaranteed to be as represented. Give me a call. W. F. KENDALL, Oakley, Ky.

Democratic Mass Meeting.

There will be a Democratic Mass Meeting held in the Court-house in Burlington, Ky., Saturday, May 6th, 1888, for the purpose of selecting delegates to attend a convention to be held in the city of Lexington, Wednesday, May 16th, to select delegates to the National Convention to be held at St. Louis, June 18th, 1888. In obedience to the call of the Chairman of the Committee on the National Convention, (which is herewith appended) the following will be selected to attend a convention to be held same time and place, to nominate a Democratic candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals. All good Democrats are urged to attend.

J. C. FURNAS, Chairman, Dem. Ex. Com. Boone County.

The Executive Committee of the Second Appellate Court District in the view of the fact that the delegates to the State Convention to be held May 16th, 1888, at the City of Lexington, are not to select candidates for the State Court of Appeals, but are to select delegates to the National Convention, and of the manifest convenience to the people, have directed their chairman to request the Democracy of the county to elect delegates to the said State Convention, with the duty of selecting, in a convention to be held in the City of Lexington at the close of the said State Convention a Democratic candidate for the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals to be voted for in said District at the ensuing August election.

Pursuant to said instruction the undersigned hereby call a convention to meet in said City of Lexington at the close of the proceedings of the said State Convention for said purpose and request the several chairmen of the County Executive Committees in the Second Appellate Court District to so announce at the county meetings to select delegates to the said State Convention. CHAS. J. HICKS, Chairman. Ex. Com. S. A. C. D.

Oh, give 'Us a Rest.

To the Editors of the Recorder.

Mr. County Official Mr. Florence or what's your name, if you ever expect forgiveness for your short coming, if you ever expect to walk the golden streets of the New Jerusalem, give us a rest. Too much joy or pleasure will kill a man; on that account, we pray, beseech and implore you to desist. What have we done that you wish to destroy us? If you had anything against us, why did you not tell us so early as we would have asked your pardon, ten thousand times ten thousand. We would have repented in sack cloth and ashes, but alas! 'tis now almost too late, our blood runs slowly through our veins, our spiritual life, owing to too much laughing at your poppy hits and too much interest in your profound dogging. We would have stopped reading your articles long ago, but we thought perhaps you might find therein something solemn or uninteresting, which would stop your laughter. We laugh as we write, we laugh in our sleep, but it is telling on us. Will you never stop? We fear we shall never have your last word, we know not. Ask the youngest child yet unborn, perhaps it will know. You are another, you are another and so on through eternity. Oh! I beg you, would you have us do? Command us to go to the Polar regions and bring you the heights of the North pole; tell us to go into the regions infernal, bearing your heavy, but very amusing letters upon our backs, and we will cheerfully obey. Oh, only give us a rest. THE PEOPLE. Bullittville, April 13th.

Report of Grand Jury.

To the Hon. Judge Boone Circuit Court.

We the grand jury of the first term, 1888, of the Boone Circuit Court, would respectfully report that we have examined a number of witnesses (88) and found and reported to court 46 indictments. We have made diligent inquiry and reported to court with the aid of the public building and the County Infirmary in good condition, and the inmates well provided for. We find the clerk of the court, kept at the gathering to the county clerks office to aid in the guttering to the clerks office of the court of repair, and the northeast corner of the wall needs repairing. The jail is in good condition. We have examined and find the Court-house in a leaky and dilapidated condition; and recommend that the proper authorities take the necessary and proper steps to be used and build a new, plain, substantial commodious Court-house, including therein public offices, sufficient to accommodate the public business of the county.

All of which is respectfully reported this April 14, 1888.

N. S. WALTON, Foreman.

This strike of the brewers and malsters in Newport had no effect on the last issue of the Recorder.

Dexter, Robert Bonner's famous trotter is dead, at the good old age of 30 years. Dexter was the first horse to trot a mile in 2:17.

The Kentucky press gang will meet at Danville on the 4th of July. A very interesting programme has been prepared for the occasion.

It is possible that Indiana Democrats will this week say who they want for Vice President next time. Gov. Isaac P. Gray will be the man.

The New York Legislature has passed a bill which directs that murderers shall be executed by electricity in that State. That's shocking.

When Representative Needham proposed to have the absentees fined one dollar each, Mr. Mulligan proposed to fine each member present on the ground that they were doing the State more harm than those who were absent. Needham's motion prevailed.

We predict that the fruit is gone glimmering or is so badly injured that it will be knotty and of but little value. There may be a few late apples that will survive, but the late cold weather threw a dagger on the prospects so flattering previous to last week.

Mr. Conn. of Owen, has been nominated by the Prohibitionists in that district for Congress, but it is not his nomination about which the people down there are so much concerned. They want the nominee of the party that is going to elect the man to Congress.

State Treasurer Sharp went on duty last week, finding a sack full of warrants which had accumulated since late January. The warrants, awaiting payment, Treasurer Sharp at once proceeded to the payment of drafts, and business is now going on at the old stand.

Among the trash swept from under one of the treasury vaults in Frankfort, the other day, were ten $100 bills pinned together. This indicates that Tate was a very careless man with money. Probably that particular carelessness was the result of having invested too much in whisky on the day the bills were dropped.

PASCHAL PORTER, the 11-year-old Indiana boy preacher, is commented on as a wonder at every place he has preached in this State. The people by the hundred flock to hear him, and are astonished by his logic and rhetoric, and the learned manner in which he handles a text. Porter was born in Jefferson county, near Madison.

The next sitting of the Circuit Court in this district is at Owen, commencing the first Monday in May, which gives Judge Mountfort a vacation of nearly three weeks between the adjournment here and the beginning of the Owen term. Boone was entitled to three weeks term but the business only required about half the time.

In this portion of the tobacco district there are no indications of a reduction of the acreage expected to be planted, to be brought about by the scarcity of plants occasioned by a failure of the seeds to come up, and the destruction of plants after they come up, by bugs. If the acreage is universally cut short one-half the farmers will be largely the gainers thereby.

Unless the report of the committee that is investigating the Treasurer's office connects Auditor Hewitt, in some manner, with Tate's embezzlement, some of the State press are not going to be satisfied. In the event that the committee does not condemn Hewitt, the public will have to decide which is the better informed in regard to that matter, a few State papers or the Legislative Committee that made the investigation.

There seems to be some jar in the Republican machinery in Kentucky. Colonel Bradley is anxious to get on the tail end of the Republican National ticket, but Colonel Bradley wants Joseph Hawley, of Georgetown for Vice President. Swope does not have an appreciation for home talent that coincides with Mr. Bradley's notions on the subject about this time. Two men in the same party in a State are sometimes very much at odds.

In the section of Boone county this State, the corn and clover fields are invaded by what the farmers call the clover cut worm and the majority of the fields have been totally destroyed. The worms are as numerous as the army worms, and have been known to be, and their ravages are working incalculable loss to the farmers. No method of checking them that has yet been tried has proved in the least effective.

The Covington City Council have voted the Registration Law, the Legislature passed for that city, on the grounds that the law is unconstitutional; and the Commonwealth very pertinently remarks: "It is at least fair to the Legislature to hold it as good a judge of the constitutionality or unconstitutionality of an act as the City Council. They are lawyers of ability in the House on the committee which considered the bill and in the Senate as well." The Council is not in favor of registration, that is the secret.

Is the death of Isaac Cookling this country's loss another gain, and what effect it will have on his political party in the Chicago convention is now the source of much speculation. Whether or not the animosities he cherished will go to the grave with him or live to rebuke those with whom he quarreled is a question of considerable interest just now, and the more so on account of a presidential election. Although claiming to be out of politics Cookling's influence was more or less manifest in contests of importance, and a strong eloquent was subject thereto.

In this issue appears a brief history of the Boone County Farmers Mutual Insurance Company from the time it commenced business to January 1, 1888. It shows that its insurance is exceedingly cheap and safe, which has made the company justly popular with the farmers for whose sole benefit the business is conducted. Its large number of policies are increasing all the time, and the company is now thoroughly established and will continue to furnish the people of this county cheaper insurance than any other company. We are glad to see the company so well patronized by those it is intended to benefit.

The citizens of Anderson county, regardless of party, held a mass meeting a few days ago in which they resolved that Kentucky has the best Governor in America; but when the meeting spoke of the Legislature it decried the catalogue of complimentary adjectives, and adopted a withering resolution of course. It reads as follows:

"That we denounce defaulting in every sense, and especially that of the Treasurer, but admit the manner in which Tate manages a job of that character and disposes of the money, as compared with the manner in which the Kentucky Legislature makes war with the funds of the State."

Copies of the proceedings were ordered sent to the Governor, the Senate and the House of Representatives.

The Interior Journal says: "Although the majority of the committee appointed to investigate the affairs of Boone county and the official conduct of Judge Cole reported that both were as bad as could be, with the latter responsible for a great deal of the trouble, but by a good majority vote the minority report, signed by but one man, which unequivocally vindicates Judge Cole and pronounces his official robes as white as snow. The Republicans voted for the vindication, knowing that it is campaign powder for them to retain such a judge. The proposition to dismember the county was referred to the judiciary committee, where it will likely sleep. In the meantime matters will probably go on from bad to worse in that miserable district. It can hardly be otherwise with a judge upon the bench dispensing law to spite his enemies and green his friends."

So it looks very much like the Boone county investigation is to go for naught, and the county is to remain as one of the sisterhood. This is another instance in which there was a large quantity of smoke and a very small amount of fire.

Mrs. ELIZA J. NICHOLSON, of New Orleans, is the only woman in this country, probably the only woman in the world, who is proprietor and editor-in-chief of a daily newspaper. Mrs. Nicholson was the widow of Colonel Holbrook, editor and proprietor of the New Orleans Picayune, who, at the time of his death, left her paper with a debt of $85,000. His wife had done regular editorial work on the paper during his lifetime, and as she was devoted to journalistic work she was determined to continue it, contrary to the advice of all her friends, who wished her to take the $10,000 allowed her by law and abandon the paper. The business manager, Mr. Nicholson, alone counseled her to go on, and stood by her with the staff. Within two years her conduct of the paper not only put it on a paying basis, but wiped out the $85,000 debt. She afterward married Mr. Nicholson, who became a widower, shortly after her husband's death. She is a fragile little woman.

There are many in this Appellate District, and not only in Kentucky and adjoining counties, who are urging the nomination of Judge James O'Hara, to succeed Judge Pryor. There is no lawyer in Kentucky who will not concede the fitness of Judge O'Hara for the place, there is no man who knows him who does not admit his uprightness of life, his courtesy and his undeviating sense of duty. Judge O'Hara should make the race; the time is fitting and he is the man."

When, recently, the Commonwealth was kicking so vigorously against Judge O'Hara's appointment as a Commissioner of the Covington Water Works, we thought it would be a good idea to get out of the way of a man who is a much abler and a more upright man than it was then willing to concede. But, perhaps, the office of Commissioner of Water Works in Covington requires more ability than does the office of Judge of the Court of Appeals. However, we concur in the good things now said of the Judge.

Maria Thompson, a colored woman, who resides near Sparta, was attracted to the yard adjoining her residence by a commotion. A week and a half ago a strange dog on the premises. Before she could get out of the way it sprang on her and bit her in a severe manner. The dog was afflicted with the rabies and is reported to have bitten several heads of stock.—Warsaw Independent.

The Tate defalcation will amount to about $175,000, with about $50,000 of O. C. U.'s on hand. The investigating committee was to make its report yesterday. An attempt is being made to have Tom Henry investigated to ascertain whether or not he fanned out the office of Clerk of the Court of Appeals.

The tariff issue has commenced in Congress.

Crop and Stock.

A single acre sold 37,000 peach trees in Trimble county last winter.

Graham & Markwell, of Bath Co., sold one of their last importations of Spanish Jacks to Mr. Ruggles, of Lewis county, for $1,000.

Steele Brothers offered Miss Sally Van Meter, of Fayette county, $12 per acre for three years for 200 acres of soil land to be sown in hemp.

A good many farmers are complaining of the failure of their tobacco seed to come up, and many are resowing.—Owen Democrat.

Wakeland, Moreland & Co., of Boyle county, have sold to Louisville, 100 head of cattle to be delivered June 10th at 41 and 5 cents per pound. These cattle are being fed at a distillery.

The new fashion of dehorning cattle has been practiced in Illinois, and with bad results around Bloomington. Several large herds that were dehorned about March 1st, have not recovered and the wounds are in an unhealed and dangerous condition.

Farmers who have sown tobacco seed sent out by warehousemen are complaining that the seed are not coming up. A few believe that the seed were boiled and the germ killed by the warehousemen. The home grown seed have sprouted nicely.—Owen Democrat.

W. H. Wilson, of Cynthia, has bought of Lexington parties, the blood mare Lady, by Geo. Wilkes, for $1,500. Of Pines Valley, of Fayette, the buck, by Billy Lyman, for $1,000. This stock was purchased through R. S. Sumner, who also sold for Smith McCann, a trotter to a Vermont party for $2,000.

Says the Mt. Sterling Gazette: S. W. Macy, a farmer of good information and close observation, advises that wheat and oats be sown together, 20 per cent wheat, for feeding purposes. He claims more nourishment from it than any other crop, and especially does he recommend it for calves and hogs.

ties of the Democratic party by which Republican votes are violently and fraudulently appropriated, pledge protection to the agricultural and manufacturing industries, consider Federal aid to public schools of vital importance; denounced President Cleveland in various bills; and have now, in the bill, introduced by Mr. McKim, to all honorably discharged Union soldiers, and recognising the superstitiousness, inability, special attainments, and the fact that the people of Ohio, who feel that the nomination by the Republican party for its standard-bearer in the coming Presidential contest is a gross insult to the Union soldiers. We, therefore, instruct our delegates in the coming National Convention, so long as they may deem it necessary, to vote for Mr. McKim, and also recognising the Hon. Wm. O. Bradley, of of Vice-President of the United States, and as an ardent supporter of the Republican element of the South, our delegates are instructed to vote for him for the nomination to that position by the National Convention of your party.

A minority report, signed by B. C. W. was read, endorsing the platform except Haynes, R. W. Roberts and C. D. Biggs, and for the election of Mr. C. D. Biggs for President, the minority favoring an instruction for W. O. Bradley for Vice President, leaving the delegates to the National Convention to vote as they deemed best for the Presidential nomination.

The delegates to represent the State of Kentucky at large are W. O. Bradley, of Washington County; Judge George Drury, of Lexington; and Congressman "George" M. Thomas, of Edmonson County. The majority report was read, endorsing the platform except Haynes, R. W. Roberts and C. D. Biggs, and for the election of Mr. C. D. Biggs for President, the minority favoring an instruction for W. O. Bradley for Vice President, leaving the delegates to the National Convention to vote as they deemed best for the Presidential nomination.

man, was defeated, and the minority report instructing only for W. O. Bradley, of Kentucky, to be elected. It is pretty well settled, however, that the delegates will be solid for Sherman, but they decline to express themselves, with the exception of the following:

"I am for Sherman, first, last and all the time."

A complete canvass of the delegation to-night showed a very large majority of favor to the Union and to Sherman. The following are for Blaine, vice Goodloe: Lobna, McKee, Jolly, Johns, Taylor, Ford, Deane, Bennett, and others. For Sherman: W. H. Hampton; total, 13. For Sherman: Thomas, Paterson, Wardlaw, Hobson, Thompson, Fendall, Wilson, John Brady, and others. Doubtful: John E. Greenham. Lewis. Doubtful: Brady and Deeny.

may be for Sherman for second choice, but the other men delegates are divided as follows for second choice: For E. A. Tamm, Paterson, Warford, Thompson, Hamilton, and Denny; for John Sherman, Patrick, Bradley being a candidate free Vice-President will not express himself, and Denny is following Bradley, as usual.

Through the plank in the platform instructing for John Sherman, the State Republican Convention adjourned to-night at 10 o'clock, and the delegates returned to the Chicago Convention unopposed. The ticket handed from five o'clock in the afternoon was a high one, and the delegates were in a unanimous work of Colonel Wm. O. Bradley. He fought the Sherman endorsement with great earnestness and effectiveness, and the delegates voted positively for this ticket.

Vice-Presidential nomination would be made to this enhanced. He claims that Kentucky would not be placed in the line of doubt. He says that the Republican party will want her thirteen electoral votes, and that he thinks as the second man on the National ticket he will be able to carry them. He says that Brooks of Bradley also claim that he is in line for Blaine this last and all time.

THE Sad Fate of Little Walter

Rehman.

While Drunken at a Hydrant His Long

Remains Filled With Water.

CHICAGO, May 9.—Walter Rehman, a boy of ten years old, was playing with some companions in a large open space in the rear of his father's residence on Wabash street. The child and his companions had been running about the yard for several hours, and becoming overheated, they went to the hydrant for a drink. The hydrant ran up against the building, the faucet being about three feet from the ground. Walter was just about to reach the faucet and place his mouth under it, when he turned the water on to his head. The water was so cold that it struck him like a bullet. He was so much shocked that Natural Gas the Cause of Its Destruction.

Loss, $150,000.

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 10.—This morning was a decidedly sensational and dis-

KENTUCKY DEMOCRAT

Hold Their State Convention at Lexington,

and Pick Out Their Delegates to the National Convention at St. Louis.

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 18.—The Kentucky State Democratic Convention met at the Opera house in this city to-day for the purpose of appointing delegates to the National Convention at St. Louis.

The convention was called to order by Judge Sharp, chairman of the State Central Committee, and the exercises began with prayer by Dr. Bartlett, of the First Presbyterian church.

Judge Sharp then addressed the convention, reviewing the history of the struggles of the democratic party for success, its noble triumph, and the commanding leadership of President Cleveland.

Michael F. Polk Johnson, of Louisville, was

The temporary chairman, James E. Stone, reported secretary, J. M. Mahoney, and Harry Glenn assisted.

The following committees were then announced:

On Personnel: Organization—Mel Wilcox, J. L. Leary, John Corbett, H. P. Pruce, J. D. Hines, B. E. Johnson, W. B. Haldeman, E. M. McGrath, P. P. Johnston, J. W. Alcorn, G. W. Castle, P. F. Day and A. M. Adale.

On Finance: J. M. Mahoney, J. W. Alcorn, J. W. Broder, J. B. Garrett, Dudley Watson, Wm. L. Delaney, Sam E. Hill, Henry Watterson, J. R. Simon, Wm. Lindsay, John B. Thompson, G. W. Castle, J. M. Mahoney.

On Credentials—Wm. Goebel, W. Kenneth, C. O. Minn, G. W. Norman, J. T. Walker, G. A. Cubbage, John E. Green, W. O. Coleman, T. A. Harris, R. E. Houston, G. A. Cassels, J. and J. and J. and J.

Convention then adjourned 'til 4 o'clock.

The Committee on Credentials reported that there were no contests.

On the subject of the report for chairman, Hon. J. C. B. Blackburn, secretary, J. E. Stone, assisted secretary, Clint Lee, Ezra

Walter R. D. Hargis, Walter K. Scott, W. P. Walton, R. W. Gray, E. P. Cardwell, J. M. Brent; also the assistant secretaries of the permanent organization, Messrs. J. M. Hargis and J. M. Hargis, Jr., of the State Central Committee should remain at Lexington. That committee consists of Hon. M. C. Alford, chairman; Major P. Allen, R. S. Bullock, Lexington; Hon. Ben Johnson, of Nelson; Thomas J. Helm, of Newport; Charles K. Long and W. B. Haden, of Louisville. The following are the members of the district committees: First District, John R. Kemp; Second District, John S. Whiteley; Third District, John D. Hines; Fourth District, J. S. Wadley; Fifth District, J. M. Hargis, Jr.; Sixth District, J. R. Perry; Seventh District, Wm. Crabb; Eighth District, L. W. McKee; Ninth District, Mordell Williams; Tenth District, John P. Salzer; Eleventh District, George D. T. Hays.

When Senator Blackburn was conducted to the choir he delivered a brief address.

The resolutions introduced by Mr. Hays, the Mill Creek and the Lexington Resolutions, the Lexington Resolutions, were adopted. The list of ates and alternates to the St. Louis conference tion and of Electors for the State are as follows:

First District—Delegates, Clint Lee and J.
W. Bloch; alternates, John T. Harris and Meyer Wolf; Electors, W. M. Smith; assistant
C. K. Wheeler.

Second District—Delegates, John C. Mc-Donald and Peter Berry; alternates,
Colonel Deo Brown and W. B. Baker; Electors,
R. W. Henry; assistant, R. W. McFarlin.

Third District—Delegates, J. C. Evans and J. C. McFarlin; alternates, Charles Evans and Clarence Haggard; Elector, W. T. Cox;
assistant, J. M. Bashaw.

Fourth District—
Delegates, H. D. McHenry, R. A. Burton
and J. C. McFarlin; alternates, J. C. McFarlin
and J. C. McFarlin.

Fifth District—Delegates,
L. P. Straub, W. C. Clemens; assistant,
Charles D. Aaroe, John B. Castleman.

Sixth District—Delegates, J. C. McFarlin
and J. C. McFarlin.

Seventh District—Delegates, A. G. D.
Jorret, William Goebel; alternates; J.

J. McFarlin; assistant, J. C. McFarlin.

Eighth District—Delegates, Hon. Evan Se-lie, J. S. Johnson; alternates, Mr. S. Ford man and W. C. Yarbrough, president. Board members include: J. C. Kinsinger, district Delegate; R. C. Kaufman, P. J. Forcum, alternates; Loder Poyess, W. T. Tevis; E. J. Grant; J. A. Grant; assistant, W. A. Anderson. Ninth District Delegates: C. E. Lytle and L. L. Leavelle; alternates, C. E. Lytle and N. B. Pottion; E. C. W. J. Hendrick, assistant; John Hagar, Tenth District Delegate; W. T. Havens, Rock County; C. E. Taylor, Tenth District Delegate; Thomas T. Fitzpatrick, assistant; B. Cassidy, Eleventh District Delegates—W. Collier, J. M. Richardson, alternate; C. E. Taylor, Tenth District Delegate; R. Simpson; assistant, Jeff Henry, of Green County. Before the proceedings could proceed further many gentlemen were called upon to make remarks. Among them were: J. W. W. Lindsay, Hon. J. A. McKenzie, C. senior Buckner and others. Then followed voting by counties upon the selection of delegates from the State at large to the State Convention. The delegates were: J. A. McKenzie, J. C. Hendricks and John D. Harris, and the four candidates candidates. Hon. J. Thompson, Kenton, was the first to speak. He proposed that W. C. Welch, as alternates.

The following were chosen as Electors of the State-at-large: John B. Ray, of Logan; and Claude M. Thomas, of Bourbon; as alternates, John H. Webb, of Jessamine, and J. H. Hallam, of Kenton. The convention then adjourned.

The delegates from the First Appellate District met in convention in the court-house at 10 o'clock, and nominated Chief-Justice Fryer for reelection to the Appellate Bench.

During the Convention Hon. Henry Watts made one of his characteristic brilliant speeches, in which he said: "I am not a Republican, but I know how to do. In electing he said:—

"The issue thus made up is simply this:—whether we will have a government as fair as the South is concerned, shall we have a government that will protect the property of the South, or the property of the property, or the irresponsible government, brute force and martial law? There is no question. For anybody to stand on. The white people of the South are not to be deceived. They must be left entirely. If they are trusted, they will be left free from molestation and criticism."

to set and keep the peace. If they are not so trusted, they must be reminded of the grave danger to the country if they are trusted of military subjugation. On issue the Democratic party stands for freedom and union; the Republican party for repression and slavery. We are opposed to the use of force and the people to confirm the justice of our cause."

The Board of Examiners for white teachers shall be held on the first Friday in July, August, September, November and January, and for colored teachers on the 2d Friday of same months, and no examination shall be held at any other time whatever."

The Boone County Teachers' Institute will be held in Morgan Academy, Burlington, Ky.

The Institute will begin July 16 and continue five consecutive days.
All persons interested in the welfare of the schools of Boone county are cordially invited to attend, and take part in the exercises.

All teachers are, by law, required to attend the entire session.

Now, teachers and patrons, we are attempting this Good Work with home talent--and we feel we are sure of success if you will put your intelligence and brain to aid in this direction, for a few days only.

Will you favor us with your easy assistance? or, will you let us, in attempting to carry the work through under this weighty matter, in which every one throughout the county, who is old enough to realize the importance of duty, in this particular, ought to feel and does feel a part?

Schools for Boone County.

BATES COUNTY MO.

If you are going West to grow up with the Country, Here is Your Chance.

BUTLER MO., 1888.

Mr. Editor--I wish, through your columns, to call the attention of all who are looking for new home or good investments, to Bates County, Mo. This county is seventy miles south of Kansas City, on the Kansas line. It contains 900 square miles and over 40,000 inhabitants.

Originally it was a prairie country with fine large timber on the streams. Now it consists of beautifully improved farms. Water, coal and timber in great abundance.
Deep, dark, limestone soil and very productive, yielding from 60 to 75 bushels of corn per acre. All kinds of grain and grasses grow luxuriantly; also all kinds of fruit. The climate is excellent, short winters and mild summers. This county is the richest in the State in natural resources. Good railroad facilities.
Fine place for manufacturers of all kinds. Public schools are open from 6 to 9 months in the year. People are intelligent, progressive and hospitable. Politically some of the county officers are Republican and some are Democratic. Good farms can be bought from $15 to $35 per acre.

Butler, the county seat, is in the center of the county, and has 6,000 inhabitants. It has 9 church buildings, fine academy and public school buildings. Two national banks and three newspapers. If you want a good farm for yourself and your boys, in the garden of the COURT HOUSE LITERATURE.

In last week's Commonwealth is an article over the signature, "A Grand Jurymen," attributing to the Commonwealth a knowledge of the duty of the grand jury in examining public, county buildings; and also a knowledge of their privilege to recommend a new court-house, but it fails to endow them with a knowledge of the grand jury might have upon it, members who lacked the stamina to stand up for measures they earnestly advocated in the jury room.

The Commissioners did not know that they represented 3000 voters only; but they know they represent the county of Boone in this court-house question, voters and non-voters, taxpayers and non-taxpayers, and not simply the voting population.

The Commissioners are the creatures of the law passed by Hon. Reuben Conner and amended by Hon. Jno. S. Hogins. Under that law they have their existence and find their authority and duty, and do not exist in a vacuum, and remaining grand jurors or any other source.

The grand jury represents the county in the courts, and by law, and when it acts and reports, it is the voice of the county; hence it can not go back on an indictment as it may on one of its simple recommendations. Grand juries are supposed to be composed of the most able, just and reliable men of the county; therefore, what they report or recommend should, and does generally, command the respect and confidence of the county; and this, too, notwithstanding a member or two may be of the erratic and pillory kind, ready to advocate and push forward a measure to the utmost limit in season, and equally ready to repudiate and denounce it after adjournment at the first ray of opposition.

That the Commissioners knew that it was their duty to examine, report and furnish the public buildings of the county is conceded by "Grandjurymen." Yes, and the law makes it their duty to build anew when it seems wise to repair, and the authority to levy a tax is given them to enable them to perform the duty imposed and commanded by the law. With this knowledge the Commissioners have undertaken to perform a duty and have ordered the work in the direct line marked out by the grand jury, and strongly advised by some of its members who have met of the fog, hoisted the white flag and gone over and enlisted in the opposing ranks.

"Grandjurymen," do you not remember the proposition made in the grand jury room by Oscar Gaines, one of the grand jury, to submit the matter to a vote of the people? Don't you remember that the Commissioners refused to do so? And that the grand jury did not want a new court-house? Would they have gone ahead and built it?

They ought not to have done so; but we will tell what the Commissioners will do if they are to hearken to the advice of, or pursue the forked tracks of some grandjurymen? Again he says: "I don't think the Commissioners were in a hurry, but I think they admit that some one was urging them to immediate action."

Now, is it possible that "Grandjurymen" has forgotten what it was that was urging the Commissioners to immediate action? Has he forgotten that magnificent report and recommendation he endorsed during the last session of the grand jury, when the big flood up in the before the multitude and the judge, and condemned the court-house, and called upon the proper authorities to build a new one? We implore you, "Grandjurymen," not to turn back upon your former report.

"Who was it that was in such a hurry about building the court-house?" Obvious of the past "Grandjurymen" is the question. "Grandjurymen," please look at the report of the last grand jury and listen to its answer: "Thou art the man; thou art the brother of whom thou art adjudged the chief."

"Who had our representative among the grand jury?" "Grandjurymen," please ask Mr. Hogins, (if you know him and we presume you do) if any one had him named the law. He introduced and the legislature passed the bill opening and negatively. No one had him named it, but as he himself said, "I introduced it." "What would 'Grandjurymen' have done with the bill had he had the luck to have it passed?"

Let the record of the last grand jury repeat its condemnation of the court-house and its demand upon the proper authorities to build a new one, and the answer is given. Then comes the vote on the Glucus proposition. Please answer. Who can doubt his action? Not one.

The power of taxation in the original and amended bills alike limited by the necessities demanding its exercise. Hon. Reuben Conner framed and introduced the original bill; and he did not now, we guess, oppose the amendment. Any one can compare the two bills and see the difference. Both have had that? Second—Does he not know that the Reuben Conner bill made them members ex officio of the board without bill or restriction? Any one reading the bill will find it so.

We failed to say any place for "schemes and dark laid plans" that "Grandjurymen" strives to conjure up.

He and his fellow Jurors simply asked the Commissioners to do a thing which they had the power and right to do. Was that unfair or a scheme? Was any unfair or untrue news or trick resorted to in the grand jury room or elsewhere to have the court-house built at Burlington when the jury recommended it? If so will "Grandjurymen" please give the name of the tricksters and expose his trick? We have understood that one of the Union grand jurors was the most active in getting the jury to condemn the court-house and recommend the building of a new one. Was he guilty of scheming or of laying dark laid plans to deceive his fellow-jurors. Even "A Grandjurymen" will say so.

Does "Grandjurymen" feel sure he is not defaming some of his friends, or is he full of malvolitions, and about to whirl half around and give his strongest devotion to Union; or is he ready to complete the circle and stop at Burlington—his love and pleasure in new his truth, and for pardon and reward henceforth true? Who but the Alwain can tell?

Farmers, farmers, if you want to buy a good horse, a mow, call at the office of E. Harmer, 227 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, or write him where you buy and get prices, and see if it can not save you money.

Don't forget to call on Loebker, Jr. 38 Pike St., when you are in Covington for your spring and summer styles in hats and gents furnishing goods. His motto is, "good goods for little money."

He also has a laundry and his prices are as low as a laundry, and his goods are all the latest styles and guaranteed. 38 Pike St., Covington.

A Fraud. The man who was representing to the Water people that he was among them for the purpose of establishing a tannery there, has proven to be a fraud, and was arrested one day last week for obtaining goods under false pretenses. It is reported that he had been in the county for some time, and was arrested after a long chase.

John Carpenter, aged 25, and son of Woodford Carpenter and son-in-law of Lewis Rice, of Richmond, died on the night of the 5th inst., at the residence of Mr. Rice. The funeral service was conducted at the home of the deceased, at 10 a. m. by Rev. Gnybill, after which the remains were followed by a very large concourse of relatives and friends to their last resting place in the family cemetery at Gaines Robinson's.

The deceased was a victim of consumption, and only a few weeks ago he returned home from Florida, where he went, hoping to be benefited by that climate, but all to no avail. The deceased leaves a widow and two children, who have the sympathy of all.

A Heavy Loss. Last Saturday night the house occupied by R. W. Neal and sisters about two and a half miles southwest of the town of Hebron, was destroyed by fire. The fire was discovered about midnight, and had made such progress that very few articles could be saved from the building. Among the numerous articles of household goods destroyed, besides the furniture, were 80 valuable quilts, the handiwork of the Misses Neal. $500 in gold was among the property that was destroyed. The fire is supposed to have originated in a small house fronted by the residence, from which the occupants escaped with only their night clothes. There was no insurance and the loss falls quite heavily.

A Bad Affair. Armed Holder, of Walton, was on a promenade last week, and Saturday afternoon he armed himself with a shotgun and shortly thereafter he was shot and killed by a party of hunters. The shot was fired by a party of hunters, and the result was the death of the man.

Piper-Huey Nuptials. The marriage of George P. Piper and Miss Matilda Huey, at the Methodist church in the city of Cincinnati, was a wedding event of the season and was witnessed by a very large crowd of the relatives and friends of the contracting parties. The church was beautifully and elaborately decorated with flowers and bunting, and the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Gnybill.

Personal Mention. Miss Wanda Kirtley is home to spend the vacation. Mrs. S. P. Tilly is the guest of Mrs. Charles McKim. Capt. W. H. Baker, of Florence, was in town yesterday.

Edson Riddell will leave to-day for a visit in Georgetown. W. Davis, of Hebron, honored our county with a call a few days since. Miss Hill, of Jacksonville, Ill., is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Brady.

Wm. Herndon, of Indianapolis, was visiting his sister, Mrs. Jesse Kirkpatrick, the first of the week. John M. Lansing has gone to Richmond to be present at the commencement exercises there this week.

For several days Miss Alice Southern has been suffering excruciating pain from a bone felon on either thumb. Mrs. B. P. Rice, of Covington, who has been visiting Benjamin Rice's for several days returned home yesterday.

Eljah Holton, of Petersburg, and J. C. Gordon, of Hebron, dropped in on a Monday afternoon for a brief call on the Recorder.

H. P. Marshall, of Waterloo, was in town one day last week. He had nothing good to say for the crop outlook in his neighborhood.

Miss Laura Zinne, of Riverside, Ohio, was the guest of Miss Kittie Riddell last week. They visited Mrs. M. Grant, of Petersburg, Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. Craft, one of the Democratic State Electors representing Boone county, has the contract for carrying the mail for the next four days from Hebron to Burlington and Burlington, commencing next July.

Elizabeth Dean, wife of Ben Dean died on the 9th inst. Dr. J. D. Terrill will lecture in Mobile, Ala., on the 10th inst.

A Cleveland and Thurman club will be organized at this place. There is talk of the big (40-40) situation for a month or so.

HARRISON AND MORTON
Nominated by the Republican National Convention
For President and Vice-President of the United States.

CHICAGO, June 25.—The Republican National Convention was called to order at 11:00. After prayer the band struck up, "Nearer My God to Thee."

Mr. Hneston, of Virginia, offered a resolution that no vote should be counted which was cast for any one who had not been regularly placed in nomination. The resolution was declared to

Mr. Boettle, Maine, then took the platform and began to talk about Mr. Haine's attitude toward the Convention. He said that without attempting to give any construction to the language employed he would read some dispatches from Mr. Haine as follows:

EDINBURGH, June 24.

To Routledge and Manley: Earnestly request all friends to respect my Paris letter. . .

REAGAN.

EDINBURGH, June 21.
To Boutelle and Manley, Maine Delegation Chicago: I think I have a right to ask my friends to respect my wishes and refrain from voting for me. Please make this and former dispatch public promptly. J. G. BAKER.
The Convention then proceeded to call the roll of States for the sixth ballot with the following result:
Sixth ballot:—Alger, 137; Allison, 73; Grosham; 9; Harrison, 231; Sherman, 244; Foraker, 1; Blaine, 40; Fred Grant, 1; McKinley, 14.

Seventh ballot.—Alger, 120; Allison, 76; Gresham, 91; Harrison, 238; Sherman, 241; Blaine, 13; McKinley, 16; Haymond, 1; Foraker, 1; Lincoln, 1.
Mr. Henderson, of Iowa, arose and withdrew the name of Allison.
Eighth ballot.—Harrison, 244; Sherman, 118; Alger, 100; Gresham, 80; Blaine, 5; McKinley, 4.

GENERAL BEN HARRISON.

Mr. Harrison was declared the nominee for President, and on motion the nomination was made unanimous.

After several short congratulatory speeches by delegates the roll-call for nominations for W. B. B.

Mr. Denny, of Kentucky, nominated for Vice President William O. Bradley, of the same State.

Mr. Briggs presented the name of William Walter Phelps, of New Jersey. Mr. Gibson, of Ohio, seconded the nomination; also Mr. Egan, of Nebraska, Mr. Oliver, of Iowa, Mr. Rosenthal, of Texas, Mr. Fuller, of North Carolina, and Mr. Boustelle, of Maine.

The call of States was resumed and when New York was reached Senator Miller arose and nominated Levi P. Morton in a eulogistic speech. Mr. Gage, of California, Mr. Oliver, of South Carolina, Hallowell, of Kansas, General Hastings, of Pennsylvania, Marsh, of Illinois, Governor Foster, of Ohio, and others seconded the nomination of Mr. Morton.

Mr. McElwee, of Tennessee, in a brief speech, presented the name of Wm. R. Moore, of that State, as a nominee for the Vice-Presidency.

LEVI F. MORTON.

Mr. Chandler, of Mississippi, seconded the nomination of Mr. Moore, but that gentleman withdrew his name.

A ballot was then taken with the following result (unofficial): Morton 591, Phelps 119, Bradley 103, Bruce 11. Levi P. Morton was declared the nominee. The nomination, on motion of Mr. Deany, of Kentucky, was made unanimous.

On motion of General Husted, of New York, the National Committee was directed to provide in its call four years hence, that the Territory of Alaska shall have two delegates to the convention.

Mr. Boutelle, of Maine, then arose and said that in behalf of a large number of delegates he desired to suspend the rules and adopt a resolution to be added to the Republican platform.

The resolution is as follows:

"The first concern of all good governments—the virtue and sobriety of the people and the purity of their homes. The Republican party cordially sympathizes with all wise and well-directed efforts for the promotion of temperance and morality."

As soon as this was read, there was a rush from the various States to second the motion, and after some time the question was put and

The resolution adopted by a rising vote, only one delegate from Maryland being brave enough to record himself in the negative.

A vote of thanks was then tendered the Chairman and other members of the Convention, and then, on motion of Mr. Hiscock, the Convention, at 8:35, adjourned without day.

Brief Sketches of the Candidates.

Benjamin Harrison was born in North Bend, Hamilton County, O., August 13, 1833.

Mr. Harrison was elected Reporter of the Supreme Court of Indiana in 1860, six years after he had begun the practice of his profession. Soon after this, however, he joined the Union army, in which he was commissioned a Second

Lieutenant. He was one of the 75,000 volunteers who answered President Lincoln's call. After a short service he organized Company A, of the Seventeenth Indiana Volunteer Infantry, and was appointed Colonel. He was mustered out in June, 1865, with the rank of Brigadier-General. Returning to civil life he discharged the duties of Court Reporter for four years. In 1876 he was a candidate for Governor on the Republican side but was defeated. He was appointed on the Mississippi River Commission in 1874. Mr. Harrison was elected United States Senator for Indiana in 1890 as successor of Joseph McDonald, and took his seat on March 4, 1891. His term of service expired March 3, 1897, he being succeeded by David Turpie.

Levi P. Morton is the son of a clergyman and the descendant of a New England Puritan family, and was born in Shoreham, Vermont, about sixty-five years ago. He was educated in the local academy; engaged in business in Hanover, New Hampshire, at the age of twenty years, and at twenty-five was a clerk in the house of F. M. Beebe & Co., of Boston. Five years later he founded the dry goods commission house of Morton & Grimes in New York City. In 1863 he established the banking house of Morton & Miles, of which he is still the head. His business sphere has has been uniformly prosperous, and he is to-day regarded a millionaire. Mr. Morton's active interest in politics began in 1876, when he was for the first time a candidate for Congress, and narrowly missed success. Two years later he ran again in the Murray Hill District of New York City, and was elected. In 1890 Mr. Morton was talked of for second place on the Presidential ticket, which was, however, given to General Arthur. President Garfield appointed him United States Minister to France. Two years ago he was a candidate for the Senate, but was unsuccessful.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

An interesting copy of Pickwick in the original parts sold for five pounds sterling. It was the first one from the press and was presented to Dickens by Mary Hogarth.

—Mr. Labouchere, of London, has a very rare and valuable weighty volume, Donnelly's cryptogram work. The volume may be referred to six pounds of Bacon. —America.

—Of the original edition of the Sonnets of William Shakespeare, published in 1609, there are only two perfect copies. One is in the British Museum. For the other a gentleman of New York paid five thousand dollars. It is a thick book about seven by four inches square.

—The most valuable manuscript in this country, judging from the price paid, is in the possession of Jacob Astor. It is the Sforza Manuscript for fifteen thousand dollars. It is for the fifteenth century and comprises you wanted to read and digest—no voluntarily bound in red Morocco.

The book was a gift to me in response of her childhood days, a book that she came across Gettys's appreciation with a Child in Mr. E- merson's library when she was a young girl. And she was immediately interested in the book. She was fascinated by the book. She chose Emerson and Goethe, and wrote letters to him with the never-fading, and eager, words, with the hope he never faded, under the window in his German.

Five days later, in the late afternoon,
"Election, 1871." It is located at Brooklyn and called "The Brethren Concordance." This well-known history book is under the over a manuscript, and one daily short story or article. So many hands of this book were made up by the editors who took up the business

—The Richmond Whig lately published a poem originally published in the New York Home Journal in 1846, and addressed to the "Departure for France" by John R. Thompson, at that time editor of the Southern Literary Messenger. The lady was the daughter, William C. Rives and aunt of John R. Rives. She was lost at sea on voyage which the poem commemorates.

—John Habberton, author of "Helen Babble," outside of his regular duties as a writer, never, it is noted, has on any special literary tour. He occasionally has two or three notes "in rough," but never completes one unless it is wanted for publication, when he revises it and gives it to a typewriter. He has not, however, been paid for work, writing only when a plot scene occurs to him. He uses any scraps of paper that comes in his way, frequently writing on the margin of room for two chapters of a novel.

— HUMOROUS.

— Guest.— How many people will this beach? Landlord.— We have quite a floating population during the bathing season. — Idea.

— We are told that the wolves are forty-four times as numerous as the Russians in your country. This is the worst commentary we can hear on the wolf. — Punch.

— He.— And what kind of an engagement ring would his little daughter like? She.— Oh, a solid gold ring with a diamond set in a diamond engagement ring.

— Very few people of the present day ever saw or can tell what a petard is, but a politician knows it is something a man can hook himself with or by. — N. Y. Herald.

— Brown. (Finishing his story.) — "Now that is what I call—very good some." Robinson.— "Right you are old man; at least it grew some since I was a boy."

Heard it first——yes, saiduben New.

"You tenor in a fashionable choir is a good thing, but your bass voice all at once became unpleasantly thick. He strained it, but without good effect."—N. Y. Tribune.

"I shall have to tell your father that his eight-year-old Youngster——I do not know what to say."

"Who in, my lady?" Mother said.

"Makes us both stand up at home."—Nantucket Inquirer.

"Mendicant—'Will you please give me a few pennies, sir? I have a brother to take care of.'" Gentlemen said, "A beggar, robber and thief."—

"I am not begging for myself, sir, am begging for my blind brother."—

Epode.

Judge—"You say that your father died from a sudden shock to the system." Was he an electrician?" Prisoner—"No. He fell from a scaffold."

Judge—"Oh, a bricklayer, was it?" Was it his own fault?" Prisoner——Lady Shopper—"But aren't those awfully large?" Salesman—"They look large, lady, but that's style affected no wadays; they will plump your feet just the same as those I have here." Oh, woe, woe, woe, that case-yes, I suppose I may as well take them."—Boston Transcript.

—Stranger, just arrived in (stepping into bank)—"I am looking for Mr. Gawn. He's an old friend of mine." Bank teller—"He is not of this bank. Has he left your employ?" President of Bank (look dejectedly at empty safe)—"Yes, he has left our employ." Teller—"I have told him."—Chicago Tribune.

—A man—"I am a poor, poor man, and I don't wish you to forget Mr. Filkin—a self-made man." "Ah, indeed," replied Mr. Filkin—"I'm really very glad to hear it. Filkins." Do you know, I also have a son named Filkins. I shall tell about you and I needn't say

Gov. BUCKNER is suspected of having Senatorial aspirations, and some go so far as to intimate that he has gone so far as to begin to put his house in order for that special purpose. The old gentleman has made a good Governor, and we are not prepared to say that he would not make a good Senator;

nor are we prepared to say that our present team of United States Senators can be improved on.

Ex-Postmaster General James, of the county was damaged by the late raints. The fruit crop in this county will be enormous this season. Hundreds of dollars worth of dried fruit

It now appears that the tobacco must fall below the average, and as this impression grows the prices adjust, till now all grades are as high as at any time in December or January. The price of Burley to-

Mr. J. C. Jennings raised 320 gallons of strawberries on a half acre of ground on his farm near Millville,

Woodford county, this spring, and sold them in this city at 40c. a gallon. He says his raspberry crop was cut short one-half by dry weather that his peach trees are heavily loaded, but a large quantity of them are dropping off; he thinks, however, that he will have a large crop.

Telling the Story of Her Unwarranted, Excessive and Strange Features of the Case.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 1.—A sensational and a once famous lady case transpired in chancery court this morning. Mrs. Mary M. Pulliam, a lady of much refinement, was released from a mad-house after having been incarcerated in it for over three years. She was sent there, she claims, through the desire of the part of her husband to become possessed of her fortune. The case attracted wide-spread attention in Louisville owing to her social position and the business standing of her husband, Henry Clay Pulliam, of the firm of Page & Pulliam, bankers.

INVADERS BY INSECTS.

Destructive Moths Appear in Large Numbers.

Presaging a Hot War.

READING, Pa., Aug. 2.—This city had a remarkable visitation last night. Myriads of insects invaded the air, resembling at a distance a snow-storm. They were first noticed flying around electric lights about 10 o'clock, and gradually increased to such numbers as to obscure the brilliancy of the lights. Fires were built under the lights and the insects were burned. The doors and windows of dwelling-houses had also to be kept closed to keep them out. Local scientists pronounced them cotton moths, and they evidently came from the South. These are said to precede a hot war, and a decided rise in the temperature is predicted.

EASTON, Pa., Aug. 2.—Butterflies of the largest size were seen in the city last night. The insects were said to be from the South. These are said to precede a hot war, and a decided rise in the temperature is predicted.

FIGHTING YELLOW JACK.

Fighting Canoe and Burning Tar at Jacksonville.
The Jacksonville, Fla., Aug. 18.—The situation this morning makes the doctors smile, and the people here a deal better pleased. Up to eleven last night there were only three new cases, two coming from the original source of the trouble. No new cases or deaths reported today up to 10 o'clock, and the people are taking in a long breath. The physicians now admit that the diagnosis of some of the so-called yellow-fever patients was wrong, and to-morrow a corrected list will be issued. They will state that although there have not been over two cases here, telegrams are pouring in from all quarters offering aid and every kind, and Jacksonville feelingly acknowledges the kindness shown. The matter is under this evening and morning favorable to fighting the disease. Last night Wilson's Battery, with five guns, bombarded the malarious and feverish city with high explosive shells, and the city will hope with good effect. Very heavy drizzle of powder was used. Five guns were sent over from St. Augustine in a special train, but they did not arrive in time for last night. In fact no one could get to Jacksonville in time for the attack. Prof. Gordon, of Hebron, and Prof. Taylor, of Lancaster, were canvassing the present week in the interest of the Lancaster College. They are both energetic young men, and are making a winning effort in behalf of the institution in which they will teach.

In the game of croquet played for the American Championship at Hon. J. A. Gaines' last Friday afternoon, between Hon. J. A. Gaines and Mr. Jas. E. Duncan as partners with Geo. Gaines and Prof. Thomas H. Stephenson as opponents, the latter came off victorious.

"Every man to his trade." This saying is true. Here the best workmen in all the county, and you will find it the cheapest. If you want painting done, hire Geo. Reed. Graining, paper hanging and all kinds of house work executed in style. For reference he refers to those for whom he has worked.

J. H. Thompson and Mr. Gregory, of West Virginia, made things quite lively at Normansville for a while last Thursday. The trouble grew out of a business transaction in regard to the mill at that place. Thompson was pretty heavily intoxicated about the head, but Gregory it was thought for a while was seriously hurt. Rocks were the weapons used by each.

S. A. Palmer has a dog and cow that are much attached. When the cow leaves town in the morning the dog invariably accompanies her and can be found near her at any time of day. She is often seen licking her canine companion, as though it was her own offspring, and when a dog comes near she dashes at the stranger in a furious manner, making it flee for safety. The dog is a Newfoundland.

M. S. Rice, who is now agent for the Merchants Tobacco Company, of Dayton, Ohio, stopped into see us last Friday, as he was going out to the head office at that place. While selling tobacco for the company he also does some detective work for them, and has succeeded in running in two fellows who had swindled them pretty extensively, one at Tusculum and the other at Nashville, Ind. The Vincennes paper says that Mose played the "greeny" to perfection and did a very neat job of detective work.

Mr. Hiram Underhill, of Monroe City, Mo., made the Recorder a very pleasant call last Wednesday. He had been, for several days, visiting his mother and brothers with his wife at this place. It had been thirteen years since Mr. Underhill was in this country, and he noticed many changes in the face of the country. It was in 1866 he went to Missouri, going, as was then the mode of travel, overland in a stage wagon, it taking 24 days to make the trip. He has prospered in the West, and now owns a 316 acre farm near Monroe City, as a testimonial of his industry and good management since leaving his home of the Father of Waters.

OBITUARY.

Deceased this life at his home near Hebron, Boone county, Ky., April 16, 1888, Mrs. Georgia Winston, wife of A. G. Winston, at the age of 74 years.

She was born in Oxford, Ohio, February 11, 1816, where she spent a happy, joyous girlhood. She was educated at the Oxford Female Institute, from which she graduated June 25, 1835.

At the age of 15 years she became interested in the subject of religion, and united with the Methodist church of that place. On August 16, 1835, she was united in marriage with A. G. Winston, of Boone county, Ky., whom she lived until her death.

After her marriage she removed her Church membership to the Methodist church at Burlington, where she abided until her death.

She was ever attached to the faith, doctrine and practice of the Methodist Church, and to her death in belief, sentiment and feeling, was a devoted Methodist. A few years before her death she suffered from a severe attack of rheumatism, and the proceeds of the sale were appropriated to the purchase of a paragon at Petersburg. Of this she complained with much feeling. She felt that she was, in a manner turned out of doors, and she was "miserable" until the property was re-purchased, re-fitted and re-dedicated in the fall of 1887.

Of the life and character of sister Winston much more should be said than can be done in this brief notice. Nature was lavish in her gifts to her, and gave her in form and face, in fine and feature, in body, mind and soul a wealth of gifts rarely bestowed upon one individual, and reared in the obscurity of a poor, remote place.

She was a woman of the highest attainments, educational, social and religious. She attained her womanhood possessed of rare culture, rare development of head and heart, and a personal refinement for her time and place, and her life was a life of noble and noble.

As a wife and mother, too much could be said of her. There was no sacrifice she was unwilling to make, no duty she was not ready to perform, no burden she was reluctant to bear. She loved her children with a pure devotion, and to them she gave willingly, unselfishly, anxiously and lovingly all the efforts of her weak but true heart.

THE HARVEST HOME.

Two Thousand People Pass Through the Gate.

A Fine Display in Every Department.

Splendid Music and Hundreds of Dancers.

The dubious condition of the weather last Saturday morning kept many people from attending the Harvest Home at all, while many others did not arrive until late in the afternoon. By the middle of the afternoon about 2,000 people were on the grounds.

Owing to the recent rains the ground was in rather a bad condition, and rendered moving about unpleasant to the ladies, and caused many one that could possibly get a position on the platform to do so, crowding the dancers until room for dancing was almost at a premium.

It was about 2 p. m. when the several committees were called into the building to select the premium articles, and they were surrounded by as fine a display in the several departments as one will see in this country in a lifetime.

The farm and garden products, were especially good, and attracted the attention of all. "Such splendid vegetables!" was the unanimous exclamation.

The faucy work, and the flower departments were not neglected. Many beautiful quilts and other hand-made articles, were exhibited and admired by all. The pot flowers were lovely, and their presence added a cheerful note to the entire exhibition which would have been wanting in their absence.

THE HARVEST HOME.

Two Thousand People Pass Through the Gate.

A Fine Display in Every Department.

Splendid Music and Hundreds of Dancers.

The dubious condition of the weather last Saturday morning kept many people from attending the Harvest Home at all, while many others did not arrive until late in the afternoon. By the middle of the afternoon about 2,000 people were on the grounds.

Owing to the recent rains the ground was in rather a bad condition, and rendered moving about unpleasant to the ladies, and caused many one that could possibly get a position on the platform to do so, crowding the dancers until room for dancing was almost at a premium.

It was about 2 p. m. when the several committees were called into the building to select the premium articles, and they were surrounded by as fine a display in the several departments as one will see in this country in a lifetime.

The farm and garden products, were especially good, and attracted the attention of all. "Such splendid vegetables!" was the unanimous exclamation.

The faucy work, and the flower departments were not neglected. Many beautiful quilts and other hand-made articles, were exhibited and admired by all. The pot flowers were lovely, and their presence added a cheerful note to the entire exhibition which would have been wanting in their absence.

FOR PRESIDENT:

Grover Cleveland.

OF New York.

Allen G. Thurman.

OF Ohio.

Mr. Carlisle at Home.

The reception given the Hon. John G. Carlisle Monday evening surpassed anything of the kind ever witnessed in Covington.

On the Cincinnati side of the river the people joined in and made the scene astounding.

Mr. Carlisle and Senator Blackburn will both be at the Erlanger barbecue to-day.

Ohio is a very productive State in railroad accidents.

The weather is not suitable for yellow fever to get a foot-hold very far north.

The knowing ones have designated October first as the day that Congress will adjourn.

The owner of the famous race-horse, Proctor Knott, refuses to let him go again this season.

PRESIDENT CLEVELAND has purchased for Mr. Fairweather, of Mc Lane, Pa., 8 head of thoroughbred Ayshire cattle, for which he paid $1,500.

The McCoy gang went gunning for Hatfields a few days since, but got the worst of the sport, two of their number being killed, so the story goes.

THE Public Printer is reprinting vol. 75th Kentucky Reports, and they will be for sale by the Secretary of State in a few days, at the price of $1.50.

L. A. Wood sued Geo. H. Thobor for $600 for legal services rendered him in the Carlisle-Thobor Congress case. The suit was tried before Judge Arthur and a jury in Covington last week and Wood got a verdict for $100.

SENATOR BECK has worked himself into Congress and was compelled to go to Fort Monroe, where he is recuperating. His trouble is not considered serious, but he will not be able to be in his seat again in the Senate for several days.

The fellow who thinks that the world owes him a living is not mistaken; but he must not lose sight of the fact that at the same time he is required to go out and hustle for it. There is plenty of work in this world in which to hustle and plenty for which to hustle.

The acts of the last Legislature will not be completed by the Public Printer until some time in December next. The Secretary of State can not deliver the public books to the officers throughout the State until the laws are printed. The delay is not caused by the Secretary of State.

The tobacco crop will be gathered in now as rapidly as possible. It is getting about time for frosts that will be damaging. The rains have caused to remain green much longer than anticipated three weeks ago, and very likely the fear of frost will cause much tobacco to be put in the house pretty green.

Uproh his arrival at home Monday evening, Hon. John G. Carlisle was given a grand reception by the Democratic clubs of Covington, Newport and Cincinnati. At only one o'clock between Mr. Carlisle and the Presidency is the fact that he lives a few hundred yards too far south of the Ohio river.

MR. BLAINE says that trusts are private affairs over which the President can have no authority; but Senator Sherman, whom it is presumed is about as well posted as Mr. Blaine, introduces a bill in Congress to regulate trusts. These two great Republican leaders will have to part their issue, or they may get their party bewildered on the trust question.

Gen. Wolcott is enjoying the Congressional campaign in which he is now engaged. Judge Finley, his opponent, is a man with a quick temper, and the General has discovered just how and when to prod the Judge to have him make an exhibition of himself. Wolcott is an experienced campaigner and a regular leader among the mountain people, and he will be very popular in his political scalp.

Crop and Stock.

Hemp that has been cut is reported to be damaging very badly.

Fox & Rice, of Bourbon county, sold a load of cotton mules at $85 to $125.

In Massachusetts the crop of cranberries was seriously injured by the frost.

E. S. Cunningham, of Clark co., sold 500 bushels of seed wheat at $1 per bushel.

A Shelby county farmer says he will make $5,000 out of his hemp crop after deducting all possible losses.

The corn crop in Central and Western Michigan has been severely injured by a long continued drought and frost.

James Tate, near Shawhan, Bourbon county, threshed 6024 bushels of fall wheat from 15 acres of land—measured—4½ bushels per acre.

Mr. Henry Hughes has sold the bay mare, Skylight Pilot, by Strathmore, dam Twilight, by Mambrino Pilot. She was sold to some Spanish gentlemen, and goes abroad. Price stated to be $10,000.

The tobacco crop has been very seriously injured by the continued rainy weather. The ripe tobacco is rotting in the patch and much of the green is spotting, fretting and rusting.—Henry County Local.

James Denham, of near Tollesboro, has shipped 2,000 pounds of honey this season. He is the most successful bee-raiser in Lewis county.

Has single colonies that have yielded 150 pounds.—Flemingsburg Gazette.

The tobacco crop in Harrison has never been better. Here and there you may see a few plants not matured, but on the average the crop has never been surpassed. The crop is a tremendous one and we only fear it will effect great reduction in prices.—Cynthiana Courier.

W. B. Childers has completed cutting nine acres of tobacco, and has 9,000 sticks, which he claims will make 18,000 pounds of tobacco. He was offered 12 cents per pound but asked 15 cents. He has nine acres more which will be ready to cut about the 15th of the month.—Georgetown News-Enterprise.

Last week James Guthrie shipped from this point over the L. & N. railroad, seven carloads of mules consigned to Hudson Martin Thompson & Co., New Orleans, for which he received $26,835. This may be considered a pretty fair sale for one firm, and we doubt if there is another one in the State that can do as well.—Shelby News.

There is no doubt but that Sue S. is the trotting phenomenon of the age, and, barring accidents, she will prove herself when the opportunity offers. That she will reduce the trotting record to two minutes is a loud claim, but one seriously believed by many trotting-lovers who have witnessed her performances.—Richmond Register.

The supremacy of Clark county cattle has been again signally shown by the success of Rennick Bros., at the great International Fair at Buffalo, N. Y. By actual count 583 cattle were exhibited, and it was estimated that 100,000 people were present. The Clark county cattle took every first premium for which they contended, except one, and took second prize in that.—Winchester Democrat.

At the Cincinnati Centennial Tobacco Exhibition T. J. Judy, of North Middletown, took a $75 premium on 10 lbs. of the fourth best hog-heads of cutting leaf, and T. L. Best & Co., of Millersburg, took a $75 premium on 10 lbs. of fillers. The exhibit was a very large one, and took place at the Morris Warehouse. Among the Kentucky shippers present were: Col. W. M. Baldwin, T. M. Overby, T. J. Judy, W. L. Gibson and Judge Banta. Several sales of the exhibit were made at $2 to $2.50.

The farmers have been in very good humor this week. Last week they were fretting about their tobacco crop, fearing that the rain would ruin it, but the weather so far has been propitious and a great deal of the weed has been cut. The scarcity of worms is remarkable, and it is not an unusual thing to find a whole field entirely free from them. Judge McCarroll's estimate of the crop for this season, 30,000,000 pounds, is a good one, and what is more the leaf is of the finest quality raised in years. It will stem most beautifully.—Hopkinsville News.

Chas. Moore has a patch of about seven acres of watermelons on the Ironworks-pike, six miles north of this city. He estimates that he has raised 18,000 watermelons on it. After hauling them by wagon-loads in every direction, possibly, two or three times as much still.—There is anybody ever saw on the same acre, not excepting pumpkins and turnips. They are generally large, and would perhaps average 25 lbs. He will probably not sell half a

THE HOHENZOLLERN.

A Family Wren Assembly in Des Moines to be held.

The Wren's Nest, in an article upon the new Emperor of Germany, makes, in behalf of his family, a claim that will be generally admitted as a good possession of the crown of Hohenzollern, handed down from father to son through many generations.

"It is an earnest feeling of duty and strictness in performance of his high functions. In fact, it is not possible to account for the success that family has had in the world, except by reference to its merits. There has not been a single step in the series of events that have expanded the little, arid and sterile Mark of Brandenburg of two centuries ago into the Kingdom of Prussia as we know it, to say nothing of the Empire of Germany, that can fairly be attributed to luck. The fortunes of Prussia have been and are being won by the ability of its rulers from the time of the Great Elector to that of Emperor William II., but there is not one of its rulers who was not fairly described as a worthless man, scarcely one who does not shine in a comparison with his contemporary on the throne of England, or of France, or of the United States. It was occupied by a hereditary sovereign. There has not been one who did not really esteem his business as a King, according to his lights, who was not, as our German contemporaries put it, strict in the performance of his high functions. Frederick William II. was not a wise monarch, but he was very much wiser than George III., and Frederick William III. was a weak one, but he was a very good one compared with George IV.

It is questionable how far the very political development of Germany, though that they have delayed it there can be no question. The weaker and more worldly monarch is the more evident is the necessity that his country shall get on without him, and the easier it is to do so. It is not without significance that the greatest of the rulers have been the greatest of the popular liberty and responsible government that have been taken in England have been taken under her most vigorous King, George III., was granted by King John, the Ilibac Corpus act was passed under Charles II. Indeed, it is not in human nature that a monarch conscious of exercising his authority for the public good should willingly consent that it be abridged. The Emperor who has just died was more of a modern monarch than any other Prince of his house, and yet in the very proclamation that betokened his intention of modernizing the constitution of Prussia there was an acknowledgment that the English and American readers as strangely obsolete and found for the chief magistrate of what is in many respects the most advanced nation in Europe.—N. REMODELING SILK HATS.

Information Which May Save the Reader Money a Dollar Bill.

"Silk hats? Yes, every body, almost, is getting to wear a silk occasionally, not exactly. It is the cheapest hat a man can wear, any way, so remarked an experienced Nassau street hatter the other day.

"Why, because a silk hat only costs from $5 up, but little more than a first-class Derby or soft felt, and it will outlast three of either. You can get a silk hat that will last a full season if it is not matted or wet by some accident, and at the end of that time will retain a fair degree of respectability in appearance. A silk hat never fades, but constant exposure to rain and dust will in time dim its luster. That, however, is easily repaired by washing and ironing.

If the frame is broken, of course the hat must be 'blocked.' Ironing and blocking are different matters. Those Showing That Protection Does Not Benefit Laborers.
Charles H. Lawrence, whose address is 64 DeForest street, Washington, D. C., and who is evidently interested in the tariff question, in a letter in which he presents the arguments addressed by Messrs. E. P. Allie and John Jarrett in support of high tariff, states: "Will these gentlemen not kindly prove to us that a protective tariff protects the workingmen?" He holds that protection does not protect labor and he draws his conclusions in this matter from facts and figures presented by the census reports compiled carefully by the Government.

He presents the following table which shows that notwithstanding the

(Hearings Weekly.)
The tariff is a protection to the laboring men and women employed in the manufacture of woolen clothes are protected (2) by an average tariff of 66 per cent, there has been a constant falling off in the number of cotton mills and the number of capital invested in this industry:

Establishments	1870	1880	1890
Total	1,000	800	600
Capital invested	$100,000,000	$80,000,000	$60,000,000
Wages paid	$10,000,000	$8,000,000	$6,000,000
Profit	$10,000,000	$8,000,000	$6,000,000
Dividends	$10,000,000	$8,000,000	$6,000,000

The figures presented, and they are authentic, prove that during the last years from 1870 and 1880 one hundred of the former factory owners have been crowded out of the ranks of the self-employed into the ranks of wage-workers, or hirelings, and the employed capital has decreased by three and three-quarter millions of dollars. During this same period the population of the country increased 25 per cent, while the number of hands employed only increased 8 per cent. The number of spindles have decreased by more than one million and the wages have decreased $3 per year per person employed.

In 1870 $28,677,676 were paid in wages to 30,000 operatives; but in 1880, just two years later, 86,000 operatives were employed to produce but $25,000,000 in wages—more than one million dollars less, while the number of operatives had been increased by more than 50,000 and at the same time the value of this product had increased one million dollars. That is to say, while the manufacturers received as a result of the tariff one million dollars more for the product of their looms and spindles, the operatives of the looms and spindles have had their wages reduced more than a million dollars in the aggregate, or about $28 per head. What in this case is protected by the tariff?—Milwaukee Labor Review.

A LOOK AT THE PAST.

The close intimacy between High Tariffs and Hard Times.
Let us turn over a few pages in this book and see: The country was made prohibitory and commerce with the world was shut off, just as the Chicago platform contemplates. There was a famine of goods and a collapse; there were ruin and disaster everywhere. In 1869 the prohibitory tariff was repealed, and a tariff about as high as was at present was enacted. What followed?

You may tell me:
The Nation again hovered on the edge of disaster. In 1871 the tariff of 1869 was doubled, and the war cut off imports and exports; and we had "a home market," as in 1868. What was the result?

I never read that part of history. Hard times prevailed, banks suspended and there was distress everywhere. In 1876 the protection doctors took a hand and the country was patient by framing the first "protective tariff," raising the taxes some what higher than in 1872. What do you suppose followed?

Better times.
They grew worse; there was still greater depression of trade. In 1892 the doctors gave the patient another dose of "protection," raising the tariff tax all around, and what then? I am sure I do not know.
The year of 1893 was one of universal disaster. The country moved slowly and laboriously. In 1894 a tariff was put on, and there was no improvement. In 1898 a still higher tariff was put on, and the country changed doctors, and a part of the tariff tax was wiped out. What followed?

Go on and tell me.

TARIFF AND WAGES

Speaker Carlisle Discusses Topic of the Day.

Why Tariff Returns Would in No Way Injure American Industries—The Dangers of a Treasury Surplus and Excessive Taxation.

Speaker Carlisle was for the seventh time renominated for Congress at Covington, Ky., the other day. After thanking his constituents for the honor conferred upon him, he spoke thus about the effect of tariff on wages, the Treasury surplus and kindred matters:

MR. CHAIRMAN AND GENTLEMEN OF THE CONVENTION: I scarcely know in what terms to thank the Democracy of this district for its action to-day. Twelve years ago I was nominated for Congress by the Democracy of this district. The Democracy of this district have chosen me six times in succession to represent them in the House of Representatives.

I accept your nomination and shall endeavor to meet as many of you as possible. I am sure that the great responsibilities at Washington prevent me from giving much attention to my own district. I not only accept your nomination, gentlemen, but I endorse the resolutions you have just adopted, and that part of them that relates to me personally. [Applause.]

The great question before this country is the question of Federal taxation. It is not a little difference whether I am elected to Congress or not, but it is of overwhelming importance to the people that the House of Representatives should be democratic [applause], and that the next President should be a Democrat also. [Cheers.]

The two political parties have nominated called upon next November to decide between them. The Republican party has a man who has been a member of the House for 20 years, a respectable lawyer of Indiana for President, and for Vice President Levi F. Morton, a very rich banker of Wall street. The Democratic party has a man who has been a member of the House for 20 years, a respectable lawyer and tried, the income tax man who has brought the Administration back to the ways of the constitution and the faithful administration of the law. [Cheers. With him they have associated Mr. Thurman (cheers), for many years representative of our Western Democracy in the Senate.]

But it is not gentlemen, my purport is to make speech. Many of you want to know how I feel about the importance of the question which is now presented to you. Many of you are anxious for your duty. I want to call your attention, though, to the overwhelming importance of the question which is now presented to you.

you on the fact that at last after long years of struggle, we have got question fairly and squarely before the people. The Democratic platform that annexation is unjust taxation; and by declaration the Democratic party is against it. The Democratic candidate Cleveland was inaugurated on the 4th of March, 1885, he found on the books laws passed by Republican Congresses, and with the Democratic party were collected from the people $100,000,000 in excess of the necessities of the Government. He found a large surplus accumulation of the assets of the Government, and all the public debt in control of the Government, except about $190,000,000 of bond, had been paid. What was the result? He found the country struggling in the House of Representatives to secure a reduction of this enormous burden on the people, and have proposed a plan to reduce the national money warren's accumulation in the Treasury to such an extent as to place all the business enterprises of the country under a single rule, and bring under a single discipline upon the business of the country.

We are not all agreeable in these laws, but we felt, as the representatives of the American people, that we were bound to stand upon the side of the people, and we were at least to see if it could not be remedied. We failed. The money was accumulating in the Treasury at the rate of $10,000,000 per month, and the country was suffering.

At the time the Secretary of the Treasury told me just before I left the City of Washington that the surplus of the money collected during the first fifteen months of the war was $100,000,000. The expenses of the Government, was $10,000,000. At the rate of several hundred millions of dollars every day and night, the Government was expending money. The need in their business, is being poured into the public Treasury where it is not wanted. [Cheers.]

To relieve the Treasury of this surness of the country the Administration compelled to purchase the outstanding bonds of the Government at an enormous premium.

The price of these bonds have been advanced at a premium on the 4 per cent of so to $20 on the dollar, and on the 4½ and 5c, so that the bondholders are receiving some unfortunate compensation, and the revenue has consequently been left, from the people millions and millions of dollars in excess of the amount which was required by the Government.

Harrison, in his recent letter of advice, says that this process should continue and the money should continue to be used in the same manner.

The former Secretary of the Treasury, taking exactly the same grounds, and even in a harsh manner the action of the Administration in increasing the debt of the country, and the national banks it can be loaned to the people and into the channels of trade. The record the department will sustain the statement.

The Treasury had at one time in the National bank more money than the Administration has to-day in the National banks of the United States. [Cheers.]

Now, the great question you are asking is whether this system of taxation shall be continued indefinitely, or whether it shall be continued for a limited period before the war. For the first time in the history of this country, so far as the Republican party is concerned, the issue of its platform is in favor of the repeal by increasing the taxes, the applause and laughter.] It declares it does it necessary to reduce the revenue tax on the whole country, and as can be made here, and if that is sufficient it will repeal the whole revenue tax on whisky rather than the whole revenue tax on the whole country. This proposition is put forth upon the ground that the people of this country cannot stand individuality and collectivism.

posting was a man can make well said that a man can make money by picking his pocket as to say more to his wealth by imposing himself. [Applause.]

In addition to the facts that this of taxation is imposing enormous necessary burdges ~~on~~ the people has accumulated in the Treasury sums of money which ought to be hands of those who earn it by the and skill, it is the parent of trust and combination and conspiracy to control and prices of the necessary articles the people are compelled to use.

See Mr. Blaine, who seems to be the voice of the Republican party, labor countries of Europe. This testimony of a Republican Senator given in the United States Senate after a public hearing on the subject of the things which the farmer is compelled to buy and sell as cheap here as Europe. No. You are enticed up every one of you by the fact that the average tax is 47-47 1/2 per cent on the rest the manufacturer has the opportunity to add the same percentage to his prices, and in many cases, in the interest of American industry to promote the good of the people, because they say that must encourage these laborers as possible.

Why, my farmer friend, if you should retain some from the store with a view to making a little for yourself and your family with the proceeds of the sale of your crop, and some man met you on the public highway and declared that he would take the money from you and burn them on the ground, you might be likely to protest, and to want to know the reason. You would be astonished at the number of people who are interested in public benefaction. I intend to do this for the interests of American labor and agriculture, because if I destroy these great factors your family must have you will be obliged to buy more goods overseas—more crops to buy these goods overseas—and the manufacturers who made them will be required to employ more labor here. This man, "to promote the interests of American labor and American industry. I am a protectionist!" Applause.

This is a beautiful illustration of the principle underlies this system of taxation. No man objects to a rate of taxation whether it be by the general Government or State or municipal government, so long as he can get some advantage from it. He wants to defray all proper and legitimate expense of public administration; but what the tax drummer has taken from him is not his own money—it is other people's money to accomplish this purpose he should and cheroots, but it will repeal no paper tax in the duty upon the articles I have mentioned. We will not touch the tobacco tax, but we will touch that platform. [Cries of "No!"] You rather have cheap clothing and agricultural implements than cheap wine and whisky. We will touch the wine and whisky, and family and yourself should have cheaper wine and whisky. We will touch the tobacco tax, and better clothing and agricultural implements, and these elements and medicine and books, and tobacco, and cheaper and better clothing, and better food, and better shelter, and better material to supply the homes than cheap whisky or beer or bacot.

Mr. Harrison says they will repeal the protection system and do away with the internal revenue taxes rather than the protection system or any part of it. It is very absurd, but the time will come when the people will be compelled to choose between the repeal of the internal revenue tax and the destruction of duties on imported goods. I need not say that I am not in favor of the repeal of the internal revenue tax as one need not be repented. He would rather

Mr. Cleveland [cheers] in his letter of acceptance puts the case on this point. He says that the duty on foreign goods is a relief this will afford to the plain, old people of the land. How many of you, gentlemen, who are in the habit of purchasing foreign goods, are in the habit of foreign production, the kind which are not produced in this country? A very few of you. Yet there are a great many of you who are in the habit of purchasing goods off the tax—the goods which are produced abroad and which are also produced here, the tax to remember that, you who use large quantities of goods which are produced here, so that, while the only tax to come on goods imports is the tax on these goods which are not produced here and imported here, the goods which are produced here not kept my word very well. [Cries of "Go ahead." It is true.

THE AWFUL FEVER

Ravages the Town of Enterprise, Florida.

Twenty cases and several deaths from Black Vomil—Both of its Physicians.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 24.—The rumor which prevailed at noon today regarding yellow fever at Enterprise is fully substantiated this evening by the receipt of a letter by Dr. Foster, of the Medical Bureau, from Dr. King, of Orange County, Fla.

The doctor says that twenty cases of fever, all fatal, at Enterprise, and several deaths from black vomil, the latest victim being Rev. Mr. Bennett, of Enterprise. Both the doctors of Enterprise are down, and there are half a dozen cases and treatment among them.

Misses Bradley and Yerdell and several children. The situation there is described as deplorable in the extreme. Both at Enterprise and Sanford, there are no blackberries, mercury or other disinfectants, and the physicians are as quick as possible. Sanford, which is located in the heart of the country, is a town of eight miles wide at that point.

Sanford is an armed camp of mounted men, and the town is a scene of confusion. The late, yellow fever, which is now in the town, is a most terrible disease, and it is thought here that a great deal of suffering will ensue, especially if the disease becomes epidemic in the town.

AND HIS SHORTAGE AMOUNTS TO FOUR HUNDRED AND FORTY THOUSAND DOLLARS—A THEORY OF INSOLVENCY.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 25.—Thomas A. Axworthy, the defuncting city treasurer, has not been heard from for six or seven months, and it is believed that he is in Belgium. No one here credits the rumor that he is still in Canada. The amount of his defalcation is $460,000, and it is believed that at least two city officers were aware that he was doing so.

A. P. Conkey, Axworthy's secretary, who went to New York to find him, when asked what he thought of the rumor that Tom Axworthy had been discovered in Canada, replied: "I don't know where he is, but I don't believe he is in Canada. He is in Belgium, and he is a very smart fellow. He is a very smart fellow, and he is a very smart fellow."

It is possible that such a thing might have happened him.

THE COMMONWEALTH.

ALBION GOSWOLD, dealer in late tobacco and general merchandise at Beda, failed on the 25th. His liabilities will foot up $8,000.

PROBATIONERS in New England have steadily increased during the last five years. Since 1883 the number of churches has increased from eighteen to thirty-one, and the membership from 2,475 to 4,598.

The Romanists have less than 7,000 church edifices in the United States; the Baptists nearly 41,000; the Congregationalists, 4,000; Presbyterians, 15,000; the Protestant Episcopalians, 4,500; and the Methodists, 47,000.

The Yale nephews have declared against being they are entitled to commendation. Although the practice of hazing has disappeared from most American colleges, its modern prototype, "hazing," still lingers.

It is reported that the English church establishment receives yearly in this amount $20

OF New York.
Allen C. Thurman,
OF Ohio.
FOR CONGRESS:
John C. Carlisle.
Public Speaking.
Hon. M. D. Gray, of Williamstown, will speak in Burlington at 1 o'clock p. m., Saturday, November
3, 1888, in the interest of Cleveland,
Thurman and Carlisle. Everybody invited.
Democrats don't stay at home
next Tuesday, but go to your voting places and cast your votes for Cleveland, Thurman and Carlisle.
NEXT Tuesday the voters of this district will be called upon to select their representative in Congress for two years from the fourth of next March.
For their candidate the Democrats have a most distinguished and able gentleman; one who has been a faithful servant of the people from a seat in the Lower House of the Kentucky Legislature to the high and responsible position of Speaker of the National House of Representatives.
For nearly twelve years has Mr.
Carlisle represented this district in Congress, and notwithstanding he has almost constantly occupied positions out of which Congressmen less scrupulous and conscientious would have amassed large fortunes,
his official integrity is today unquestioned by his opponents who have kept a vigilant watch upon him that they might bring him in to disrepute with the yeomanry calling him to a place of trust and honor. Amid all the powerful and corrupting influences that concentrate at the National Capital, Mr.
Carlisle has and will continue in the path of political rectitude so long as his people continue him in Congress.
The accusations it is now sought to bring to bear against Mr. Carlisle are the same used twelve years ago,
and six consecutive times since they were first circulated, have the people of this district elected him.
Six times have these charges been stamped with disapproval, and yet
the voters are now called upon to give them sufficient weight to influence their suffrage. This they have repeatedly refused to do and at the coming election they will again refuse.
The Republicans have persuaded
themselves that they can defeat Mr.
Carlisle with Mr. Robt. Hamilton of Covington, and with that end in view, they have had every county in the district visited by agents
from Covington, whose business it was to organize and entice their party, that the entire force can be mustered at the polls next Tuesday.
They build up the hope of the Republicans in the country by telling them that Campbell county and the city of Covington will so overwhelm
Carlisle that if the entire Republican vote in back counties is polled,
it will be impossible for the Democratic majority in the country to overcome Mr. Hamilton's in Campbell county and Covington.
We believe they are reckoning beyond their strength.
The Sixth District of Kentucky
now wields an influence in Congress
that will be surrendered the instant
she allows her present representative to retire, and no matter what amount of ability his successor may have, it will require a considerable term of service to equip him for the positions in which Mr. Carlisle has been tried and found not wanting. It is not probable that the voters of the district can be induced to forsake the man who has no peer in this broad land; a man whose official integrity and fairness has gained for him the admiration of all political parties; a man whose entire political efforts have been in the interest of the many as against the few who are seeking to environ themselves with the wealth and control of this great country by oppressing those in the humble walks of life.
This is Presidential year, and those who anticipate that the Democrats can be bought to an extent that will defeat their candidate for Congress will be mistaken, but there is no doubt but considerable money will be spent in behalf of Mr. Hamilton. His party is organized and ready for the work.

The following shows the vote received in each Congressional election since he was first nominated by the Democrats:

Carlisle	1876	1660
Landrum		292
Majority		1368
Carlisle	1878	578
Hermes		52
Majority		544
Carlisle	1880	1678
Booke		67
Majority		1242
Carlisle	1882	675
Booke		4
Majority		671
Carlisle	1884	1653
Landrum		494
Majority		1159
Carlisle	1886	567
Thoburn		35
Majority		532

It appears that in off years Carlisle has invariably polled a small vote in this county, while on Presidential years his vote has varied but little. Owing to the fight being made for Mr. Hamilton the Democrats of Boone ought to increase Mr.
Carlisle's vote largely over that cast at former Presidential elections. If they do not, his majority will be reduced in this county.

At no time has there been the slightest misunderstanding between the President and the party managers in New York. Stories to the contrary have been circulated, but they are mere figments of diseased
Republican imaginations. Mr.
Cleveland has great confidence in the National Committee, and has not desired to dictate its course or interfere with its work. Whenever suggestions or advice have come to him from other quarters he has immediately communicated the facts to the committee, and left that organization free to act as it saw fit in the premises. In a word there is perfect understanding and co-operation between the President and the other leaders as there should be.
The confidence between them is mutual. There are many points on which Mr. Cleveland likes to get light and get advice from the men
at headquarters, and others upon which they are glad in turn to get the benefit of Mr. Cleveland's sound judgment.—N. Y. Sun.

Speaking of Senator Beck, Gen.
Morgan said: "Would to God that he were here. When the soul of that man passes away, as it was feared at one time during his recent illness that it would, the country will find that it could spare many men better than it could that advised Scotchman, who came to us a boy. He has the interest of the Nation at heart. He is thoroughly
Democratic in his views, and no man believes more strongly than he that the Constitution gives to every one the right to rise by his own abilities. He now fears because he is unable to take a hand in the great battle of the people against the monopolists. What he said in his view on the tariff would be believed by the people of the country until it was proved conclusively that he had been mistaken.
The most ludicrous spectacle of the campaign is Senator Sherman trying to justify his placing in pet banks nearly $300,000 of U. S. funds and censuring Secretary Fairchild
for following his example to the extent of the modest little sum of $80,
000,000. Sherman put $200,000,000 in a single bank. The law under which Secretary Fairchild is acting is the offspring of a Republican congress and President, and that party is not satisfied because they see an opportunity to present the bondholders with another handsome percent, in buying bonds not yet
due at 25 or 30 per cent. premium.
The Centennial Exposition in Cincinnati is still in session, it having been extended ten days from last Saturday. Financially the exposition has not been a success, but it has drawn a vast amount of money into Cincinnati that naturally and properly belonged to the country merchants. But such a result is expected, and is one of the principal considerations in getting up such attractions in the large cities.
The guarantee fund will have to be assessed pretty heavily that the expenses may be met.
In Cincinnati last Thursday Mr.
Carlisle exposed Mr. Blaine's ignorance as to both the law and facts
controlling the depositing of Government funds in the National Banks throughout the country. Mr. Blaine and others of his party are saying many things solely to attract attention from the tariff reform issue.
Senator Sherman estimates the surplus in the Federal Treasury at $232,000,000, but when it is remembered that he says President Cleveland's salary has been increased from $25,000 to $50,000 per annum, one becomes altogether skeptical in regard to statements made by him.

Senator Sherman's political notions run counter to the National Republican platform on the whisky question. He says: "I would not take the tax off of whisky and beer because it does great good by bringing happiness and peace to many homes in curtailing the sale and thereby enforcing abstinence." Mr.
Sherman is a complete contradiction of the platform on which his party is making the present fight.
The manufacturers who are in favor of a high tariff, and tell their laborers that it keeps wages up, should explain to those men why their wages are so often cut down, or why they are locked out to force them to labor for less wages, while they are told that high tariff secures to them good pay. If the manufacturers honestly believed that a high tariff made high wages they would be the fellows occupying the front seats at the tariff reform meetings.
Or the decision of the Court sustaining Samuel J. Tilden's will, the Philadelphia Record says:
"The whole country will be gratified with the decision of the New York court sustaining the validity of Mr. Tilden's will. The foundation of a great Free Liberty was, perhaps, the best possible use to which Mr. Tilden could have devoted his wealth. It will be the means of storing up the intellectual harvest of the whole world for the benefit of whomever shall hunger for it. A nobler monument to a great man's memory could hardly be conceived of."
Trusts are obnoxious in Tennessee, and a rural grand jury proposed to ascertain whether or not "they are private affairs" that cannot be regulated; and to that end five men in Anderson county have been indicted. The indictment charges the defendants with unlawfully agreeing and conspiring to buy up all the lagging in the market and the output of the mill for several months and advancing the prices to double what they were before. Requisition papers will be issued for the parties who reside in St. Louis. It is not stated whether Mr. Blaine will be called upon to defend this trust or not.
The great political campaign is drawing to a close. For the first time in years it has been a campaign that appeals to the intelligence and not the prejudices of the voters. That this is true is due to the Democratic President who recognizes that the prosperity of this country depends upon the position of living industry and not upon the rekindling of sectional prejudices and animosities which have furnished campaign material for the last quarter of a century.
The campaign orator whose only stock is the ensanguined garment is not in demand. The people do not give him a respectable hearing, but rather pity him.
The publication of the Murchison West correspondence is not creating the Irish stampede to Mr. Harrison that was expected, and not which it was intended. The Irish voters of this country can not be driven from one political party to another by such tricks. They are too familiar with the tricks of American politicians when they become desperate. President Cleveland's official record is testimony which will go much further with them than any thing which can be obtained from Minister West under false pretences. It is generally agreed that the Minister had no business to dip his spoon into the American political dish, and it will result in his being recalled. The fraud who thought he was playing a trick when he betrayed the English Minister, will see his mistake when it is too late to make amends.

Important to Buyers of
BOOTS AND SHOES.
I have removed the Stock of Boots & Shoes from Carrollton, Ky., back to Rising Sun, consequently I am GREATLY OVER-STOCKED.
It would be useless for me to give a description of it, as my Kentucky patrons know what kind of a stock I keep, but this I wish to say that right now in the beginning of the season, I am going to CUT PRICES ON ALL LINES.
Leather has raised in price in the last month, but I have the LARGEST STOCK.
I ever had in the store. They must be cleaned out and you can depend on it. If you can find the goods to suit, THE PRICES WILL BE MADE RIGHT.
We mean business and your are respectfully invited to come and examine Stock and Prices. Special low prices on Twenty Cases of Men and Boys Grain Boots.
Reduction on Domestic & French Kip Boots and in all Lines.
COME AND SEE ME. RESPECTFULLY,
J. Q. DAVIS,

THE SENATORIAL RACE.
At a meeting of the Democratic Committee of the 23rd Senatorial District of Kentucky, held at Sparks, Ky., on the 18th day of October, 1888, for the purpose of fixing time, place and manner of electing a candidate, the following resolutions were adopted:
Resolved, That the Democratic committee of the 23rd Senatorial District for State Senator of this district, thereby being present, Wm. Lindsey, of Owen;
J. H. McDaniel, of Gallatin and J. M.
Lansing, of Boone.
On motion Wm. Lindsey was selected chairman, and J. H. McDaniel, secretary. The following resolutions were adopted:
Resolved, That a primary election shall be held in the several counties comprising the district on Saturday, 6th day of April, 1889, from 8 o'clock a. m. to 6 o'clock p. m.
That each county committee shall appoint two judges and one clerk in each precinct as nearly as possible from the friends of each candidate, the clerk to vote on all questions when the judges disagree.
That a meeting of each county committee shall be held, on Tuesday, the 9th day of April, 1889, to count the votes of each precinct, and to elect the chairman of the District Committee, who shall then declare the party receiving the largest vote, the nominee.
The voting shall be free and open.
All Democrats of legal age and who intend, in good faith, to support the nominee, shall be entitled to vote.
All Democratic papers in the district are requested to publish these proceedings.

Public Speaking.
Hon. M. D. Gray, of Williams-
town, will speak in Burlington at 1 o'clock p. m., Saturday, November
3, 1888, in the interest of Cleveland,
Thurman and Carlisle. Everybody invited.
Democrats don't stay at home
next Tuesday, but go to your voting places and cast your votes for Cleveland, Thurman and Carlisle.
NEXT Tuesday the voters of this district will be called upon to select their representative in Congress for two years from the fourth of next March.
For their candidate the Democrats have a most distinguished and able gentleman; one who has been a faithful servant of the people from a seat in the Lower House of the Kentucky Legislature to the high
and responsible position of Speaker of the National House of Representatives.
For nearly twelve years has Mr.
Carlisle represented this district in Congress, and notwithstanding he has almost constantly occupied positions out of which Congressmen
less scrupulous and conscientious
would have amassed large fortunes,
his official integrity is today unquestioned by his opponents who have kept a vigilant watch upon him that they might bring him in
to disrepute with the yeomanry
calling him to a place of trust and honor. Amid all the powerful and corrupting influences that concentrate at the National Capital, Mr.
Carlisle has and will continue in the path of political rectitude so long as his people continue him in Congress.
The accusations it is now sought
to bring to bear against Mr. Carlisle
are the same used twelve years ago,
and six consecutive times since they were first circulated, have the people of this district elected him.
Six times have these charges been stamped with disapproval, and yet
the voters are now called upon to give them sufficient weight to influence their suffrage. This they have repeatedly refused to do and at the coming election they will again refuse.
The Republicans have persuaded
themselves that they can defeat Mr.
Carlisle with Mr. Robt. Hamilton
of Covington, and with that end in view, they have had every county
in the district visited by agents
from Covington, whose business it was to organize and entice their party, that the entire force can be mustered at the polls next Tuesday.
They build up the hope of the Republicans in the country by telling them that Campbell county and the city of Covington will so overwhelm
Carlisle that if the entire Republican vote in back counties is polled,
it will be impossible for the Democratic majority in the country to overcome Mr. Hamilton's in
Campbell county and Covington.
We believe they are reckoning beyond their strength.
The Sixth District of Kentucky
now wields an influence in Congress
that will be surrendered the instant
she allows her present representative
to retire, and no matter what amount of ability his successor may have, it will require a considerable
term of service to equip him for the positions in which Mr. Carlisle has been tried and found not wanting. It is not probable that the voters of the district can be induced to forsake the man who has no peer
in this broad land; a man whose official integrity and fairness has gained for him the admiration of all political parties; a man whose entire political efforts have been in the interest of the many as against
the few who are seeking to environ
themselves with the wealth and control of this great country by oppressing those in the humble walks
of life.
This is Presidential year, and those who anticipate that the Democrats can be bought to an extent
that will defeat their candidate for Congress will be mistaken, but there is no doubt but considerable

money will be spent in behalf of Mr. Hamilton. His party is organized and ready for the work.
The following shows the vote received in each Congressional election
since he was first nominated by the Democrats:

Carlisle	1876	1660
Landrum		292
Majority		1368
Carlisle	1878	578
Hermes		52
Majority		544
Carlisle	1880	1678

Carlisle	1882	675
Booke		4

Carlisle	1884	1653
Landrum		494

Carlisle	1886	567
Thoburn		35

It appears that in off years Carlisle has invariably polled a small vote in this county, while on Presidential years his vote has varied
but little. Owing to the fight being made for Mr. Hamilton the Democrats of Boone ought to increase Mr.
Carlisle's vote largely over that cast
at former Presidential elections. If they do not, his majority will be reduced in this county.

At no time has there been the slightest misunderstanding between
the President and the party managers in New York. Stories to the contrary have been circulated, but they are mere figments of diseased
Republican imaginations. Mr.
Cleveland has great confidence in the National Committee, and has not desired to dictate its course or interfere with its work. Whenever suggestions or advice have come to him from other quarters he has immediately communicated the facts
to the committee, and left that organization free to act as it saw fit in the premises. In a word there is perfect understanding and co-operation between the President and the other leaders as there should be.
The confidence between them is mutual. There are many points on which Mr. Cleveland likes to get light and get advice from the men
at headquarters, and others upon which they are glad in turn to get the benefit of Mr. Cleveland's sound
judgment.—N. Y. Sun.

Speaking of Senator Beck, Gen.
Morgan said: "Would to God that he were here. When the soul of that man passes away, as it was feared at one time during his recent illness that it would, the country will find that it could spare
many men better than it could that advised Scotchman, who came to us a boy. He has the interest of the Nation at heart. He is thoroughly
Democratic in his views, and no
man believes more strongly than he
that the Constitution gives to every one the right to rise by his own abilities. He now fears because he is unable to take a hand in the great battle of the people against the monopolists. What he said in his view on the tariff would be believed by the people of the country until it was proved conclusively that he had been mistaken.
The most ludicrous spectacle of
the campaign is Senator Sherman
trying to justify his placing in pet
banks nearly $300,000 of U. S. funds
and censuring Secretary Fairchild
for following his example to the extent of the modest little sum of $80,
000,000. Sherman put $200,000,000 in a single bank. The law under which Secretary Fairchild is acting
is the offspring of a Republican congress and President, and that party
is not satisfied because they see an opportunity to present the bondholders with another handsome
percent, in buying bonds not yet
due at 25 or 30 per cent. premium.
The Centennial Exposition in Cincinnati is still in session, it having been extended ten days from last Saturday. Financially the exposition has not been a success, but it has drawn a vast amount of money
into Cincinnati that naturally
and properly belonged to the country merchants. But such a result is expected, and is one of the principal considerations in getting up
such attractions in the large cities.
The guarantee fund will have to be assessed pretty heavily that the expenses may be met.
In Cincinnati last Thursday Mr.
Carlisle exposed Mr. Blaine's ignorance as to both the law and facts
controlling the depositing of Government funds in the National Banks
throughout the country. Mr. Blaine
and others of his party are saying
many things solely to attract attention from the tariff reform issue.
Senator Sherman estimates the surplus in the Federal Treasury at $232,000,000, but when it is remembered that he says President Cleveland's salary has been increased from $25,000 to $50,000 per annum,
one becomes altogether skeptical in regard to statements made by him.

1862 the war was over. The Democrats had returned home to vote. What was the result? It was an off-year, but the Democrats gained 2,307 of the Presidential vote, while the Republicans lost 80,501, showing that the bulk of the soldiers' vote had gone to the Democrats.

At the close of the war found the Democrats vote 155,674 short of the vote of 1860, and the Republicans 287,817 greater than normal increase.

The Republican vote showed a normal and ordinary increase over the corresponding election of 1863. The Democratic vote showed an extraordinary and abnormal increase. The Democrats "boys in blue" — what were some of them — had come home. No wonder that they were voting Republican.

But they had left out the soldiers' vote, and they no longer were in a position to elect a President.

They plotted for it. And they ran and never will forgive the loss of the loyal Democratic masses who stood under the lead of Stephen A. Douglas, in the fight they called the Democratic Revolution. And they did the voting and stealing, and the acts of history make them insane. — R. F. World.

A Government which constantly takes a much larger revenue than it needs for an efficient administration and then embarks on lavish expenditures for the sake of spending the surplus—that Government is in a bad way. Such a practice, so continued, will produce a carnival of recalcitancy in our public affairs and with which the Tweed record in New York will appear like innocence and virtue. Such a policy will destroy the dignity of a yeomanry and the moral ruin of the whole.—Car Schurz.

If this market is not covered by any articles by a high Government tax, American manufacturers of such manufacture enough of such particular article at a reasonable price to supply the home demand, and use the consumer or his agents, or wholesale merchants, would send out for it.

If the tax is high enough to be "protective"—that is, to check or prevent importation, the home manufacturer will not supply the demand. It will even form "trusts" and shut out competitors to prevent the demand from being supplied. This makes the tax high and adds the amount of the tax to the price of articles made in the country.

There are very few exceptions to this rule, and where they exist at all it is in industries which have not been so yet to combine and avail themselves of the privilege of adding their

Judge Thurman's letter of acceptance is brief but to the point. He compliments the Administration President Cleveland and denounces the tariff. He says that he has no idea that a people can be enriched by heavy taxation, or that the Government has interest to amass an idle surplus in the Treasury. The object of the Democratic policy is to give the people cheap clothing, cheap tools and cheap lumber. As to the cheap labor matter, he says that "the great majority of the laborers in America are not engaged in the work that is called protected industry." And "those who are employed in such industries are not benefited by the Mills bill far except the difference between American and foreign wages, and, therefore, if it were admitted that working-men could be protected by tariffs they would be protected more than protected by the Mills bill."

There have been several cases of typhoid fever in the lower end of this and the upper end of Gallatin county this fall. Among those who died of the disease were Jesse Wilson and one of Vincent Ross' sons.

Prof. Newton presented us a copy of the proceedings of the Kentucky county Teachers' Institute, with the complimentary address of County Superintendent H. P. Stephens. From the proceedings we judge that the Institute was a very interesting and profitable meeting.

The Executive Board of North Bend Association will meet at East Bend Church, Friday, November 9th, at 10 a. m. It is very desirable that all members attend, and after a nice chase the fox was picked up by the dogs in a fair race.

J. H. Fullilove, Sec. Ex. Bd.

Perry Clark's dog went out one day last week and captured a fox after having warmed the wax in its ears for some time. Several parties who saw the dogs catch the fox cut its feet off and tried then to destroy it to deny their owner their achievements.

The sixty and one-half acres of land at the first village on the Bullittville and Owen pike, owned by Fielding Brown, sold at auction on Monday, to L. E. Cline, for $3,051. The twenty-two and one-half acres on the Bullittville and Dry Creek turnpike, belonging to T. J. McNeal, was knocked off to George W. Brown at $35 per acre.

On the last day of drawing to a close, and this locality year of crops, have not been crowned with an abundance of success. There yet remains nearly two months in which to exercise your prerogatives, and material in this season is numerous. Clear up your year's efforts, for four years is a long time to have to wait for a recurrence of your present privileges.

Hon. M. D. Gray, of Grant county, delivered a political speech in Morgan Academy last Saturday afternoon. His audience was small, but what he lacked in number was supplied in strength. Mr. Gray was relieved from a stupor by his voice and body was evidence of the arduous labor in which he had been engaged. The night before he addressed a political gathering at Petersburg.

A goodly number from here attended the entertainment at Burlington last Saturday night, and of course enjoyed it immensely.

Sam Hiley, of Big Bone, was looking after his interest here last Saturday night. He was so entertained that he did not know a pike from a mud road.

We have a splendid school at this place. It is well attended and much interest manifested by the pupils and patrons. This is complimentary to the teacher.

Owen Galles and Lee Cropper arrived home from Mo., and Kansas last Thursday. They are glowing accounts in which they frequently found themselves, brought the home down.

On next Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights the company will present "Michael Earl or the Manic Lover," to be followed by laughable character songs and farces.

"Michael Earl" is a sensational drama, and is so far the three above mentioned that we are warranted in saying that those who witness it will be highly pleased.

NOTES.
Clarence Kirk acquitted himself admirably as Capt. Hunter.

John Laessle's makeup as the dutch infant was immense—literally.

"Standing room only" should have been displayed early Saturday evening.

Miss Ora Conner as mother Cry proved herself a wonderful phenomenon.

Joe Reed looked mean enough to steal an innocent babe and then throw it into the sea.

Elbert and Miss Lule Riley's Irish courtship was quite instructive for some of the ladies and lasses.

Ev Foster as Sam, a colored man, kept the audience in a uproar all the time he was on the stage.

Some of the audience differed their heads and necks while one young man blew off a part of his upper lip and dislocated two front teeth with his shrill whistle.

When the curtain went down for the last time Saturday night in "Among the Breakers," the stage was literally covered with waving banners with the following beautiful designs:

Miss Pearl Gales as Miss Starbright, and Mrs. Elbert Riley as Miss Dargah (Perry Cropper) in a predicament, experienced, no doubt by some in the audience.

Two elegant wagons returning from the West, passed through town Monday morning. Some of the men with the wagons said that the political processions were so thick in Indiana that they like never to have gotten across the State.

FOOD AND STRENGTH.
Men Who Perform Prodigious Feats of Endurance on a Simple Diet.

Keeping in mind of the fact, Henry L. Sherwood, of Astoria, Ore., in the course of conversation with a reporter, said: "Of late years for the last thirty years engaged in the fur business, I have been called upon very frequently to visit China, and have taken a number of trips to that country. I have been obliged to learn a good deal of medicine, and from the works I read concerning the diet of the natives, I have learned a great deal of muscular strength. I studied the matter carefully, and after a long series of observations came to the conclusion that the natives of that country, who are so long as it was not absolutely destitute, had little or nothing to do with physical development and here lies the secret."—"So I was called upon to live for many months among the Indians of the Northwest, especially among the Blackfeet, Flatheads and Gros Ventres."

"With the exception of the latter, who eat a great quantity of fish, these tribes were almost exclusively meat-eaters, and they were very healthy and strong. I never among white men have seen any thing of the same endurance that they displayed. They were never of heavy physique, but they were strong, and they were strong because of their diet."

"With a few pounds of pemican meat dried in the sun, one of the Blackfoot runners would set out on a journey of three hundred miles on a rugged, mountainous country, and would reach his destination in a few days. I was once on a trip of over one hundred miles, and I was strong because of my diet."

FACTS FOR FARMERS.

A correspondent of the Argosy writes: Every one should know that a little colored milk with four or when sprinkled on cucumber or squash will keep them entirely clear of the yellow bug.

According to a correspondent of the Rural New Yorker the cost of raising a three-year-old cow is $15. Such a cow will sell for only a few farm purposes, he says, for $15, thus giving a net profit to the breeder of $66.

Pure butter-fat does not readily undergo decomposition or fermentation of any kind in common with all other fats and oils—but the other ingredients of milk do rapidly change, producing rancidity and sourness.

Farmers who can not make a living on one hundred acres of land better sell off fifty acres and spend the proceeds in improving the remaining fifty. In six years out of ten fifty acres as much improved will return twice as much profit to the owner as one hundred acres of half-improved land.

It is a fact, confirmed by experience, that over the top of a well-manured will return to the surface soil, through its decaying roots, to make plants grow otherwise lost to the soil. As it is removed when the top is cured for hay.

A fact generally conceded that cream should be kept cool and sweet, and that it is crucial for churning, and then all soured or ripened alike from bottom to top, and one hour's exposure to the sun will make it more than twice as much as a premium sample of the cream in all stages of ripening.

Pretty fine snow Monday night. Some very fine weather last week. Have you a turkey for dinner to-morrow?

The frosts and freeze last week were good for the corn.

The bank will be closed to-morrow—Thanksgiving day.

The goose bone is not infallible as has been proven this fall.

The first snowfall of the season was indulged in Tuesday.

The down easterns experienced a very severe blizzard last Sunday.

There will be plenty of material out to make for this winter.

Grant & Leming have moved their brickmaking machinery to Petersburg.

A tramp sleeping by a fire near Walton was fatally burned Monday night.

Only a little more than one month till the new Sheriff takes charge of his office.

Next Monday is County and Quarterly Court. Very little business on either docket.

W. C. Goodridge is the proud father of a bounding boy, and its name is not Ben Harrison.

Mr. Everett Dixon, of Linaburg, is having his residence modernized. W. J. Rice has the contract.

Tobacco buyers have not been canvassing in this part of the county yet. Have had a lot of sales.

Girls, only one month of leap year. You will have to commence hustling, or you will get left.

Hoar that W. J. Rice has purchased a lot in Burlington, and will erect a residence there in the spring.

Julius Snyder, of Florence, died last Saturday night. He had been suffering with consumption for a year or two.

Hunting has been very good this fall, but the kill is not good; at least our local nimrods had poor success in that particular.

Rev. Guthrie, of Muncie, Ind., will preach at the Universalist church the first Sunday morning and evening in December.

Wm. McElasou and Wash Tanner passed through town Saturday afternoon with a large drove of turkeys for the market.

The colored folks had a festival last Saturday night for the benefit of the church at this place. Quite a good sum was realized. Everything passed off very quietly.

Joe Hunt who was serving out a fine of $10 for selling liquor to a minor while keeping a saloon in Florence was released from jail last Sunday, his time expiring that day.

For SALE—Part Cider, warranted to keep at any stage you like it. In small or large barrels. Apply to J. S. BALEY, North Bend, O. (Ky. box). W. M. Baley, agent.

The brick work on the court-house is just about completed. Had there been the usual amount of clear weather the past three months, the building would now be under roof.

The remains of Leonard Gore, of Bellevue, were placed in the vault at this place last Monday about noon. They will be interred in the Odd-Fellows' Cemetery at this place.

A Demo.—No overcoat this season. Some old miter 'I have to do, if I still retain my reason. I'll not be in '92."

NOTICE—Notice is hereby given that my farm is posted, and no one will be allowed to hunt, trap, or otherwise molest the game, and especially is it posted against tobacco thieves.

JOHN H. SMITH.

FOR SALE—One good brood mare, mother of the colts sold in Burlington the first Monday—Price $50, if sold at once. Apply at the farm of the late Cassius Brown near Point Pleasant.

For Sutton and William Stamper, McVine, came before Judge Baker a few days ago and were released from the ferry bond of Mr. Lumpkins for that place, giving as their reason for desiring to be released, the unsafe condition of the ferry.

The sale of the personal property of Henry Byrd, deceased, was well attended last Thursday. Some articles sold very cheap, while others brought good prices. Norman Cole was in demand and sold well. Emma Nixon did the auctioneering act in good style.

When Prof. Newton closed school this (Wednesday) afternoon, he will not take up again until Monday morning next. Miss Nina Arnold, assistant teacher, and the pupils from a nearby school, will go home to spend the Thanksgiving vacation.

NOTICE—As one-half the heirs (to the estate of the late Cassius Brown) namely: Wm. Senour and wife, George Anderson and wife, Charles Scott and wife, have given me a full and true list of their shares of said estate, I hereby publicly thank them for their generosity and shall try to the best of my ability to comply with the terms of the lease. I also thank Mr. Anderson for the correct manner in which he has filled the office of administrator.

Mrs. ALICE BROWN.

His Honor, Judge Tamm. "Murder will out," and so will good jokes. A few evenings since a young fellow who is temporarily sojourning in Burlington, had an engagement to take a young lady who resides in the suburbs, to an entertainment. The night light how dark it could be, but this did not deter our young friend in the least, and at the proper hour he was in a buggy, and after a series of petitions and prayers, driving over logs, stumps and steep banks, the point of destination was reached. Not being in the habit of driving the young man neglected to hitch the horse, but, trusting to the power of the engine, he started, the horse and buggy were sought, and you can imagine the surprise when it was ascertained that they were not in waiting. The paternal family was at once notified of the startling discovery, and arriving, they found a lantern, soon organized and was in command of a searching party that expected every minute to stumble over the mangled remains of a fine buggy. Ironed has come from Philadelphia, and the grass pasture went the excited searching expedition, wading the swollen branches, and ascending and descending steep declivities; and finally coming upon an old house, our hero here it was his buggy, but someone had taken the horse. Being convinced of this error, the search was resumed, and after an hour or so the entire rig was found and nothing had been injured. And when the horse and buggy were recovered it was too late to go to the entertainment.

NEIGHBORHOOD NEWS.

BELEVEUE.

W. M. Baley spent a few days here last week. Miss Maggie Walton, of Florence, is visiting at this place. Last Saturday J. A. Conner, the butcher, left here with a drove of 125 fine turkeys for the market.

We hear that whithered about the result of the late election will lead to several changes in this part of Union County.

We learn that on account of the difficulty in securing the trade in the county here, the Parsons-Baker trade is for the present.

Grandma Grant, who has been quite feeble for sometime is somewhat improved in health—she is now able to walk about the house.

Our weather prognosticator has been interviewed and he says we are now entering winter, and that we are to have heavy snows which will cover the ground most of the winter.

We hear great complaint among the farmers against the number of hunting parties who get together and visit one farm after another with their guns and dogs, and never let up as long as they can get a bird or a squirrel.

The farmers are improving the past weather we have been having the past week in gathering in the corn crop. They find considerable of it injured by excessive rains, and especially so in the low corn, because of the field being so wet. It will be above the average for the past few years. Price, 35c per bu.

It is our painful duty to announce the death of Leonard Gore, one of our best known and leading citizens. This death was caused by an attack of the reign of the heart about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. This was the second attack, the first being about three months ago, from which he had seemingly fully recovered. He was a man of great business for several years, and spent part of the day visiting on customers. His remains were taken to Burlington and deposited in the vault of the cemetery. He was sixty-seven years of age.

UNION.

Mrs. T. L. Utz is lying very ill at her home here.

Miss Lela Cronch spent a few days at this place.

Mrs. John Gibson, of St. Louis Mo., spent the last two weeks with her parents here.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Huey, Jr., attended the Rice-Crook wedding near Warsaw last Wednesday.

There will be Thanksgiving services at the Presbyterian church, Thursday the 26th, at 11 o'clock a.m.

Mrs. Sarah Dickson is the guest of Mr. L. C. Norman in Frankfort, where she will spend the week.

Supt. Rice visited the school here last week, and gave a short address to the pupils, full of good advice.

Mrs. Dora Bannister expects to join her husband in Daisy, Tenn., in a few days, where they will make their future home.

Mrs. Marshall died at the home of her son, Sam Marshall, near this place last Saturday. The remains were interred at Dayton on Monday.

Rev. J. A. Kirtley preached here last Sunday—the first time for several months, having been prevented by ill health from filling his appointment.

R. D. Wade, of near Sherman, this county, while on a visit to his niece in Indian last week, was taken violently ill. He was removed home and died shortly after.

We have in the Courier office a copy of the Bible, printed by the University of Chicago Press, in 1892. It is the property of Mr. T. D. Adams, of Peulden county, near Doudville.

who brought it to us for examination. It is indeed a curiosity as well as a commentary, and those curious of local lore on antiquity should call and see this book, which is 250 years old.

A deaf man named Whitford was struck by a train at Danmoreville Monday morning and instantly killed.

The members of the Baptist church will send a well-filled box to the Orphan Home at Louisville next week.

The disagreeable weather presents the danger of getting the corn and grain damaged by the frost already upon the ground. It is a very serious matter.

If every one were as liberal in promoting the business interests of Farmington as to us in promoting their political principles, our town would soon be on a grand boom of industry and thrift.

GALLATIN COUNTY.

The farmers are very busy stripping their tobacco crop and it is exhibiting a fine texture and better color than has anticipated. The crop generally in the county is a very good one, and year in point of quality, and the production exceeds any one year heretofore.

Capt. Moses N. Webster will deliver a series of lectures on Ancient History and Scientific subjects at the various school-houses in this county, Grant, Owen, Boone and Pendleton counties during the winter season. He will begin his first lecture at Sugar Creek school-house to-morrow night, and will follow with appointments at Napoleon and Hogan's school-house. No admission fee will be charged. A full attendance is requested at all the places.

News from the farm of near Sparta, made a sale of four hogsheads of tobacco of this year's crop on the Louisville market at reasonably good figures, it averaging $12 per cwt, after the shipping expenses were paid. The crop was fairly setting and was raised on hill land.

KISSING THE FAIR.

Dear When Mrs. West Was Fast in the Ocean.

The communication of congenial souls by a certain one of those ancient and modern poets, is a very old invention. It is a certain that Nature was its author, and it began with the first creature. There is an old rhyme which says:

But some really "What love would dance" is the cause of it. It is a very old invention. It is a certain that Nature was its author, and it began with the first creature. There is an old rhyme which says:

It almost makes one wish he lived during a certain period described by Homer in his quest of Helen, when in Ireland they had "kissing bees" on Easter Monday, on which occasion it was the duty of each female to receive a kiss from every male. This was a very old custom, and it is probable that these ceremonies were introduced by the "ancient maidens" of the day.

There was a time when kissing the bride in church gave rise to some ridiculous scenes. As it was considered a disgrace for a girl to be kissed by a great rush after the ceremony, and the "fair damsel" was often carried out in a swoon. In the "Collier's" we are shown how it was done.

Four rustic lads were the white "to be" to the bride at the church site. And again genius has been rewarded. Will. Kinsley. The cheering pit which commissioned the voluptuous Duchess de Villars to kiss Voltaire during a successful performance of "Tartuffe" did not improve a second talk on the fair lady, nor was the kiss ungenerously received. The Duchess de Villars offered to kiss all those who would kiss her, and she was in the hot contest for Westminster, and on a par with this enthusiasm that of Lady Gordon at one of the Scotch springings in 1870.

Recalling a certain incident, and offering a bounty to a shilling to be taken from bounty-rings lips by the mouth of a female, did not improve a second talk on the fair lady, nor was the kiss ungenerously received. The Duchess de Villars offered to kiss all those who would kiss her, and she was in the hot contest for Westminster, and on a par with this enthusiasm that of Lady Gordon at one of the Scotch springings in 1870.

Mrs. Lydia McKnight has a China cabinet and is having her house redecorated. The McKnight family for 110 years.

Miss Rosa Gary departed Monday for Holden, Mo., where she will spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. G. A. Miller.

Owing to the high price of hogs our pork packers will not kill any porkers until after the holidays, when prices will probably be lower.

We hear great complaint among the farmers against the number of hunting parties who get together and visit one farm after another with their guns and dogs, and never let up as long as they can get a bird or a squirrel.

The farmers are improving the past weather we have been having the past week in gathering in the corn crop. They find considerable of it injured by excessive rains, and especially so in the low corn, because of the field being so wet. It will be above the average for the past few years. Price, 35c per bu.

It is our painful duty to announce the death of Leonard Gore, one of our best known and leading citizens. This death was caused by an attack of the reign of the heart about 2 o'clock Sunday morning. This was the second attack, the first being about three months ago, from which he had seemingly fully recovered. He was a man of great business for several years, and spent part of the day visiting on customers. His remains were taken to Burlington and deposited in the vault of the cemetery. He was sixty-seven years of age.

They captured a young fellow up in Menifee county last week, supposing him to be Tawcutt, the murderer of Small, the Chicago millionaire; but he proved to be a young man who had left Virginia on account of an unfortunate love scrape. His hide now only contains one lead bullet.

CLEVELAND is responsible for bringing the tariff issue to the front in the recent Presidential campaign and about one hundred thousand more votes are found on his side of the question than are on the side espoused by his successful opponent. It seems that President Cleveland is with the people after all.

A BILL providing that the President and Vice President shall be chosen every fourth year by the popular vote, has been introduced in Congress by Representative Stone of this State. To reach this result will require an amendment to the Federal Constitution, and the probability is that it will be a long time before the present law is changed as proposed.

THE Lower House in the Fifty-first Congress is going to be uncomfortably close, and to avoid any complications, some of the leading Republicans favor a special session of Congress as soon as possible after the fourth of March, for the purpose of organizing the House and settling the question of the tariff.

HAYTI will keep up her foolishness until Uncle Sam takes her across his lap and brings her to a realization of her smallness.

THE Levy Court of Franklin county has fixed the tax rate for the ensuing year at 40 cents on the $100 of taxable property and titles at $2 each.

THE Washington Territory lever has broken out in Lawrenceburg, and quite a number of her citizens contemplate casting their lots in that section next spring.

THERE being no national campaign in the near future, Congress can turn from the manufacturing of campaign buncombe to genuine legislation that is of importance to the entire country.

JOHN C. NEW says Mr. Harrison has not made a single promise, and that he is under no obligations to any one. Mr. Blaine thinks otherwise—that Mr. Harrison is under obligations to him.

THERE is too much evidence now tending to show that Mr. Harrison believes in the civil service law and that he will be slow about making removals to suit those who want appointments by his administration.

As a reward of merit, Tennessee Republicans have purchased and presented to Senator Quay, a pair of fine horses. Of course nothing suitable in the horse line could be found outside of Kentucky, where the purchase was made.

In this issue appears the Chairman's proclamation calling a meeting of the County Democratic Executive Committee to consider the manner and time of nominating a Democratic candidate for the legislature. The committee will meet at Union.

BETWEEN the ku-klux and the threatened race war in Ohio, some sections of the State are just now greatly agitated. It is very strange that such a state of affairs should exist north of the placid Ohio, within the jurisdiction of the valiant Foraker.

MR. BLAINE is very anxious to secure a cabinet position, but his dignity will not permit of his making an application even through his friends, and if he is not tendered a place in the cabinet his friends will consider Mr. Harrison ungrateful, and a full grown Republican row will likely be the result.

OVER eight hundred of the men who were in the war of 1812 are on the pension roll. This ended seventy-three years ago, and fifty thousand men were recognized as taking a pensionable part in it. A Boston man calculates that on a like ratio the veterans of 1861, who survive to 1888, will be sixteen thousand in number.

THE White Cap organizations that infect some portions of Ohio and Indiana are nothing more nor less than ku-klux. Their business is identical the same and as good as that of which southern ku-klux were guilty, and the stain on those States is as damnable as the result of ku-kluxing. There is not a white difference.

A MINISTER once told Wendell Phillips that if his business in life was to save negroes, he ought to go South where they were and do it. "That's worth thinking of," replied Phillips. "And what is your business in life?" "To save men from hell," replied the minister. "Then go there and attend to your business," said Mr. Phillips.

TWO Anarchists have been getting in some more of their dynamite work in Chicago. A distillery furnished the material for the blow-up. Chicago will be fortunate if it escapes a bloody insurrection on the part of the Anarchists. They are a dangerous element, which to keep subdued requires very great vigilance among the officers.

The Commonwealth says:

Mr. Robert Hamilton is a candidate for Internal Revenue Collector of this district. Mr. Hamilton will undoubtedly receive the appointment. He is a clean-headed, clear-headed business man and will receive the encouragement of the business community of this city and district. He, while a strong man and an uncompromising Republican, is not an obtrusive or a confederate in his politics. He has the confidence and esteem of all business men who know him, and will occupy the position with credit to the service, and it goes without saying, to himself. No man would be more acceptable.

So Mr. Hamilton has abandoned the idea (if he ever entertained it, and we don't believe he did) of bringing into Congress on the perforated ballot. By the way, during the recent Congressional canvass Mr. Hamilton was accused, by some of his most earnest supporters, of being as good a Democrat as Mr. Carlisle, and the Commonwealth for some body else is not acquainted with Mr. Hamilton's politics. Some of the Republican veterans are enthusiasts of learning why Hamilton is a first-class lick should entitle him to such an exalted recognition while their political career is noted for nothing else.

American Citizens view with alarm the appointment of Elijah Halford to be Private Secretary to the President of the United States. Not that Mr. Halford is a bad man, but that he is an Englishman. Of course Mr. Halford imagines that he is a true American; but don't we all know how hard it is for an Englishman to be a Roosan or an American? Suppose a war with Great Britain. Suppose that in a critical moment the English fleet should develop. Where would be the stars and stripes then? Let us at least pray for peace with Mr. Bull during the Harrison Administration. Let 'Lije cut the name "Victoria" into every bit of furniture in the White House if he likes, but let us beware how we go to war while he is our Deputy President.—Courier-Journal.

SENATOR Beck's health will not admit of his appearing in the Senate chamber to participate in the business of that body this winter. While his Republican opponents sympathize with him in his affliction, they realize that one of the ablest debaters on the Democratic side will not be on hand to meet them in debate and expose their fallacies in the discussion of the tariff measure now pending in that body.

THE last Legislature decreed that in Hickman county, this State, petit larceny could be punished by whipping or work on the public roads, and last week a negro was tried under that law, when eleven jurors, foreman administering a whipping, but the twelfth decided that the county had no representation in the last Legislature and that the law was wrong any how. That must have been a very able juror.

Onto has two distinguished members of Congress who want to be Speaker of the next House, viz: Butlerworth and McKinley; but neither is willing to make any sacrifice in his contest for the office. These gentlemen represent the two wings of the g. o. p. in the Buckeye State, and just now each is laboring hard to receive the greatest recognition from the power that will be after the fourth of next March.

A son at Birmingham, Alabama, attempted to take a train from Atlanta to Lynch, when he was fired at by persons who posed and wounded him. The Sheriff's duty was to protect his prisoner, no matter how dangerous, his crime, and he is not culpable for the sad affair; but those who organized and encouraged their fellow men in attempting an unlawful act are the parties to shoulder the responsibility for the death-dealing shots.

JAY GOULD's wife brought him a marriage portion $80,000. She loaned it to her husband, who made investments that were profitable. Two or three years ago she said to Jay, it was about time to settle their accounts; that she thought she had retired from the market. Her husband accounted made up, which showed her balance of over two millions of dollars in her favor. He gave her a check for the amount, and she invested in government bonds now held in her own name.

THE United States grand jury in Indianapolis are hearing testimony bearing on Dudley's letter advising how to manipulate the purchasable vote at the November election in Indiana. Some of the leading politicians are beginning to grow nervous. An indictment and conviction of Dudley would amount to nothing, because before his conviction the administration which owes its existence to Dudley measures will be in power, and an offspring is supposed to possess some gratitude.

THE town of Felicity, Ohio, has expelled against mixed schools as authorized by the laws of that State. The citizens of Felicity claim that they have made ample provisions for separate schools, but the colored population will not patronize the schools provided for them, and they do not propose that they shall force their children into the white schools. Much excitement prevails and there is no telling what will be the final outcome. The mixed school problem has been solved in the greater portion of Ohio, by the whites quietly submitting to the negroes being placed in school with their children, and thus another step towards negro equality has been successfully accomplished in those sections.

Tom Borders, of Keaysburg, is good authority on the persimmon. He says nothing is equal to a persimmon orchard for fattening sheep in the fall. He had an old sheep that learned to butt the trees, shaking down persimmons for their own sheep. Persimmons dried, either whole or pressed through a coarse sieve, taking the seed, with a little sugar sprinkled over them, are very delicious—quite as good as figs and make the children happy.—Clarkeville Cultivator.

Lapey was painfully but not dangerously wounded. A man was sent to separate the mad animal from the balance of the herd when he chased his pursuer from the field, and rushing into a pond of water, dropped dead immediately.—Harrodsburg Democrat.

"That young man makes me very tired," "Don't be alarmed, Mr. Sampson," said the girl, as he hastily started up. "It is only Polly, our parrot." "I understand it's the parrot," he replied. "But I would like to know who taught her to talk."—N. Y. Sun.

—A man covered against his will. This is an impossible condition of mind, for no one can be convinced of anything against his own will. A famous passage of Scripture is often misquoted thus: "He that is without sin among you, let him cast the first stone." It should be: "Let him who is without sin among you, let him cast the first stone."—Examiner.

—Sometimes we are told: "Behold how great a fire a little matter kindleth," whereas St. James said: "Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth," which is quite a different thing.

—We also hear that "a miss is as good as a mile," which is not as sensible or forcible as the true proverb: "A miss of an inch is as good as a mile." "Look before you leap" should be: "And look before you one leap." This is generally credited with having written.

—Immediate words admit no defense. For want of decency was not of sense, though it would puzzle any one to find the verses in his writings. They were written by the Earl of Roscommon, who died before Pope was born.

—Franklin said: "Honesty is the best policy," but the best policy is to find the origin and may be found in "Don Quixote."—Philadelphia Times.

—Hos. W. S. HOLMAN has introduced a bill in Congress to have election frauds investigated. He wants to show what effect the "fix" had on the voters about the sixth of last month. The bill does not confine the investigation to any particular section of the country.

—The President-elect is hobnobbing with the big guns of his party to-day. Messrs. Morton and Quay are in consultation with him. Mr. Dudley may have also gone to Indianapolis, but he does not consider Indiana not a healthy place for his nibs just now.

—All persons indebted to the estate of Henry B. House, are requested to come forward and settle, those having claims against said estate must present them by the 15th inst.

Bill Valentine's Platers.

Cincinnati, Dec. 10.

To the Editors of the Recorder:

I would have you place these platers sooner, but the times are dull and the weather inclement, and they are scarce and a few hard to get. When a fellow has got a study job on sight to keep himself engaged. You see most people go to bed at night but I ain't going to bed at night, 'cause my business won't let me.

In givin' you these platers I'll give myself room for aftertender, and put a long tail on my kite so that you people 'liver' outside can get a glimpse at what's a going on in this town.

I want tell you anything 'bout Congress, 'cause they just got together. The President-elect has gone 'linter'—I hope his cabin's a new kind of bird that's givin' a new kind of life. They ain't aint aint aint aint. They are awfully full of pin-feathers and only shed every four years.

Most of the news has been telegraphed out of town, so I'll have to work on what I know. You know what I know. I want tell you anything 'bout Congress, 'cause they just got together. The President-elect has gone 'linter'—I hope his cabin's a new kind of bird that's givin' a new kind of life. They ain't aint aint aint. They are awfully full of pin-feathers and only shed every four years.

My business is writin' an 'handlin' by the United States of money, and it's a purty good business if you do enough of it.

A fellow has lots of opposition here a tellin' the news. So many reporters a tellin' the news, that a fellow only has the truth left, 'cause they are all tellin' that line of news—mostly comes in job-lots, and sometimes it is moth-eaten or badly put on, so I will give you what little I got in selection.

Christmas has come, and we are all celebrating it. I seen Santa Claus on Fifth at the other day with his train. 'Cause he was fixin' up for col' weather, and will arrive 'mong you folks about the 25th of December. You needn't look for him any more. 'Cause he ain't in gittin' party feeble, but he has got a little son comin' on. I seen him in a cradle down Fourth street. I don't know where his mother is, but 'cause she's dead. Dec. 25. All the candidates for the Senate are invited to be present. Speaking to be in the afternoon. If the citizens should desire it, the time of speaking can be changed to evening.

J. G. FURNISH.

A Mad Horse Patient.

A Mr. Johnson, of Shelby county, Indiana, came to O. P. Tanner's last Saturday, to have the mad-horse applied to a bite by a vicious dog. The dog was a very large Newfoundland, and attacked the gentleman in his own yard. A severe struggle ensued, during which the man was bitten in the arm, leg and hand. The dog was afterwards killed. The stone did not stick.

He Needed a New Suit.

Sometime since J. Wash Watts, of Bullittville, lost his pocket book in Cincinnati. Its recovery was not expected among its contents were $43 in money, but a few days since Mr. Watts was surprised at receiving, through the mail, the pocket book and contents less $20 of the money. The property was accompanied by a note which read as follows: 'I needed a suit of clothes and took $20 of the money for the pocket book. Take the rest as you need it. Yours truly, J. Wash Watts.'

A Fishing Social.

The fishing social is the latest scheme for augmenting the funds of a church. All the young ladies appear, one row and in another, which represents the fish pond, the young men are kept in line, each young man holds a string in his hand, one end of which is passed out of the room so that it hangs on the outside. Each of the young ladies goes up and pulls a string and gets a young man. If his fate or fortune is good, he takes her companion during the evening. She takes her to supper and pay for all she wants to eat and carry away. There is no escape for him so long as the string is tied to him. The plan generally works well for the church. The night after that there are no strings enough to go around—B. B.

Miss Minnie Brislow's school will have an entertainment at the Town Hall, Monday evening, December 24. All friends are cordially invited. The exercises will begin promptly at 7:15 p.m.

Since my last communication two estimable ladies of the community have been called home: Mrs. Frank H. Smith, dying of pneumonia, and Mrs. L. U. of consumption.

The two candidates for Senator having unopposed, the candidates for Representative proceeded to regulate the crowd. They each made brief speeches but they were not wanting in courteousness. The crowd was so large that they could not be heard.

Personal Mentions.

S. W. Tolin was in Walton on legal business last week.

F. L. Gordon, of Walton, was in town last Saturday.

Mr. J. P. Weaver has been on the sick list since last Saturday.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.
Mr. Van Alstyne, better known as —The Fanny Crosby, the popular hymn writer, was born in 1823, and has been blind from infancy.

—Mrs. Elizabeth F. Harford, a Tennessee poetess who has recently issued a volume of poems entitled "Rebel Rhymes," has been sent to a sanatorium for the treatment of her nervous system.

—Some of Mrs. Harford's verse has been considered beautiful.

—Brother Harte, the author, is in his fiftieth year. He has been writing since early in the sixties, when he printed a number of poems and was known in the San Francisco papers.

—Previously at this time he had been a compositor.

—Whittier is eighty-one years old and is two years older than Oliver Wendell Holmes. Whittier was visiting friends in Boston recently, but is unable to leave his home, as he has been often abused in thought. The same is true of Tennyson, who lacks

—Mr. Gladstone's omnivorousness as a reader is indicated by his order to the Librarian, Mr. John B. Hurd, of the Bodleian, to send him the following:—Ham. The list includes works on literature, the history, archaeology, myology, education, metaphysics, and music, and biographical and autobiographical books. His friends wonder where he is going to put the lot. The Librarian has suggested that Harvard Castle is already filled with them from basement to attic.

The handwriting of English literary men being under consideration, it is said that Andrew Lang writes a pot-boiler, but not illegible hand; a poet, but hardly legible; Matthew Arnold was lucidity itself; Mr. Ruskin's pretty and plain; Sir Edward Arnold is also very plain; John Morley's difficult at first, but easily got into the swing with Labouchere's practice of writing a few lines at a time, and by word easy to read; Frederick George Wood is called agreeable, and the editor of the Times, it is said, writes particularly good and legible hand.

—Miss Halford, President-elect of Harrison's private secretary, is also called agreeable. QC writes a rather good hand. He has no other musical acquaintance, but he can whistle the scraps of difficult music in a manner which astonishes his hearers. He very likes to employ this gift, when engaged upon an important piece of work. As usual, the musical notes are written in the margin of the paper. Mr. Halford had nothing on his mind, but the fact is that when he whistles, his prettiest he is absorbed in the melody, and his weighty manual problems. "Whistling is his nickname in the parlance of the apolo-part of the year at the much-favored town of Windsor, though she braced herself up occasional visits to "dear old Scotland." Margaret Wilson Oliphant was, as most people know, but some sixty years back in the country when she was the honor of being represented in Parliament by the hard-bitten Bingley Hall. Mrs. Oliphant's residence in Windsor has favored the formation of friendly relations with the Queen, of whom she is a great favorite. Her Majesty, indeed, has every one of Mrs. Oliphant's books read to her.
